Democrats To Air Subversive Firing Record

2 Senators Say They Will Demand List Of Names

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 (AP)—Demands that the Eisenhower administration disclose the name of "every single subversive thrown out of government" in the last two years came today from two Democratic senators.

Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) said the new Democratic-controlled Congress which meets in January "will want the names of these people, not the numbers."

Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont) told a newsman:

"We will go into this question of subversion. We will insist on a complete breakdown for the American people. We will insist on full publicity of Vice President Nixon's allegations and the basis on which he made them."

The Civil Service Commission announced several weeks ago that the Eisenhower administration had separated 6,926 security risks from the federal payroll through last June. Of these 2,611 were fired, the Commission said, and 4,315 resigned. Out of the total, the Commission said, 1,743 had information in their files "indicating" subversive assocations in "varying degree."

Nixon and other influential Republican campaigners repeatedly referred to these results of the administration's security program, contending it "got rid of thousands" of Communists, subverversives and other security risks.

Mansfield said Democrats also will demand to know whether any administration officials made campaign use of what he called classified FBI files.

He cited a speech he said Nixon made in Montana on Oct. 23 referring to 12 "cases," in each of which the vice president said an individual government employe was cleared by loyalty boards set up by the Truman administration only to be found a security risk under the Eisenhower security program.

Mansfield said Nixon referred to these employes as "A," "B," "C" and so on through the 12 cases. He declared with some heat:

"We don't want all those numbers and letters. We want the names. And we want to know if the files of the FBI were opened up for political purposes."

Asked if he expected the Eisenhower administration to cooperate in such a probe by Democrats, Mansfield said:

"That will be their responsibility. They have made the charges. They have a duty to cooperate. The American people have a right to know the names of any subversives hired or fired by this or the previous Democratic administration and they will demand answers from all legitimate sources of in-

Supersonic Jet Crashes In Field; Pilot Is Killed

GREENWOOD, Miss., Nov. 6 (AP)—A jet training plane roared faster than sound into a frost-hardened cottonfield today and exploded, killing the pilot and scattering the plane over a 10-acre field.

Identification was withheld pending notification of next of kin.

A hunter, Charles Sligh of Yazoo City, said he heard two jets pass over and looked up in time to see one bank for a turn. But instead of turning, the plane banked into a virtual dive and roared headlong into the field about 12 miles northwest of here, Sligh said.

Dave Bready of The Greenwood Commonwealth, who arrived on the scene within minutes of the crash, reported the absence of skid marks indicated the T-33 hit the ground vertically.

Others said the explosion was felt five miles away.

Bready said the leading edges of the plane's wings crushed trenches three feet deep in the hard, furrowed earth, and the nose of the plane lay buried in the bottom of a 15-foot wide hole.

"It looked like a dash, an O and a dash," Bready described the hole.

NEW MAJORITY LEADER ARRIVES — Sen. Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex) who is slated to take up the reins again as Senate majority leader, waves his hat as he steps from a plane late Friday night in Washington. Johnson And Knowland Pledge Cooperation In Reversed Senate Roles

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 — UP —Senate Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson and Republican leader William F. Knowland promised Saturday that they will work together in "the closest type of cooperation" to insure a smooth change over of party control next January.

The Texas Democrat who will succeed Knowland of California as majority leader in the 84th Congress, also pledged that the Democrats will not stir up a "cold war" with the Republican administration. But he said it is up to President Eisenhower how well things work.

"If there is a cold war, the Democrats are not going to provoke it," he said.

Johnson and Knowland met at a private lunch to discuss organization and procedures for the new Senate. They told reporters afterwards that they had "pretty well agreed" on such matters as distribution of committee seats.

Both men made plain that their mutual pledges of cooperation applied only to the mechanics of keeping each other advised about legislative plans, and did not extend to agreement on a legislative program.

Johnson said he had always enjoyed "good working relationships" with Knowland when the Republicans were in the majority, and that he felt confident the same would be true when they swap roles.

"I am confident the working relationship will be the same," Knowland said.

Johnson said the Democrats will give important committee assignments to Sen. Wayne L. Morse, Oregon independent whose promised vote will enable them to control the Senate. The Republicans stripped Morse of his seats on two major committees and gave him minor committee assignments when he bolted the GOP.

Johnson promised that congressional Democrats will work with the Republicans whenever they think it is for the best interests of the country, and particularly will seek "true bipartsanship" in defense and foreign policy matters.

But he emphasized repeatedly that "whether we actually achieve it bipartisan co-operation depends on the Chief Executive."

Serving notice that the Democrats expect to be consulted in advance about major plans and programs, he said "there has got to be more than just a review of facts and decisions that have already been made."

The foreign policy conference Mr. Eisenhower has scheduled with congressional leaders of both parties on Nov. 17 is a step in the right direction, he said.

Johnson hinted that a few public apologies to the Democrats for some of the things that were said about them during the campaign might smooth the path toward White House-congressional cooperation.

State Trooper Delivers Second Baby In 4 Days

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 6 —UP— A state trooper, who recently completed a two-hour course in obstretrics, delivered his second baby in four days Friday.

Trooper Joseph L. Pennino delivered a seven-pound boy to Mrs. Peter Alonzo of Laplace Friday. Mr. and Mrs. Ulysses Lane, Negro parents of the six-pound boy Pennino delivered Tuesday named the child Joseph Louis Lane after the trooper.

Pennino, father of six-year-old twins and a three-year-old girl, said the Alonzo child made five babies he has delivered since he joined the state police five years ago.

"I had a tough time with the Alonzo baby," Pennino said. "He stopped breathing and I had to give artificial respiration."

Pennino said in both cases this week he went to the homes to check on the reason for an ambulance request. Each time, the arrival of the newborn was at hand.

Boy Confesses Sex Slaying Of Neighbor Girl

Tells Police He Lay In Wait For School Student

NORWOOD, Mass., Nov. 6 —UP—A 15-year-old boy confessed Saturday he stripped and strangled the "girl next door" with her own necklace in a darkened garage behind her home. Afterward he calmly watched television until his bedtime.

The sex slaying victim's stepbrother and a crowd of neighbors who gathered at the scene of the slaying lunged in a rage at the alleged killer when he was taken to the garage to reenact his story.

"I'm going to kill him," the stepbrother shouted, but police protected the boy.

Peter Makarewicz was charged with murder upon admitting after night-long questioning that he was the slayer of Geraldine Annese, for whom he lay in wait Thursday night while she was out on a date. He was supposed to be baby-sitting with his 21-month-old sister, he said, when he slipped out of the house to waylay Geraldine.

After the body was discovered Friday, Peter went to a movie called "The Outcast" and was arrested when he got home.

Peter's mother told newsmen the boy suffered from epileptic seizures and was "very self-conscious because of his fits."

"Once one happened while he was in school," she said. "That's why he was reluctant to remain at school."

She said Peter at one time attended the same vocational school with Geraldine and was one of the few boys in the cooking class. He dropped out ofter he had a seizure, she said.

Until about six months ago, Peter "dated" Geraldine, his brother said, and he used to walk home from school with her. Lately, she had been going out with other boys and he made a practice of lurking in the garage to watch her come home.

Jes' Ramblin'

So many persons, men and women, but especially the latter, are studiously endeavoring to decrease their poundage so as to acquire that girlish figure that we are emboldened to look into various writings and expostulations on the subject by some of the wise men of past ages.

Here are some of them:

"The first and worst of all frauds is to cheat one's self."— P. J. Baily in Festus.

"Thou seest I have more flesh than another man and therefore more frailty." — Shakespeare in Henry IV.

"'Tis not the meat, but 'tis the appetite makes eating a delight." —Sir John Suckling in "Of Thee, Kind Boy."

"Fat, Fair and Forty." — Scott in "St. Ronan's Well.

"All people are made alike. They are made of bones, flesh and dinners. Only the dinners are different." — Gertrude Louise Cheney in "People."

W. C. Hornsby writes the following:

"Dear Jes' Ramblin': Some time in August I saw in the column "News of By-gone Days" in the Memphis Commercial Appeal, a reproduction of something that appeared in August, 1904, with a Monroe, La., dateline. It said:

"In a scheduled double header baseball game here today between Pine Bluff and Monroe, Umpire Goroy forfeited the first game to Pine Bluff nine to 0. The irate Monroe fans became so incensed at the decision that they ran the umpire clear out of Monroe."

"I thought my good friend, Frank Kennedy and other old timers might be able to recall the event."

Brother George, Young Senator Defer Decision

Col. Grevemberg, Claude Harrison Being Mentioned

By HUGH MULLIGAN

BATON ROUGE, Nov. 6 (AP)—Louisiana's 1956 gubernatorial sweepstakes got off to an unusually early start today with one member of the Long family an announced candidate and two others possible entries.

Former Gov. Earl Long, brother of the late Sen. Huey P. Long, said he "definitely will run" and saw no need for a second primary in case any other candidate cared to challenge him.

George Long, another brother of the late Kingfish and a congressman from Louisiana's 8th District, said he was thinking about running. So was Sen. Russell Long, Huey's oldest son.

Also reported considering running were:

1. State Police Supt. Francis Grevemberg, who smashed slot machines and blasted big time gambling in Louisiana.
2. State Revenue Collector Rufus Fontenot, who attacked Grevemberg's "Gestapo methods" and got slot machine owners a rebate on their unused amusement taxes.
3. James McLemore, Alexandria cattleman who ran fourth in the 1952 first primary and who has been campaigning ever since.
4. Mayor deLesseps S. Morrison of New Orleans, who denied he has told anyone he will run, but who is a frequent speaker at county fairs and upstate political functions.

Lt. Gov. C. E. Barham is in the race, having announced some time ago.

One recent rumor was that Sen. Long would support Morrison for the Mansion. Both men denied it.

Gov. Robert F. Kennon, who cannot succeed himself, has been silent about naming a successor.

Highway Board Chairman Fred Preaus of Farmerville, Baton Rouge Attorney Joe Sanders and

Mental Hospital Patient Admits Slaying Nurse

KALAMAZOO, Mich., Nov. 6 (AP)—Police said an 18-year-old mental hospital patient, who previously complained about uncontrollable sex desires, told them today he raped and strangled a blonde nurse he described as "awfully pretty."

Louis M. Smith, a 135-pound, 5-foot-7 patient committed to Kalamazoo State Hospital Feb. 5 after sexual offenses against young girls, was jailed in the brutal slaying of Miss Marilyn Kraai, 20. A red pencil led police to him.

The nurse's body was found last night in a hospital therapy room. She had been choked to death with a patient's necktie.

Garrett Gerlofs, Kalamazoo detective, said Smith told him in a signed statement:

"I did it. I did it. I'm sorry.

"I don't know why I did it. It was an impulse, I guess. But she was awfully pretty. I wish I were dead."

Prosecutors will decide whether to charge Smith with murder, or recommend a transfer to Ionia State Hospital for the Criminally Insane.

Gerlofs said Smith first denied the slaying but admitted it when shown his red mechanical pencil, found near the body.

The statement said he had killed Miss Kraai by grabbing her around the throat, holding her down, and tying a necktie around her neck.

Smith said he dragged her some 35 feet into the room where he raped her.

The statement said Smith lured the nurse downstairs by asking her to recover a deck of playing cards in the therapy room.

As a juvenile, hospital officials said, Smith had undergone six months treatment at the Neuropsychiatric Institute at Ann Arbor. He was there from January to June of 1953.

Doctors said Smith had complained of uncontrollable sex desires. He had been arrested several times on minor moral charges. Juvenile authorities said he had been released each time.

Smith, son of a factory worker, attended high school until the 10th grade when he quit.

A hospital official said Smith first was suspected because of the pattern of his sex behavior. They said he often complained of trembling spells, excitement, and inability to relax.

Fair And Warmer Today, Tomorrow

Fair weather and slightly higher temperatures are in store for Louisiana today and tomorrow, according to last night's government weather bureau forecast.

A similar forecast has been made for Arkansas for today and Monday.

Civil Aeronautics Administration officials at the Selman Field station last night reported that the mercury reached its peak in Monroe yesterday at the 69 degree mark. The low for the day was 31 degrees.

Special Senate Session Convenes Monday To Act On Censure Of McCarthy

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 (AP)—Senate leaders said today they hoped to wind up before Thanksgiving the special Senate session which will consider the proposed censure of Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) The session opens Monday.

Republican leader William G. Knowland of California and Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas also made clear at a joint news conference they want the session limited to the specific purpose for which it was called, barring some emergency.

They said, however, that the opening session on Monday will be very brief, with the Senate adjourning out of respect for members who have died since its recess August 20. Actual debate on the censure issue may not start until late Tuesday or even Wednesday.

McCarthy, who has been accused of conduct unbecoming a senator, has predicted that he will be censured by his colleagues and has spoken of the forthcoming session as a "lynch party" and a "circus." Both Knowland and Johnson declined comments on these statements.

A special Senate committee of three Republicans and three Democrats unanimously recommended last Sept. 27 after nine days of public hearing that McCarthy be censured by the Senate for his conduct.

It is the first censure case to come before the Senate in 25 years. Only three senators have been censured by their colleagues in the nation's history.

Sen. Watkins (R-Utah), chairman of the special committee, said he plans to call the members together Monday, to go over the draft of the resolution he is preparing to carrying out its recommendations and findings.

McCarthy has accused Watkins and two other members of the special committee of being biased against him. In a letter this week he charged Watkins had made an "imbecilic ruling" during the hearings that prevented him from offering his full defense.

While declining comment on these and other letters McCarthy has fired at him recently, Watkins

Judge Complains At Slow Pace Of Sheppard Trial

CLEVELAND, Nov. 6 (AP)—Dr. Samuel Sheppard's defense lawyers were on the spot today for their lengthy questioning at his first degree murder trial.

"I have an inquiring mind," retorted defense attorney William J. Corrigan. "I intend to question everything. That's my job."

After three weeks in court, the trial has yet to get beyond the first state witness—Dr. Lester Adelson, the deputy county coroner who autopsied the slain Marilyn Sheppard, wife of the 30-year-old osteopath.

Common Pleas Judge Edward Blythin grew restless yesterday at the defense's daylong cross-examination of Dr. Adelson, almost unprecedented in its minuteness and detail. The judge said he had never tried a case where so much time was devoted to establishing the cause of death.

At one point, Corrigan bridled

'Lonely Looking' Serviceman Steals $250 While Guest

NEW ORLEANS —UP— An Alabama couple complained Saturday that a man wearing a Marine uniform stole $250 from them after they had asked him to a cocktail party in their hotel suite because he was "lonesome-looking."

The couple, Dr. and Mrs. Ray Noojin of Huntsville, Ala., told police the man excused himself after a half hour at the party to make a phone call from another room in the suite.

He returned to announce that he had "had a wonderful time" but had to leave. Mrs. Noojin said she later discovered $250 missing from her purse which had been in the room from which the Marine telephoned.

Chiropodist Slain In New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 6 (AP) — A chiropodist of suburban Metalrie was shot to death today while visiting in the home of his father-in-law.

Coroner's clerk William Dougall said Dr. Hubener was shot several times with a revolver. Dougall said the shooting occurred at the home of Hubener's father-in-law, Manuel B. Vazquez, 75, New Orleans.

Stores To Open On Thursdays At Regular Time

Announcement was made Saturday by Dave Silverstein, chairman of the retail merchants' division of the Chamber of Commerce, of changes in the Thursday hours of downtown Monroe stores.

Until further notice, Silverstein said, stores will open at the same time on Thursdays as on other days but will remain open until 8 p.m.

Last Thursday merchants tried opening their stores at noon and closing at 9 p.m., but it was discovered that this caused some inconvenience to shoppers, especially those from out of town. Some shoppers who were unaware of the changed hours for Thursday arrived in downtown Monroe Thursday morning and then found it necessary to wait until afternoon before being able to enter the stores. Because the cold weather made waiting extremely uncomfortable, a large number of out-of-town customers requested the merchants' chairman to arrange to open the stores at the regular time on Thursdays.

Following a check with merchants in the retail division, Silverstein said it was the concensus that the stores should open at the

"Dear Jes' Ramblin': Some time in August I saw in the column "News of By-gone Days" in the Memphis Commercial Appeal, a reproduction of something that appeared in August, 1904, with a Monroe, La., dateline. It said:

"In a scheduled double header baseball game here today between Pine Bluff and Monroe, Umpire Goroy forfeited the first game to Pine Bluff nine to 0. The irate Monroe fans became so incensed at the decision that they ran the umpire clear out of Monroe."

Earl Long In Governor's Race; Others May Follow

Col. Grevemberg, Claude Harrison Being Mentioned

By HUGH MULLIGAN

BATON ROUGE, Nov. 6 (AP)—Louisiana's 1956 gubernatorial sweepstakes got off to an unusually early start today with one member of the Long family an announced candidate and two others possible entries.

Former Gov. Earl Long, brother of the late Sen. Huey P. Long, said he "definitely will run" and saw no need for a second primary in case any other candidate cared to challenge him.

George Long, another brother of the late Kingfish and a congressman from Louisiana's 8th District, said he was thinking about running. So was Sen. Russell Long, Huey's oldest son.

Also reported considering running were:

1. State Police Supt. Francis Grevemberg, who smashed slot machines and blasted big time gambling in Louisiana.
2. State Revenue Collector Rufus Fontenot, who attacked Grevemberg's "Gestapo methods" and got slot machine owners a rebate on their unused amusement taxes.
3. James McLemore, Alexandria cattleman who ran fourth in the 1952 first primary and who has been campaigning ever since.
4. Mayor deLesseps S. Morrison of New Orleans, who denied he has told anyone he will run, but who is a frequent speaker at county fairs and upstate political functions.

Lt. Gov. C. E. Barham is in the race, having announced some time ago.

One recent rumor was that Sen. Long would support Morrison for the Mansion. Both men denied it.

Gov. Robert F. Kennon, who cannot succeed himself, has been silent about naming a successor.

Mental Hospital Patient Admits Slaying Nurse

KALAMAZOO, Mich., Nov. 6 (AP)—Police said an 18-year-old mental hospital patient, who previously complained about uncontrollable sex desires, told them today he raped and strangled a blonde nurse he described as "awfully pretty."

Louis M. Smith, a 135-pound, 5-foot-7 patient committed to Kalamazoo State Hospital Feb. 5 after sexual offenses against young girls, was jailed in the brutal slaying of Miss Marilyn Kraai, 20. A red pencil led police to him.

The nurse's body was found last night in a hospital therapy room. She had been choked to death with a patient's necktie.

Garrett Gerlofs, Kalamazoo detective, said Smith told him in a signed statement:

"I did it, I did it. I'm sorry. "I don't know why I did it. It was an impulse, I guess. But she was awfully pretty. I wish I were dead."

Prosecutors will decide whether to charge Smith with murder, or recommend a transfer to Ionia State Hospital for the Criminally Insane.

Gerlofs said Smith first denied the slaying but admitted it when shown his red mechanical pencil, found near the body.

The statement said he had killed Miss Kraai by grabbing her around the throat, holding her down, and tying a necktie around her neck.

Smith said he dragged her some 35 feet into the room where he raped her.

The statement said Smith lured the nurse downstairs by asking her to recover a deck of playing cards in the therapy room.

As a juvenile, hospital officials said, Smith had undergone six months treatment at the Neuropsychiatric Institute at Ann Arbor. He was there from January to June of 1953.

Doctors said Smith had complained of uncontrollable sex desires. He had been arrested several times on minor moral charges. Juvenile authorities said he had been released each time.

Smith, son of a factory worker, attended high school until the 10th grade when he quit.

A hospital official said Smith first was suspected because of the pattern of his sex behavior. They said he often complained of trembling spells, excitement, and inability to relax.

Fair And Warmer Today, Tomorrow

Fair weather and slightly higher temperatures are in store for Louisiana today and tomorrow, according to last night's government weather bureau forecast.

A similar forecast has been made for Arkansas for today and Monday.

Civil Aeronautics Administration officials at the Selman Field station last night reported that the mercury reached its peak in Monroe yesterday at the 69 degree mark. The low for the day was 31 degrees.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 (AP)—Senate leaders said today they hoped to wind up before Thanksgiving the special Senate session which will consider the proposed censure of Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) The session opens Monday.

Republican leader William G. Knowland of California and Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas also made clear at a joint news conference they want the session limited to the specific purpose for which it was called, barring some emergency.

They said, however, that the opening session on Monday will be very brief, with the Senate adjourning out of respect for members who have died since its recess August 20. Actual debate on the censure issue may not start until late Tuesday or even Wednesday.

McCarthy, who has been accused of conduct unbecoming a senator, has predicted that he will be censured by his colleagues and has spoken of the forthcoming session as a "lynch party" and a "circus." Both Knowland and Johnson declined comments on these statements.

A special Senate committee of three Republicans and three Democrats unanimously recommended last Sept. 27 after nine days of public hearing that McCarthy be censured by the Senate for his conduct.

It is the first censure case to come before the Senate in 25 years. Only three senators have been censured by their colleagues in the nation's history.

Sen. Watkins (R-Utah), chairman of the special committee, said he plans to call the members together Monday, to go over the draft of the resolution he is preparing to carrying out its recommendations and findings.

McCarthy has accused Watkins and two other members of the special committee of being biased against him. In a letter this week he charged Watkins had made an "imbecilic ruling" during the hearings that prevented him from offering his full defense.

While declining comment on these and other letters McCarthy has fired at him recently, Watkins

Judge Complains At Slow Pace Of Sheppard Trial

CLEVELAND, Nov. 6 (AP)—Dr. Samuel Sheppard's defense lawyers were on the spot today for their lengthy questioning at his first degree murder trial.

"I have an inquiring mind," retorted defense attorney William J. Corrigan. "I intend to question everything. That's my job."

After three weeks in court, the trial has yet to get beyond the first state witness—Dr. Lester Adelson, the deputy county coroner who autopsied the slain Marilyn Sheppard, wife of the 30-year-old osteopath.

Common Pleas Judge Edward Blythin grew restless yesterday at the defense's daylong cross-examination of Dr. Adelson, almost unprecedented in its minuteness and detail. The judge said he had never tried a case where so much time was devoted to establishing the cause of death.

At one point, Corrigan bridled

NEW ORLEANS —UP— An Alabama couple complained Saturday that a man wearing a Marine uniform stole $250 from them after they had asked him to a cocktail party in their hotel suite because he was "lonesome-looking."

The couple, Dr. and Mrs. Ray Noojin of Huntsville, Ala., told police the man excused himself after a half hour at the party to make a phone call from another room in the suite.

He returned to announce that he had "had a wonderful time" but had to leave. Mrs. Noojin said she later discovered $250 missing from her purse which had been in the room from which the Marine telephoned.

Stores To Open On Thursdays At Regular Time

Announcement was made Saturday by Dave Silverstein, chairman of the retail merchants' division of the Chamber of Commerce, of changes in the Thursday hours of downtown Monroe stores.

Until further notice, Silverstein said, stores will open at the same time on Thursdays as on other days but will remain open until 8 p.m.

Last Thursday merchants tried opening their stores at noon and closing at 9 p.m., but it was discovered that this caused some inconvenience to shoppers, especially those from out of town. Some shoppers who were unaware of the changed hours for Thursday arrived in downtown Monroe Thursday morning and then found it necessary to wait until afternoon before being able to enter the stores. Because the cold weather made waiting extremely uncomfortable, a large number of out-of-town customers requested the merchants' chairman to arrange to open the stores at the regular time on Thursdays.

Following a check with merchants in the retail division, Silverstein said it was the concensus that the stores should open at the

Hypnotist Rides Flock Of Balloons Seven Hours

INLET, N.Y., Nov. 6 (AP)—A slim young man bent on being a bird floated majestically over the Adirondack wilderness with a bunch of balloons for seven hours today while his earthbound fellowmen strained their eyes to find him.

Garrett Cashman touched down at Riparius, about 45 miles east of here, late in the afternoon.

Lansing Tiffany, operator of an appliance store, said Cashman telephoned from North Creek to report he was safe and sound, but gave no other details of his flight.

Cashman said he would catch a ride back to Inlet.

Tiffany said a clerk in his store, Earl Burth, had received the call at 4:50 p.m. Cashman said he had landed a short time previously.

He was trying to prove to the Civil Aeronautics Administration that he could control his home-made contraption, whose main parts were a plywood seat and 80 hydrogen-filled balloons.

When he took off from a rowboat on Fourth Lake here at 9:15 a.m. in below-freezing weather, the 27-year-old Albany balloonist planned to rise about 600 feet and then descend and go up again for an eight-hour ride.

Instead he soared into the clouds and headed north at 3,000 feet. While five bush pilots searched for him in the area north of here, the wind shifted. Three hours and 15 minutes after Cashman's takeoff, a Navy flier sighted him 5,000 feet over Indian Lake, 25 miles southeast of here.

Cashman was well-bundled for his trip and, despite the chill air, he had sunny skies. The wind varied between 10 and 20 miles an hour.

He had with him a knife and a slingshot with which to cut or pop his balloons in order to drop to earth.

This was the first time since his initial and unheralded flight last September that Cashman had succeeded in getting far aloft.

His first trip—a 21-mile hop over the Albany area in 1½ hours—cost him a $50 fine because he had no license for himself or his craft.

He tried to fly for CAA last month both at Albany airport and Flushing aiport in New York, but the weather defeated him.

Cashman, who is married but has no children, makes his living as a part-time hypnotist and a mail-order dancing teacher.

Natural Death Verdict Given For Aged Man

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 6 (AP) — The coroner's office today classified as natural the death of a 79-year old ex-convict found yesterday after a fight in Jackson Square.

Police quoted a witness as saying he saw an unidentified man slap Levi Hutto after an argument over a checker game.

The coroner's office, noting Hutto had been treated for heart trouble in the past, said heart difficulties and not a face wound caused death.

Hutto had served a jail term for manslaughter.

On Dec. 3, the Democratic advisory committee on rules will hold its first business session since its organizational meeting at Chicago last spring. One of the jobs the committee is to undertake is a streamlining of national convention procedures.

Democratic senators, representatives, governors and mayors are being invited to the victory dinner, at which contributors of $100 will be guests of the dinner committee.

Among those mentioned as possible successors to Mitchell, whose home is in Chicago, are James A. Finnegan, president of the Philadelphia city council, who has captained several successful campaigns there; Mike di Salle, former mayor of Toledo and head of the Office of Price Stabilization in the Truman administration, and Paul Butler of Indianapolis, a Democratic national committeeman.

A meeting of the Southern Regional Educational Board, a subsidiary of the governors' conference, is planned Thursday afternoon, during which the state chief executives may discuss desegregation in public schools.

Other topics expected to be discussed by the 15-man group include toll roads as a solution to highway congestion, industrial development in the south, water conservation and development, and improved mental health facilities.

Gov. Johnston Murray of Oklahoma is chairman of the gathering and Florida's acting governor, Charley Johns is host.

Man Held For Robbery Admits To 300 Crimes

LAS CRUCES, N. M., Nov. 6 (AP) —A Florida man held here today told a tale of crime across the country.

The man, one of four from Florida captured on robbery charges, told Deputy Sheriff Jim Flanagan that he and his companion had committed 300 crimes in several states.

Flanagan said one of the men told of holding up a Mississippi service station and a Colorado motel. He could not name either town. Flanagan said he also claimed they committed crimes in Georgia and Texas.

Flanagan and an FBI agent are still questioning the four.

Carrying a box of crackers, a grapefruit and two bottles of soft drinks, he left Idlewild airport at 11:27 a.m. and said he expected to land in the French capital in 18 to 22 hours.

The California veteran of transcontinental and ocean hops said a primary purpose of his trip was to stir up young people's interest in flying.

He intended to fly the "great circle" route over Gander, Nfld., and Shannon, Ireland, at an altitude of 15,000 feet and a speed of 170 miles an hour.

The plane, a Piper Apache, has three extra fuel tanks. Conrad said that was fuel enough for 26 hours of flight.

Conrad wore a rubber "survival" suit and a life jacket but said he regarded the trip as routine and that he was not excited about it.

He intends to deliver the plane in Paris to Robert E. A. Goemans, the Piper distributor in France.

Conrad flew a single-engined plane to Europe in 1950 to visit his family, then in Switzerland, and flew back to the United Sates, but these trips were not nonstop attempts.

On Sept. 14, 1953, he flew from San Francisco, where he lives, to New York in 22 hours and 24 minutes, and claimed a transcontinental nonstop record for light planes.

Conrad arrived at Idlewild today from Lock Haven, Pa. He had tested the plane by flying to Winona, Minn., last Sunday to visit his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Conrad, then to San Francisco to visit his family, thence to Lock Haven.

Man Held For Robbery Admits To 300 Crimes

LAS CRUCES, N. M., Nov. 6 (AP)—A Florida man held here today told a tale of crime across the country.

The man, one of four from Florida captured on robbery charges, told Deputy Sheriff Jim Flanagan that he and his companion had committed 300 crimes in several states.

Flanagan said one of the men told of holding up a Mississippi service station and a Colorado motel. He could not name either town. Flanagan said he also claimed they committed crimes in Georgia and Texas.

Flanagan and an FBI agent are still questioning the four.

Youthful Thief Tortured By Gang Seeking Booty

NEW YORK, Nov. 6 —UP—A 19-year-old thief whose hysterical screams from a tenement basement sent children running for police was rescued Thursday night from what he said was three days and two nights of torture by six young gang members and the building superintendent, seeking his $1,000 robbery loot.

The confessed thief, Angelo Rios, 19, was under treatment Friday at Bellevue hospital prison ward for malnutrition and a mass of welts and sores. He said he had been bound and alternately beaten and burned for 60 hours — from his capture Tuesday morning until his tortured screams brought release at 8:30 Thursday night.

Rios said he had stolen the $1,000 from an aunt on Sunday and hidden it. He said the gang grabbed him Tuesday morning and took him to the tenement basement.

He said he broke down Tuesday night and told his torturers where to find the money. It had already been stolen from its hiding place. The gang returned, accused him of lying and resumed the torture, Rios said.

Children playing near the basement finally heard his screams Thursday evening.

Police said the money was still missing.

Mendes-France Seeks Confidence Vote On Budget

PARIS, Nov. 6 (AP)—In a surprise move to ram his program through at record speed, Premier Pierre Mendes-France asked the National Assembly today for a vote of confidence on his handling of the French budget.

The spending has been set at about 9½ billion dollars with a deficit of about 908 million.

He seemed likely to get the backing he wants when the Assembly meets again next Tuesday.

The demand meant Mendes-France would quit if the majority votes against him. Should he and his Cabinet be thrown out, they could force the deputies to face the country in a new election.

Also at stake is the hurry-up schedule he has set for Assembly approval of the treaties to bring West Germany into the alliance against communism. He wants that for mid-December. At the end of the year comes the theoretical deadline for the budget. There are other grave matters like the revolt in Algeria and the leaks from the National Defense Council to be debated first.

Tightening the schedule even further, Mendes-France will be gone on a trip to America between Nov. 13 and 24. Little can be done in his absence.

President Tubman Of Liberia Given Honor In Georgia

ATLANTA, Nov. 6 (AP) — President William V. S. Tubman of Liberia came to Georgia Friday, 120 years after his grandfather left the state as a slave to make a new home in Africa.

Two prviate railroad cars brought the Liberian chief executive and his party to Georgia. Two Negro universities bestowed degrees upon him and gave a reception in his honor.

Morehouse College and Atlanta University awarded him degrees at Spelman College, where he told an audience:

"I am profoundly touched that it was from Georgia that the guiding hand of providence moved my forbears to emigrate to Liberia and cast their lots with the people in that part of Africa.

"I am also happy to learn of the great contributions those of you of African descent, who have remained here, have made to the growth and prosperity of the United States."

The presidential party included Clarence L. Simpson, Liberian ambassador to the United States, Brig. Gen. Robert A. Brewer, aide de camp to the president, Victor Purse, of Washington, deputy chief of protocol and two Liberian police officials.

An exploding flashbulb brought a momentary flurry of excitement and caused three detectives, two white policemen and two Negro officers to reach for their guns. President Tubman looked startled for a moment, but made no comment.

The chilly 45 degree weather made President Tuman decline an interview at the station with the comment:

"It's cold here, man."

At an interview Tubman said he was not sufficiently informed to comment on Georgia's newly approved constitutional amendment aimed at maintaining segregated public schools. He said the U. S. Supreme Court's order to end segregation in public schools was a domestic issue that he should not discuss.

President Tubman's grandfather was a Georgia slave who went to Liberia in 1834 soon after the country was founded by the American Colonization Society. His mother emigrated from Atlanta in 1872. Tubman said he did not plan a pilgrimage to his mother's former home here because he didn't know where she lived Tubman plans to go to New Orleans over the week end. A spokesman for his reception committee there said today the president, due to bad health, is cancelling a trip to Oklahoma City and will go back to New York from New Orleans and then will return home.

Southerners, The Nation Depends On You

In the off-year elections, the National Democrat Party went to victory by not too sizeable a margin. However, like a fat man buying a corset, size doesn't always matter and the Republicans have been heaved out of office in the House and from all appearances, in the Senate as well. Committee chairmanships are in the hands of the Democrat party apparently in both houses.

One of the first statements issued concerned the abolishing of the House un-American Activities Committee. Later, there were other unusual and perhaps unintentional statements made by Democrat leaders now flushed with victory but who will soon realize the slim hold they possess, plus the future prospects for '56, and will hold off on the statements which will do them little good and much harm.

In the political lineup, the conservatives would still seem to have the grasp they usually are able to possess in the Congress. This time, the circumstances are a bit bizarre. The nation is possessed of a president who apparently is not certain as to which party he is affiliated with, if one. The Democrats feel reasonably certain that they can progress if they act in a moderate and in a sane manner indicative of cooperation.

The Republicans, wary and growing worried, are not certain as to what to do. They would like to see Ike as their standard bearer in 1956, but on the other hand, many feel that defeat for definite would be better than slow strangulation by a "midi" president who neither worries nor cares about the hopes which spring eternal in his party.

Indeed, many former Ike supporters are cursing under their breath, lining support for more conservative members who they think might have a chance in 1956 and wishing that Douglas MacArthur was years younger and that Bob Taft was still around so's they could rush to him with the nomination.

In the Congress, the left wingers (who nobody should ever "count out") are jubilant. They see a great advantage in the Ike administration which seems destined to be a one-party (liberal) outfit cooperating with them at every turn in the road. Indeed, the returns from many states in the North demonstrated that the Republican voters would rather have stayed home (which so many of them did) rather than vote for left wing candidates. New Jersey, New York, Illinois, and other states are very good examples of this.

Many Republicans knew that the outcome would be a Democrat victory but they also were well aware through the medium of the newspapers that the Democrat leadership in both houses would largely fall on the shoulders of the Southern Democrats rather than the wild-eyed Marxists who are in control of the party. The Marxists have been for numerous years, attempting to eliminate the system of seniority which has so far, saved the nation. So, many Republicans are placing their hopes on the Southern leaders to hold down the fort.

As time goes by, the people will more and more see that in the United States, there are four parties. The Conservative Democrats and the left-wing Northern Democrats. Then, there are the Conservative Republicans and the Marxists within the party who are now responsible for their party's defeat at the polls. These two factions, the Marxists in both parties, align themselves mainly for the destruction of a conservative constitutional Republic, but the Democrat members of this clique are smarter and are using the Republicans to help destroy the Republican party.

The administration which has clearly (so far) demonstrated that it refuses to take part in partisan politics, will soon see the frightful mistake made in that policy. Although, there are some experts who are now stating flatly that they believe Ike didn't care who won just so long as his program (whatever that is) is pushed through.

Many see in Mr. Eisenhower, a man outside a party, a man who has been told that "his" program must be passed no matter what happens. Thus, it has become absolutely impossible for him to think of himself as either a Democrat or a Republican.

Unfortunately, over a long term point of view, there is a historical necessity for partisan operations in the United States and Mr. Eisenhower is merely helping to destroy the political organization which sent him to the White House. The Southern Democrats who will be Democrats till the last sun sets, are beginning to worry at last as they see the "Citizens For Eisenhower" organization growing, more powerful and making a strong bid to elect members of either party with the reservation that those supported by the "Citizens" are strong pro-Marxists.

The Republicans of a similar stripe are not only worried, they are nearing the point of desperation as they see the Ike group for whom they once prayed, take complete hold of the party, including its pocketbook, and make of it something it was never intended to be.

In short summation, the emergence of two new parties could be in the stages of formulation. They would be, of course, a conservative and a liberal party. In the Democrat organization, the Northern left wingers have a most decided advantage in that Southern loyalty to a party (which no longer exists) is still supreme and that the South can always be counted on to go Democrat in any election for the control of the Congress, if not the Presidency.

Democrats in the South who forgot for a hasty minute that they were Democrats, and voted for a Republican President, have now about resolved themselves to forever remaining with the Democrat party in that Eisenhower's band of fanatics are pushing issues such as segregation, socialism, internationalism and other "features" of an advanced New Deal philosophy farther than Truman or even Roosevelt dared go.

The Conservative Republicans who in most cases, sympathize with the South, are equally alarmed because they had hoped to offer the Southern people a constructive program which they had hoped would forever remove some Southern people from the folds of the party. Moreover, they realized that the South was conservative and very much pro-American in spirit and had hoped to align themselves with such an idea.

Such has failed to materialize, thanks to the "Advance" and the "Citizens."

Now, most Republicans must depend on the Southern Democrat leaders to once again save the day. Many Southern Republicans are seriously thinking of changing their registration to Democrat. If they ever want a two-party system in the South, that would be suicide. The best thing to do is to wring the party dry of leftists, anti-segregationists, "liberals" (as these people are erroneously termed) and restore the power of a Southern, Conservative Republican party which will be a genuine Southern outfit in keeping with the mores of this area.

THE LOUISIANA GOP CAN BEGIN NOW, RIGHT NOW WITH THE EXPULSION OF THOSE LEADERS WHO RUINED BOB TAFT IN 1952. THE IDEA OF AN ADVOCATE OF THE NAACP AND INTEGRATION (FOR INSTANCE AND AMONG OTHER THINGS) BEING THE HEAD OF THE LOUISIANA REPUBLICANS WILL NEVER HELP THE PARTY IN THE STATE OF LOUISIANA.

The future is somewhat confusing, but with hard work and patriotism on the part of both Democrat and Republicans from the South, sanity will remain.

This is a Sunday for thinking.

Maybe The Indians Were Right

This week, the Senate will return to discuss the "Censure Motion" directed against the Senator from the state of Wisconsin, Joseph McCarthy. It will be a "lame duck" Senate with many members preparing to close their offices, some for the last time.

The controversial question of censuring a Senator not because he attempted to destroy the Senate, not because he is a criminal, not because he attempted to overthrow the federal government, but because he used stern words against the very ones attempting to do these very things, will come up for a vote unless McCarthy's friends can stall it off.

From conversations with the Senator, it is not believed that McCarthy wants the issue stalled.

It seems of no use to state that every Communist in the land, every Marxist of any degree, every "liberal," every force against fundamental Americanism is all for McCarthy's censure.

What is amazing is the number of those people who seem to go along with this idea.

The main objection to Senator McCarthy is not his ultimate aim, but the manner in which he goes about the destruction of his nation's enemies.

Many a conservative American will state with all the sincerity that "I like McCarthy, but I just don't like his methods." What are these methods not approved by people who sometimes use many times more active methods than McCarthy in some of their business dealings?

The question resolves itself to this point: in dealing with a fanatic religion which is even now hoping to destroy God, nation, family and business through any "methods." possible, can one always remain a gentleman?

Should McCarthy be denounced because he cannot see that there is still time to be a gentleman?

These things may seem "trite," but they are serious. Because McCarthy is not any longer able to use gentlemanly tactics in dealing with those who aid and abet the Communists, he is about to be censured by men who in so many cases, despise the Communists with equal vigor and emphasis but honestly hope to go about their destruction by different methods.

In the Senate, there are many members who hope to add their names to the list of those who vote for and support a straight American ticket.

McCarthy, Jenner and others of that order, have no monopoly on hate of Marxism. However, they feel that their experience in dealing directly with these people should be a lesson to all Senators and all Americans—that one is unable to deal with Communists and Marxists except on the terms laid down by those people.

History is repeating itself in this nation another time. The students of a decade ago (many are not taught American history any longer) learned that the British soldiers came to fight the Indians in an effort to destroy growing French influence. They learned that the French had adroitly learned Indian ways and fighting tactics. The Indians never fought in an unbroken line of troops dressed in brilliant red, they fought from behind trees and were dressed in buckskins and bear hides.

As a result, the British were forced to change their methods of fighting.

They had to learn to deal in and with stealth. One of the greatest young British commanders was a lad named Washington, George Washington. He learned his lessons well. His commanders never did, and went on to repeat the same old mistakes which allowed their younger officer to eventually lead his fledgling nation to victory.

Moving further along in the history books, one sees that the lessons learned against Indian fighting by the colonists were forgotten by the U. S. Army (by that time, dressed in dark blue). The Indians, still using their old methods of infiltration and disguise, still managed to take a dreadful toll of the Americans until numbers and material plus Indian starvation and loss of manpower reduced their ability to fight.

The pioneers and the troops learned that the Indians regarded them as invaders and were determined to hold on to their lands at all costs. They were prepared to use any "methods" in their fight for survival. Indians were not stupid. Equally armed, equally numbered and equally disciplined, a favorable outcome on the side of the Indians would never have been in doubt. The Army leaders, one after another, praised the Indian "tactics" and "methods."

Are the American people not now on the defensive, of necessity preparing to defend their homes and their lives against infiltration by a godless foe? Is the government of this nation not still covering up those who promoted Peress, the Communist?

Alien forces are rapidly overtaking the United States on a scope as has never been witnessed. Their influence is greater and still growing. Yet, the one man who recognizes the danger, who has had the fortitude to resist it, is about to be censured—about to be censured because he chooses to fight fire with fire, about to be censured because he took off his top hat and tails of diplomacy and the tea parlor to "light off" into the woods in appropriate dress after his skulking enemies.

Communists and Marxists are not cowards. Because they prefer to fight from behind the scenes does not make them cowards. They are adroit fanatics who know what they want. They are setting their own rules for the present world-wide battle and unless the American people learn to agree to these new "methods," the nation will be rendered unto destruction.

Far from destroying the Constitution, McCarthy who defends it at every turn knows these new methods. He has used them very effectively.

It will help in destroying the Senate and its power.

There are many cases similar to the 10-year-old boy in Monroe which do not reach the newspaper and which is quite harmful to the child and-or state.

I attended a country public school where a misdemeanor occurred and I was asked by my teacher (woman), who was also principal, if I were at the location that day. I replied I was but had no part in the incident. She accused me of being guilty and would have to take the punishment with the ones committing the misdemeanor. When I tried to point out to her I had no part in the matter, she walked over to my desk, yanked me out and pushed me in a corner demanding I tell her I was guilty. As I did she lifted the rule and I turned my cheek thereby she hit me on the cheek instead of across the face as originally intended.

At this point I left the classroom. My mother accompanied me the next day endeavoring to straighten the situation. The teacher insisted I apologize to the class for my rude behavior or she would not have me in the school.

Having no other choice — being the eldest (13 years old) of five (5) fatherless children, I apologized and finished the few remaining weeks, which she made almost impossible. I attended a Catholic academy where I found the ruler was never lifted — but rather they practiced — you can catch more flies with syrup than with vinegar.

Editor, Morning World:

As a reader of the Morning World, I find its Editorials and letters very interesting. I readily agree with many of them, however, being human, I find myself in disagreement with some of them.

One such letter that I can't go along with recently came from Bastrop, written by some gentleman who set forth his idea on bypassing segregation in the public schools.

The writer contends that the Supreme Court's Jurisdiction does not extend down to subdivision of the states and for that reason the "police juries" and "school boards" could legally practice segregation in the public schools so long as they received no financial support from the states. To make such contention doesn't seem sound. I think an idea of that kind would be stretching "Home Rule" too far. There is a United States law which says "Any person who, by acts done under state laws, subjects another to the loss of any rights, privileges and immunities secured by the Constitution and laws is liable in damage to the person injured." Such illegal acts, when performed by public officials are described as committed "under the color of law." That is, with a local law to justify them when actually a federal law prohibited them. That law seems to set a limit on "Home Rule" when it comes to dealing with human rights.

I know that it is not morally right to mix the white and Negro races. It is a sin against our creation. God made us the way he wanted us to be and told us to "replenish the earth," but "let each bring forth fruits after its own kind. Therefore, God is the author of segregation. For that reason, and on moral grounds, I am opposed to enforced mingling of the two races.

We must use a sane approach if we are to successfully solve this issue of segregation. Sometimes in our hearts to do good, we make some regrettable mistakes. Suppose, we succeeded according to Mr. Morgan's plan in maintaining segregation in the public schools but lost our system of free education. We would be right back to the days before Huey Long was elected governor, where segregation was not only based upon the race, creed and color but also based upon the economic status of each child's family.

There must be some way found to live by God's eternal law of segregation and also maintain free education in Louisiana.

Editor, Morning World:

Why many Americans have lost confidence in President Dwight D. Eisenhower and the Republican administration is Ike's deviation from his campaign promises and succumbing to political persuasion and influence. Instead of endeavoring to balance the budget, he could not resist the temptation of tampering with the price and tax structures for political party prestige. This impracticable miscalculation has lowered government taxable income to the extent, where it is now impossible to balance the budget, without some kind of new tax revenue.

This administration is withholding the exact amount of the accumulated pending deficit from the people. His failure to reveal to the people, for the protection of the United States Army, the Communist infiltration in the army and the officers names whom were responsible for the promotion and honorable discharge of the Fifth amendment Communist, Major Irving Peress,' presume that it is none of the public's concern, however, he is mistaken. There are other reasons that could be enumerated. He has not measured up to the presidential administrative ability expected of him, neither has the Old Guard Republicans in Congress and the "lackadaisical" efforts of Attorney General Brownell in prosecuting political crooks and Communists. Unless there is a great improvement in the remaining two years of his administration the Republicans will have very little chance for a second term.

A return to the Trumanistic political philosophy and ideology under Adlai Stevenson's liberal Democratic leadership as president is unthinkable. Youthful God-fearing stamina and ability is America's greatest White House need. Governor Allen Shivers and Governor Robert F. Kennon, our two Conservative Democratic political stalwarts, as president and vice president, are the solution to our problem. Think what it would mean to all Americans to turn our government over to the leadership of men of proven ability, men who would utilize their God given administrative ability for clean, decent Americanism, to fight for the Constitutional rights for all Americans, without fear or favor to anyone. Who would put a stop to political finageling with America's resources for political purposes and strive to place our economy on an equitable basis between producers, intermediate processors, manufacturers and consumers.

In our foreign affairs deal with our Allies and enemies with a policy of American fortitude, instead of coddling and appeasement, we can have the restoration of American freedom and independence, if we will come out of our lethargy and strive for it. Bus Drivers Situation In The City Of Monroe

Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

The bus drivers are not being paid a decent wage for what they do in the City of Monroe. Compared to other workers and what they are drawing as wages. I think you will agree that our bus drivers are underpaid. They are performing a real need in the public interest. We could not get along very well without our bus service and bus drivers. Another thing, more people are riding our busses today than ever before.

In the United States no man or woman should be forced to work at some kind of a job because they must feed and take care of their families. Many of the bus drivers here in Monroe have large families to feed and take care of and how are they to do this on the present wages they are being paid. They draw about ninety cents per hour and they work about nine hours per day so I am informed. However, they are called out sometimes by the "extra board" but they do not get overtime for that work.

Now a man with a family can't live on less than $12 or $15 per day. As you know, everything has gone up instead of going down. It costs nearly 2½ times to live now than it did eight or ten years ago. Have wages been raised in accordance with the cost of living? The laboring man had nothing to do with the cost of living going up but he is a victim of that "vicious system."

It is everybody's business to keep our bus drivers on duty. Why don't the people register a protest to our city government and bring this deplorable situation to their attention. Make it your business—you are a citizen of the city and you have all rights as a citizen and they have plenty.

It hasn't been too long since all the city officials got a raise in wages, or rather hauled off and raised their own salaries, but they forgot the bus drivers, but I think they did promise them a raise in wages, but it looks as if it was only a promise.

Some might say, if the bus drivers would strike and tie up the buses in the city, it would not bother them for they have a car. Well that may be true, but how about the fellow who is unable to own a car?

The city officials should call a meeting at city hall and call all bus drivers and other workers of the city and discuss this all important matter and do it at once.

I am not a bus driver in the city but I am interested in the welfare of the bus drivers. I know they are not making a living and there is no need for that situation in a rich city like Monroe, where the taxes are high. Plenty of money to run all departments of the city government.

A bus driver is under great responsibility. He is under responsibility to those who ride with him in his bus and then he is under responsibility in handling company money and taking good care of his bus.

I hope I have made this clear to all that read it.

Southerners, The Nation Depends On You

In the off-year elections, the National Democrat Party went to victory by not too sizeable a margin. However, like a fat man buying a corset, size doesn't always matter and the Republicans have been heaved out of office in the House and from all appearances, in the Senate as well. Committee chairmanships are in the hands of the Democrat party apparently in both houses.

One of the first statements issued concerned the abolishing of the House un-American Activities Committee. Later, there were other unusual and perhaps unintentional statements made by Democrat leaders now flushed with victory but who will soon realize the slim hold they possess, plus the future prospects for '56, and will hold off on the statements which will do them little good and much harm.

In the political lineup, the conservatives would still seem to have the grasp they usually are able to possess in the Congress. This time, the circumstances are a bit bizarre. The nation is possessed of a president who apparently is not certain as to which party he is affiliated with, if one. The Democrats feel reasonably certain that they can progress if they act in a moderate and in a sane manner indicative of cooperation.

The Republicans, wary and growing worried, are not certain as to what to do. They would like to see Ike as their standard bearer in 1956, but on the other hand, many feel that defeat for definite would be better than slow strangulation by a "midi" president who neither worries nor cares about the hopes which spring eternal in his party.

Indeed, many former Ike supporters are cursing under their breath, lining support for more conservative members who they think might have a chance in 1956 and wishing that Douglas MacArthur was years younger and that Bob Taft was still around so's they could rush to him with the nomination.

In the Congress, the left wingers (who nobody should ever "count out") are jubilant. They see a great advantage in the Ike administration which seems destined to be a one-party (liberal) outfit cooperating with them at every turn in the road. Indeed, the returns from many states in the North demonstrated that the Republican voters would rather have stayed home (which so many of them did) rather than vote for left wing candidates. New Jersey, New York, Illinois, and other states are very good examples of this.

Many Republicans knew that the outcome would be a Democrat victory but they also were well aware through the medium of the newspapers that the Democrat leadership in both houses would largely fall on the shoulders of the Southern Democrats rather than the wild-eyed Marxists who are in control of the party. The Marxists have been for numerous years, attempting to eliminate the system of seniority which has so far, saved the nation. So, many Republicans are placing their hopes on the Southern leaders to hold down the fort.

As time goes by, the people will more and more see that in the United States, there are four parties. The Conservative Democrats and the left-wing Northern Democrats. Then, there are the Conservative Republicans and the Marxists within the party who are now responsible for their party's defeat at the polls. These two factions, the Marxists in both parties, align themselves mainly for the destruction of a conservative constitutional Republic, but the Democrat members of this clique are smarter and are using the Republicans to help destroy the Republican party.

The administration which has clearly (so far) demonstrated that it refuses to take part in partisan politics, will soon see the frightful mistake made in that policy. Although, there are some experts who are now stating flatly that they believe Ike didn't care who won just so long as his program (whatever that is) is pushed through.

Many see in Mr. Eisenhower, a man outside a party, a man who has been told that "his" program must be passed no matter what happens. Thus, it has become absolutely impossible for him to think of himself as either a Democrat or a Republican.

Unfortunately, over a long term point of view, there is a historical necessity for partisan operations in the United States and Mr. Eisenhower is merely helping to destroy the political organization which sent him to the White House. The Southern Democrats who will be Democrats till the last sun sets, are beginning to worry at last as they see the "Citizens For Eisenhower" organization growing more powerful and making a strong bid to elect members of either party with the reservation that those supported by the "Citizens" are strong pro-Marxists.

The Republicans of a similar stripe are not only worried, they are nearing the point of desperation as they see the Ike group for whom they once prayed, take complete hold of the party, including its pocketbook, and make of it something it was never intended to be.

In short summation, the emergence of two new parties could be in the stages of formulation. They would be, of course, a conservative and a liberal party. In the Democrat organization, the Northern left wingers have a most decided advantage in that Southern loyalty to a party (which no longer exists) is still supreme and that the South can always be counted on to go Democrat in any election for the control of the Congress, if not the Presidency.

Democrats in the South who forgot for a hasty minute that they were Democrats, and voted for a Republican President, have now about resolved themselves to forever remaining with the Democrat party in that Eisenhower's band of fanatics are pushing issues such as segregation, socialism, internationalism and other "features" of an advanced New Deal philosophy farther than Truman or even Roosevelt dared go.

The Conservative Republicans who in most cases, sympathize with the South, are equally alarmed because they had hoped to offer the Southern people a constructive program which they had hoped would forever remove some Southern people from the folds of the party. Moreover, they realized that the South was conservative and very much pro-American in spirit and had hoped to align themselves with such an idea.

Such has failed to materialize, thanks to the "Advance" and the "Citizens."

Now, most Republicans must depend on the Southern Democrat leaders to once again save the day. Many Southern Republicans are seriously thinking of changing their registration to Democrat. If they ever want a two-party system in the South, that would be suicide. The best thing to do is to wring the party dry of leftists, anti-segregationists, "liberals" (as these people are erroneously termed) and restore the power of a Southern, Conservative Republican party which will be a genuine Southern outfit in keeping with the mores of this area.

THE LOUISIANA GOP CAN BEGIN NOW, RIGHT NOW WITH THE EXPULSION OF THOSE LEADERS WHO RUINED BOB TAFT IN 1952. THE IDEA OF AN ADVOCATE OF THE NAACP AND INTEGRATION (FOR INSTANCE AND AMONG OTHER THINGS) BEING THE HEAD OF THE LOUISIANA REPUBLICANS WILL NEVER HELP THE PARTY IN THE STATE OF LOUISIANA.

The future is somewhat confusing, but with hard work and patriotism on the part of both Democrat and Republicans from the South, sanity will remain.

This is a Sunday for thinking.

Maybe The Indians Were Right

This week, the Senate will return to discuss the "Censure Motion" directed against the Senator from the state of Wisconsin, Joseph McCarthy. It will be a "lame duck" Senate with many members preparing to close their offices, some for the last time.

The controversial question of censuring a Senator not because he attempted to destroy the Senate, not because he is a criminal, not because he attempted to overthrow the federal government, but because he used stern words against the very ones attempting to do these very things, will come up for a vote unless McCarthy's friends can stall it off.

From conversations with the Senator, it is not believed that McCarthy wants the issue stalled.

It seems of no use to state that every Communist in the land, every Marxist of any degree, every "liberal," every force against fundamental Americanism is all for McCarthy's censure.

What is amazing is the number of those people who seem to go along with this idea.

The main objection to Senator McCarthy is not his ultimate aim, but the manner in which he goes about the destruction of his nation's enemies.

Many a conservative American will state with all the sincerity that "I like McCarthy, but I just don't like his methods." What are these methods not approved by people who sometimes use many times more active methods than McCarthy in some of their business dealings?

The question resolves itself to this point: in dealing with a fanatic religion which is even now hoping to destroy God, nation, family and business through any "methods." possible, can one always remain a gentleman?

Should McCarthy be denounced because he cannot see that there is still time to be a gentleman?

These things may seem "trite," but they are serious. Because McCarthy is not any longer able to use gentlemanly tactics in dealing with those who aid and abet the Communists, he is about to be censured by men who in so many cases, despise the Communists with equal vigor and emphasis but honestly hope to go about their destruction by different methods.

In the Senate, there are many members who hope to add their names to the list of those who vote for and support a straight American ticket.

McCarthy, Jenner and others of that order, have no monopoly on hate of Marxism. However, they feel that their experience in dealing directly with these people should be a lesson to all Senators and all Americans—that one is unable to deal with Communists and Marxists except on the terms laid down by those people.

History is repeating itself in this nation another time. The students of a decade ago (many are not taught American history any longer) learned that the British soldiers came to fight the Indians in an effort to destroy growing French influence. They learned that the French had adroitly learned Indian ways and fighting tactics. The Indians never fought in an unbroken line of troops dressed in brilliant red, they fought from behind trees and were dressed in buckskins and bear hides.

As a result, the British were forced to change their methods of fighting.

They had to learn to deal in and with stealth. One of the greatest young British commanders was a lad named Washington, George Washington. He learned his lessons well. His commanders never did, and went on to repeat the same old mistakes which allowed their younger officer to eventually lead his fledgling nation to victory.

Moving further along in the history books, one sees that the lessons learned against Indian fighting by the colonists were forgotten by the U. S. Army (by that time, dressed in dark blue). The Indians, still using their old methods of infiltration and disguise, still managed to take a dreadful toll of the Americans until numbers and material plus Indian starvation and loss of manpower reduced their ability to fight.

The pioneers and the troops learned that the Indians regarded them as invaders and were determined to hold on to their lands at all costs. They were prepared to use any "methods" in their fight for survival. Indians were not stupid. Equally armed, equally numbered and equally disciplined, a favorable outcome on the side of the Indians would never have been in doubt. The Army leaders, one after another, praised the Indian "tactics" and "methods."

Are the American people not now on the defensive, of necessity preparing to defend their homes and their lives against infiltration by a godless foe? Is the government of this nation not still covering up those who promoted Peress, the Communist?

Alien forces are rapidly overtaking the United States on a scope as has never been witnessed. Their influence is greater and still growing. Yet, the one man who recognizes the danger, who has had the fortitude to resist it, is about to be censured—about to be censured because he chooses to fight fire with fire, about to be censured because he took off his top hat and tails of diplomacy and the tea parlor to "light off" into the woods in appropriate dress after his skulking enemies.

Communists and Marxists are not cowards. Because they prefer to fight from behind the scenes does not make them cowards. They are adroit fanatics who know what they want. They are setting their own rules for the present world-wide battle and unless the American people learn to agree to these new "methods," the nation will be rendered unto destruction.

Far from destroying the Constitution, McCarthy who defends it at every turn knows these new methods. He has used them very effectively.

It will help in destroying the Senate and its power.

They draw about ninety cents per hour and they work about nine hours per day so I am informed. However, they are called out sometimes by the "extra board" but they do not get overtime for that work.

Now a man with a family can't live on less than $12 or $15 per day. As you know, everything has gone up instead of going down. It costs nearly 2½ times to live now than it did eight or ten years ago. Have wages been raised in accordance with the cost of living? The laboring man had nothing to do with the cost of living going up but he is a victim of that "vicious system."

It is everybody's business to keep our bus drivers on duty. Why don't the people register a protest to our city government and bring this deplorable situation to their attention. Make it your business—you are a citizen of the city and you have all rights as a citizen and they have plenty.

It hasn't been too long since all the city officials got a raise in wages, or rather hauled off and raised their own salaries, but they forgot the bus drivers, but I think they did promise them a raise in wages, but it looks as if it was only a promise.

Some might say, if the bus drivers would strike and tie up the buses in the city, it would not bother them for they have a car. Well that may be true, but how about the fellow who is unable to own a car?

The city officials should call a meeting at city hall and call all bus drivers and other workers of the city and discuss this all important matter and do it at once.

I am not a bus driver in the city but I am interested in the welfare of the bus drivers. I know they are not making a living and there is no need for that situation in a rich city like Monroe, where the taxes are high. Plenty of money to run all departments of the city government.

A bus driver is under great responsibility. He is under responsibility to those who ride with him in his bus and then he is under responsibility in handling company money and taking good care of his bus.

I hope I have made this clear to all that read it.

Woman Sports Writer, Barred From Press Box, Scribbles Among Fans

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 6—UP—A wisp of a girl braved chilly weather and Yale's official disapproval Saturday to carry out her assignment in the finest tradition of the newspaper business.

Barred from the "sanctum sanctorum" of the bowl's press box, Miss Faye Loyd of the United Press competed with her rival male reporters by covering Saturday's Army-Yale game from a seat on the 45-yard line. At that, she might not even have found her way to her seat except for an Army sergeant.

Yale kept its dignity to the last on this chill November day—at the cost of treating Miss Loyd "to one of the most horrible days of my life."

"Yale's publicity men seemed to treat the whole thing as a joke," Miss Loyd commented after the order. "One of 'em came to me during the game and asked, 'are you Miss Loyd?' I replied 'yes' and he just laughted and went away."

Yale public relations director Charles Loftus kept his promise to supply Miss Loyd with the material made available to the "gentlemen of the press" but he forgot to include writing space. As a result Miss Loyd kept the "running" of the game on a wooden clipboard, precariously balanced on her lap. She was aided by Bill Clark of the United Press Hartford bureau, who relayed notes to her via string from the press box to her seat.

Miss Loyd, first woman sports writer ever to cover major football games at the Cotton Bowl in Dallas, and Baltimore' Memorial Stadium, was seated in the Yale section about 10 feet below the press box. She relayed her handwritten notes to Clark, who dicated them via a direct telephone hookup to the United Press' New York bureau. Miss Loyd handled the "night lead" —that is, the complete story of the game — in the same way.

"It was miserably cold," Miss Loyd admitted. "But that hadn't bother me. The men in the press box were cold, too. The thing that made it difficult was that I had to keep jumping up and down because of the fans around me and I had no place to keep my notes."

Because of the chilly weather, Miss Loyd was forced to borrow Clark's sweater, which she wore in addition to her own sweater and coat.

Miss Loyd learned quickly on arriving at the bowl that Yale men were determined to match November's chill. Yale attendants at the gate were unable or unwilling to direct her to the press gate. It was not until an Army sergeant came to her aid that Miss Loyd even was able to get past the press gate.

Miss Loyd then was permitted to find her own way to her seat—a bench with a back to it, situated on the 45-yard line of the Yale section. It was from this vantage point that she carried out her assignment.

Miss Loyd was officially barred from the Yale press box because of a long - standing rule against women. Yale's refusal to accord Miss Loyd the same press privileges that it gave to male reporters brought a storm of protest from prominent women in all walks of life.

The ordeal over, Miss Loyd had one consolation:

The final score was Army 48, Yale 7.

Three Air Force Planes Fly Under Canyon Bridge

CANON CITY, Colo., Nov. 6 (AP) Attendants said three Air Force planes flew under the world's highest bridge at Royal Gorge near here today, and the president of the Royal Gorge Bridge Co. asked the Air Force to investigate.

Ralph J. Wann, who is also on the board of directors of the Denver & Rio Grande Railroad, said the planes might have crashed into cables stretching from the bridge to the gorge wall. He said the lives of passengers on a sight-seeing train below the bridge were also endangered by the maneuver.

Bridge attendants, who identified the planes as belonging to the Air Force, said they circled the bridge once and then "peeled off" and flew under it. Neither the attendants nor the train's passengers could decide whether the planes were jet-propelled.

Capt. Arthur D. Latimer, aide to Lt. Gen. Benajmin W. Chidlaw, who heads the Strategic Air Command at Colorado Springs, said he would start an investigation immediately.

Change Of Sex Is Sought By Former U. S. Paratrooper

NEW YORK, Nov. 6 (AP)—The Sunday News says a decorated former paratrooper, who is the divorced father of two children, returned from Holland today after undergoing operations to become a woman.

The former GI was identified by the News as "auburn-tressed Tamara Edel Rees, 30 — born Robert Egan Rees." The only home address given was "Somewhere in the West."

"I'm afraid to come home because I'm afraid of Americans," the News, in a copyrighted story, quoted the former soldier as saying.

"Europeans understand these things. They understand the pressures that can make you feel you are living apart from society. All I want now is peace and quiet. All I want is to be left alone."

The story, accompanied by several photographs, said the operations were performed in Amsterdam last January.

It added that the patient was given a statement signed by a Dr. E. A. D. E. Carp saying:

"Robert Egan Rees is not of the masculine sex. I recommend that she be considered a female."

After the operation, the News said, "an unhappy love affair led her to attempt suicide, and she was taken into custody by Amsterdam authorities. U.S. officials intervened on her behalf, and Tamara was invited to leave the country."

"I was engaged to be married," the News quoted the former GI as saying. "I told him about the operation. He said it didn't matter. But I couldn't go through with it, even though I wanted children by him . . . I was afraid of what he would have to go through."

The News story said paratrooper Rees served in the 82nd Airborne Division during World War II, having been "driven to it" by hope that "people would forget my mannerisms, certain characteristics..."

The story added that the former GI emphasized "I was never a homosexual."

The story said Rees became a technical sergeant, made four jumps behind enemy lines was wounded and was decorated by the United States, Belgium, France and the Netherlands.

As to the past marriage, the News said "Tamara would not discuss . . . beyond saying there were two offspring . . ."

"It was from the News that Tamara's mother learned that her son was now a daughter," the story continued. "There was a long, painful silence . . ."

The mother was quoted as saying: "Let him know that he is wanted at home and loved at home. What's done is done. We want him back. We love him as we love all of our children . . ."

Cooperation To Depend On GOP, Rayburn Asserts

BONHAM, Tex., Nov. 6 —UP— House Speaker-designate Sam Rayburn said Friday that whether the Republican administration gets along with the House in the Democratic 84th Congress is up to the administration.

Rayburn conferred with Senate Democratic leader Lyndon Johnson Friday at Rayburn's ranch near Bonham. They talked about organization of the 84th Congress and the Democratic legislative program.

"Cooperation between the Democratic House and the administration will depend a great deal upon the attitude of the administration," Rayburn said. "If they are willing to work together for the benefit of the country, we will."

"Some Democratic leaders are rather bitter about the charges of 'Pinks' and 'Left-wingers' in the party. There are just as many patriotic Democrats as there are patriotic Republicans."

Johnson said the Democrats, in organizing the Senate, "will seek to unite, rather than separate."

"If we oppose anything, it will be on principle, not personalities. We will take the attitude that what is good for the country is good for the Democrats."

Johnson flew to Bonham in a private DC-3, then flew back to Dallas, where he boarded a plane for Washington. He was due in Washington at 8:20 p. m. CST Friday.

Johnson said that he thinks Sen. Walter George (D-Ga.) will make a good chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations committee. He said he expects Mr. Eisenhower's foreign policy will get better treatment from the Democrats than it did from some Republicans.

"We will seek to have one voice speaking for the United States on foreign relations," he said.

He also repeated that the Democrats will give the controversial Dixon-Yates power contract "thorough ventilation."

Rayburn drove to the airstrip alone in a little automobile to meet Johnson. They drove to Rayburn's colonial-styled home west of Bonham and conferred there before an open fire of oak logs for about 15 minutes.

Elderly Man Dies Following Quarrel, Slap

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 6 (AP)—An elderly man died Friday after a fight that apparently started as a result of an argument over a checker game in Jackson Square here.

Officers identified the man from papers on him as Levi Hutto of New Orleans. An autopsy will be conducted, the coroner's office said.

Officers quoted a witness as saying he saw an unidentified man slap the victim, believed to be about 68. The old man then staggered to a nearby bench, the witness said.

Officers said they found Hutto seated on a bench, the left side of his face bloody from a cut under his eye.

Bystanders said Hutto strolled by two men playing checkers and an argument followed.

Board Rejects Plea Involving Smuggled Herd

BATON ROUGE, Nov. 6 (AP) — The Louisiana Livestock Sanitary Board has rejected an appeal to allow a smuggled herd of Charolais cattle to remain in Louisiana.

The request was made by Rep. E. E. Willis (D-La) of St. Martinville and Charles Broussard of Lafayette, son of A. A. Broussard, who was sentenced to three years and fined $10,000 for smuggling in the rare French breed from Mexico.

The U.S. customs division several months ago ordered destruction or deportation of the herd, impounded early last year on a ranch near Lafayette. Willis and Broussard asked that some other solution be found.

The deep-chested white-faced cattle were valued at more than one million dollars at the time of seizure. Since then, the herd has increased from 67 to 97 animals.

Deadline for outser or slaughter is Nov. 27.

Dr. C. L. Gooding, chief of the U.S. Department of Agricultures inspection and quarantine division, Washington, and N. J. Dekle of Brusley, president of the Louisiana Cattlemen's Association, appeared at the board meeting to oppose the petition.

In another action, the board lifted an anthrax quarantine imposed on St. Tammany Parish Sept. 27 following an outbreak of the cattle disease. A section of Jefferson Parish between the Airline Highway and Lake Pontchartrain is still quarantined.

Missing German Immigrant Sought In Torch Slaying

FORT WORTH, Nov. 6 —UP— A missing German immigrant was sought Friday in the torch slaying of an unidentified man in Oklahoma.

Steele Westbrook of the Oklahoma Crime Bureau, who is aiding Fort Worth officers in the mysterious slaying, identified the German as George Klause.

An unidentified man was found burned to death in a station wagon near Davis, Okla., on Oct. 10. David F. Hagler Jr., a Fort Worth businessman, has been charged with murder in the case and is free on bond.

Westbrook said Klause disappeared about the time of the torch slaying. He was known to have had dental work done in Europe. The victim of the slaying was wearing a nine-tooth non-removable brdige of a type made in Germany or France.

"We know very little about Klause," Westbrook said. "We know he was in Fort Worth about the time of the slaying, but disappeared.

"He could be the victim, or he could have no connection with the case," Westbrook said.

Major U. S. Air Bases In Alaska Believed To Be In Range Of Soviet Missiles

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 (AP)—Major Alaskan air bases, keystones in the outer defenses for the United States, are believed to be within range of missiles which Russia has now and could fire from her Siberian mainland.

The same missiles — reported to be a greatly improved version of the original German V-2 weapon and a mere forerunner of others still being developed by the Soviets — impose a similar danger to the cities and military bases of Western Europe.

As used by the Germans in bombardment of London in the latter days of World War II, the V-2 was fired from a distance of only a little over 200 miles.

But according to information reaching this country and subjected to scientific and other intelligence assessment, the present models of the V-2 have a range of [illegible]0 miles or more, with good accuracy. This is the result of greatly improved propellent for the rocket engine and of better aerodynamic design.

The Alaskan bases, like Ladd Field near Fairbanks and Elmendorf near Anchorage, have two primary missions: as bases for interceptor planes to block any bombers flying from Siberia for target cities in the United States; as the take-off point for United States Air Force medium and heavy bombers on retaliatory missions to "take out" the fields in the Siberian area on which Soviet bombers would base.

But the big V-2 type rockets, plunging down from their high trajectory into the upper stratosphere attain a terminal velocity of about 3,500 miles per hour. Their height and speed make radar virtually useless for either detection or tracking and render utterly impossible interception and destruction by even the swiftest of jet fighters.

First knowledge of such a missile attack would be with the explosion. The original V-2, as used by the Germans, carried a warhead of about 2,000 pounds and this payload factor presumably has been increased. With the ability to package nuclear explosive in small containers, there is no doubt that the Russian rocket can mount a nuclear fission warhead, adequate for destruction or major damage to an air field. The proximity fuze allows the detonation of a missile at any desired height above a target.

A North American Aviation Co. official who has specialized in evaluation of Soviet rocket information from a variety of sources prepared a paper for a meeting of a small group recently in which he summed up the situation. Military officials say most of the information contained in his analysis seems accurate. He estimates that:

1. Upon the defeat of Germany, the Russians seized the "Mittlewerk" V-2 plant near Nordhausen in what is now the Soviet zone. From that plant, an underground installation with its own power generation, the Russians have produced at least 1,000 missiles. Some of that production has and is being used in further research and in training, but another portion of it has been stockpiled for a possible "emergency."

2. Russia now has several big rocket research facilities, including two in the area of Moscow and it is believed they operate "at least one long - range proving ground for flying experimental missiles in the interior of Asia." (Other sources say they have reason to believe that a big missile launching installation is located in Siberia.)

3. Among the reports, which of course can not be verified beyond doubt, is word that the Soviet missile experts are working on a rocket engine to develop the fantastically powerful thrust of 264,000 pounds — almost five times as powerful as that of the original V-2.

Says Defeat Of Voting Proposal Will Save Work

BATON ROUGE —UP— The parish registrar of voters said Saturday the defeat of amendment 31 to permit absentee registration of servicemen will save him and other registrars a lot of work.

Registrar Jodie R. Smith of East Baton Rouge parish said the amendment would have set up "a lay-away voting plan. Every registrar would have to maintain and keep a daily check on the registrations of those between 18 and 21 years of age."

Under the measure, 18-year-olds facing induction could register before they reached voting age. However, they could not vote until they became 21.

Servicemen could have also registered by proxy had the amendment passed. The proxy registration, Smith said, "would leave the registrars with no way to carry out the provisions of the law since the registrant's signature would not be on file in the office."

Those Who Built Home For 2 Men To Meet Today

Friends of humanity who would give a boost to two unfortunate young men are urged by W. C. Salley to assemble in the little frame building that lumbermen and laboring men have given to replace the Billingsley Brothers' levee shack that burned to the ground two weeks ago.

The building on the levee, at the rear of Walnut street has been erected, wiring installed for lights and piping arranged to provide heating. Needed painting will be done this week.

Efforts of Mr. Salley are largely responsible for the rebuilding when lumber men provided all needed timber supplies. He and Rev. Lea Joyner, local Methodist minister, have given much time the past week to the project. They and Rev. A. T. Mitchell, pastor of Ridge Avenue Baptist Church, will be on the scene this afternoon at 2:30 p. m. when a brief religious service is held. Rev. Joyner plans to hold weekly services in the building from now on.

All friends of a good work that is in progress, and who would give two unfortunates a helping hand, are urged to be there at 2:30 today and to give the two men most concerned a rousing welcome.

Urges Need Of Appropriations For Waterways

NEW ORLEANS —UP— Rep. Overton Brooks (D-La.) has stressed the urgent need for approval of appropriations for the Old River project and the Overton Waterway Canal.

Brooks, president of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress, said Friday that a meeting with the Bureau of the Budget is scheduled in Washington soon. The group will seek a $10 million appropriation to begin the Old River project which will prevent the Mississippi from being diverted away from New Orleans.

The congressman said the project will cost more than $50 million, we are asking will give us a good start."

"This appropriation must be included in the 1955-56 fiscal year budget," he said. "We should get this project underway and prevent diversion of the Mississippi into the Old River and the Atchafalaya basin as soon as possible."

The Overton Canal, to be cut between Shreveport and the Old River, already has been approved by Congress. But Brooks said a $5 million appropriation is needed to begin construction. The total estimated cost comes to $43 million.

To Open Bids For Leasing Of Offshore Lands

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 (AP)—The government will open bids Tuesday for oil and gas leasing of 100,028 acres of submerged lands in the other continental shelf off Texas.

The sale will be the first of offshore areas in the Gulf off Texas.

Last month, however, bids were received for oil and gas leases on 97 out of 180 tracts offered off Louisiana in the first federal sale of offshore leases. Bids also were received on six out of 108 tracts off Louisiana offered for sulphur lease.

All the tracts off both states lie outside of what the Interior Department regards as the three league, or 10.35 miles, area seaward from the coasts.

Sex Fiend Blamed In Murder Of School Girl, 15

NORWOOD, Mass., Nov. 5—UP—The nude body of a fun - loving schoolgirl was found Friday in a garage behind her home in this Boston suburb, apparently strangled with her own string of beads by a sex fiend.

Pretty 15-year-old Geraldine Annese was singing the popular ballad "Teach Me Tonight" when she said goodbye to her chums on a street corner Thursday night after a double date.

Police said Geraldine, the youngest of five children, was the victim of a "sex attack" though an autopsy report was awaited on whether she was raped. Blood on her body indicated she also may have been stabbed, police said.

Geraldine's body, clad only in bobby socks and loafers, was found by a next-door neighbor, Joseph Freund, when he went to get his automobile in the two-car garage adjoining the three-story tenement house in which the girl lived.

She was lying face up beside the car. Her clothes — a blue jacket, jeans, and kerchief—were scattered about the garage, indicating a wild struggle with her attacker.

Authorities questioned Geraldine's girl friend, Cynthia Savage, 15, and the two boys they dated Thursday night.

Cynthia said they motored to a woods-fringed pond to see what it looked like after the recent hurricanes and then went to a pizza restaurant but only had milkshakes.

She said Geraldine then wanted to go home and they dropped her off at a nearby street corner. Cynthia said that Geraldine, while walking down the street swinging her shoulder purse, was singing, 'Teach Me Tonight'—she liked that song."

Geraldine's father, Joseph Annese, was bitter and heart broken. He sobbed: "Things are getting worse in this country—there are more and more of these murders."

His wife, stroking the hair of their lifeless daughter before her body was removed to a hospital morgue, cried hysterically: "Oh, my Geraldine. Why did they do this? Who could ever harm my little baby?"

Major U. S. Air Bases In Alaska Believed To Be In Range Of Soviet Missiles

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 (AP)—Major Alaskan air bases, keystones in the outer defenses for the United States, are believed to be within range of missiles which Russia has now and could fire from her Siberian mainland.

The same missiles — reported to be a greatly improved version of the original German V-2 weapon and a mere forerunner of others still being developed by the Soviets — impose a similar danger to the cities and military bases of Western Europe.

As used by the Germans in bombardment of London in the latter days of World War II, the V-2 was fired from a distance of only a little over 200 miles.

But according to information reaching this country and subjected to scientific and other intelligence assessment, the present models of the V-2 have a range of 00 miles or more, with good accuracy. This is the result of greatly improved propellent for the rocket engine and of better aerodynamic design.

The Alaskan bases, like Ladd Field near Fairbanks and Elmendorf near Anchorage, have two primary missions: as bases for interceptor planes to block any bombers flying from Siberia for target cities in the United States; as the take-off point for United States Air Force medium and heavy bombers on retaliatory missions to "take out" the fields in the Siberian area on which Soviet bombers would base.

But the big V-2 type rockets, plunging down from their high trajectory into the upper stratosphere attain a terminal velocity of about 3,500 miles per hour. Their height and speed make radar virtually useless for either detection or tracking and render utterly impossible interception and destruction by even the swiftest of jet fighters.

First knowledge of such a missile attack would be with the explosion. The original V-2, as used by the Germans, carried a warhead of about 2,000 pounds and this paylcad factor presumably has been increased. With the ability to package nuclear explosive in small containers, there is no doubt that the Russian rocket can mount a nuclear fission warhead, adequate for destruction or major damage to an air field. The proximity fuze allows the detonation of a missile at any desired height above a target.

A North American Aviation Co. official who has specialized in evaluation of Soviet rocket information from a variety of sources prepared a paper for a meeting of a small group recently in which he summed up the situation. Military officials say most of the information contained in his analysis seems accurate. He estimates that:

1. Upon the defeat of Germany, the Russians seized the "Mittlewerk" V-2 plant near Nordhausen in what is now the Soviet zone. From that plant, an underground installation with its own power generation, the Russians have produced at least 1,000 missiles. Some of that production has and is being used in further research and in training, but another portion of it has been stockpiled for a possible "emergency."

2. Russia now has several big rocket research facilities, including two in the area of Moscow and it is believed they operate "at least one long - range proving ground for flying experimental missiles in the interior of Asia." (Other sources say they have reason to believe that a big missile launching installation is located in Siberia.)

3. Among the reports, which of course can not be verified beyond doubt, is word that the Soviet missile experts are working on a rocket engine to develop the fantastically powerful thrust of 264,000 pounds — almost five times as powerful as that of the original V-2.

Says Defeat Of Voting Proposal Will Save Work

BATON ROUGE —UP— The parish registrar of voters said Saturday the defeat of amendment 31 to permit absentee registration of servicemen will save him and other registrars a lot of work.

Registrar Jodie R. Smith of East Baton Rouge parish said the amendment would have set up "a lay-away voting plan. Every registrar would have to maintain and keep a daily check on the registrations of those between 18 and 21 years of age."

Under the measure, 18-year-olds facing induction could register before they reached voting age. However, they could not vote until they became 21.

Servicemen could have also registered by proxy had the amendment passed. The proxy registration, Smith said, "would leave the registrars with no way to carry out the provisions of the law since the registrant's signature would not be on file in the office."

Those Who Built Home For 2 Men To Meet Today

Friends of humanity who would give a boost to two unfortunate young men are urged by W. C. Salley to assemble in the little frame building that lumbermen and laboring men have given to replace the Billingsley Brothers' levee shack that burned to the ground two weeks ago.

The building on the levee, at the rear of Walnut street has been erected, wiring installed for lights and piping arranged to provide heating. Needed painting will be done this week.

Efforts of Mr. Salley are largely responsible for the rebuilding when lumber men provided all needed timber supplies. He and Rev. Lea Joyner, local Methodist minister, have given much time the past week to the project. They and Rev. A. T. Mitchell, pastor of Ridge Avenue Baptist Church, will be on the scene this afternoon at 2:30 p. m. when a brief religious service is held. Rev. Joyner plans to hold weekly services in the building from now on.

All friends of a good work that is in progress, and who would give two unfortunates a helping hand, are urged to be there at 2:30 today and to give the two men most concerned a rousing welcome.

Urges Need Of Appropriations For Waterways

NEW ORLEANS —UP— Rep. Overton Brooks (D-La.) has stressed the urgent need for approval of appropriations for the Old River project and the Overton Waterway Canal.

Brooks, president of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress, said Friday that a meeting with the Bureau of the Budget is scheduled in Washington soon. The group will seek a $10 million appropriation to begin the Old River project which will prevent the Mississippi from being diverted away from New Orleans.

The congressman said the project will cost more than $50 million, we are asking will give us a good start."

"This appropriation must be included in the 1955-56 fiscal year budget," he said. "We should get this project underway and prevent diversion of the Mississippi into the Old River and the Atchafalaya basin as soon as possible."

The Overton Canal, to be cut between Shreveport and the Old River, already has been approved by Congress. But Brooks said a $5 million appropriation is needed to begin construction. The total estimated cost comes to $43 million.

To Open Bids For Leasing Of Offshore Lands

Hitler's Foreign Minister Freed; Health Is Broken

BERLIN, Nov. 6 (AP)—Broken in health and almost forgotten in changing world politics, Baron Konstantin von Neurath, Hitler's first foreign minister, was released from a war crimes prison today.

Now 81 and suffering from heart trouble, Von Neurath was granted a parole from Spandau, the four-power prison holding the seven top Hitler Nazis who escaped hanging.

None ever had been expected to see the outside again. The Russians, in charge of the prison this month, revived last Wednesday an old Western proposal to release Von Neurath because of age and health, and got quick American, British and French assent.

Von Neurath's daughter, Mrs. Winifried von Mackensen, was notified to appear here for a "conference" at 10 a.m. today. At 11 a.m., her father appeared in the visitors' room, dressed for street travel for the first time in eight years.

He did not know he was being released, Mrs. Von Mackensen said. Only at the last moment were both advised by officers of all four powers that a car awaited. They went to a modest hotel in downtown Berlin where tonight von Neurath was under a private physician's care.

Superintendent Jackson had delivered the keynote address of the conference. Mrs. Peach's award was for outstanding contribution to the membership program of the national association. Optimist Week To Be Observed In Twin Cities

Mayors John E. Coon and J. Allen Norris of Monroe and West Monroe respectively have proclaimed the week of Nov. 7 through 13 as Optimist Week in the Twin Cities and urged all citizens to join in the observance and extend heartfelt salute to the club for its boys' work activities.

In signing the proclamation, the mayors pointed out the work of the Optimist members in raising money for the education and developent of youth in unfortunate circumstances. "In this work it (the Optimist club) is performing many outstanding services in our community through the financial and moral aid provided by this group of business and professional boys in unfortunate circumstances. Through their assistance, these boys have a great opportunity to mature into adults who will benefit and not hinder the progress of their fellow men."

J. C. Thrower, president of the local chapter, has pointed out there are nearly 1,000 individual Optimist Clubs now in operation in the U. S., Canada, Mexico, Puerto Rico, Cuba and Hawaii with a combined membership of 45,000.

Last year alone, Thrower said, these clubs assisted more than 700,000 boys in unfortunate circumstances at an expenditure of more than $2 million.

To be eligible for the WAC, Sgt. Glover said, a woman must be between 18 and 34 years old, have no dependents under 18 years of age, and pass mental and physical examinations. Women under 21 years old must have their parent' consent.

In the WAC, Sgt. Glover, a woman, can serve herself as well as her country by learning a job which will equip her for a good paying job when she returns to civilian life. A WAC also receives free medical and dental care, clothing allowances, a paid $10,000 life insurance policy, and many other benefits.

Sgt. Glover said she will be glad to discuss a career in the WAC with any woman who is interested, or answer any question she may have concerning the Women's Army Corps.

Work To Start On Calcasieu Cutoff

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 6 (AP)—The New Orleans office of the US engineers reported today it had received authorization to go ahead with plans to construct a cutoff on the Calcasieu River below Lake Charles.

Col. Charles Tench, New Orleans district engineer, said right of way and right of entry documents had been received and he expected to advertise for bids on the $50,000 project within the next few days. He said the bids would be opened in December.

The cutoff will provide a straight channel from a bend on the Calcasieu to Lake Moss between 25 and 29 miles below Lake Charles. The two sharp bends in the river at that point frequently have caused ships to run aground or collide with shore installations, Tench said.

Woman Shoots Intruder After Bomb Explodes

HOUSTON, Nov. 6—UP—Someone set off a bomb, or perhaps a large firecracker, on the lawn at the home of Mrs. Gwendolyn Smith, 18, Friday night, and then a man started banging on the back door and shouted:

"Open the door!"

Mrs. Smith, however, had already popped through a window and saw two shadowy figures standing on the porch. She fired three shots through the door and heard one man yell, "Oh my leg!"

Then, she said, the other man helped him to a waiting car.

"I hope I got him," she said. "If any more show up they'll get the same treatment."

Calhoun's FHA Conducts Special Week Observance

CALHOUN, November 6 (Special)—During the observance of Louisiana Future Homemakers Week, which was concluded today, members of the Calhoun High School chapter followed a daily schedule of special activities.

These activities, in accordance with the observance, started last Sunday with attendance at church. Monday was citizenship day, Tuesday was "no gripe day," while Wednesday was family day. Nutrition day was Thursday, and Friday, exhibit day, with entries of various members which had taken prizes at recent fairs being placed on display. Saturday was "my day," with each member doing some job at home for herself in such a way that it could provide enjoyment.

To announce the observance of the week, which was designated by Governor Kennon in cooperation with the organization's national program, high school faculty members were each presented with a red rose with a card attached giving the details.

Puerto Rican Sugar Producers Seek Price Hike

WASHINGTON Nov. 6 (AP)—The Association of Sugar Producers of Puerto Rico today urged the government to establish sugar marketing quotas which will put sugar prices higher.

Dudley Smith, vice president of the association, said in a statement prepared for the U.S. Department of Agriculture hearings next Tuesday on U.S. sugar needs for 1955:

"As is undoubtedly true in the case of other producing areas also, Puerto Rico sorely needs action which will strengthen the market."

He said sugar prices, in the three months following the fixing of the 1954 sugar marketing quotas on Dec. 14, 1953, "inched upward" but gave no indication of "approaching the modest levels of the summer and early fall of 1953. Nevertheless, with the spot price no higher than $6.27 a hundred pounds, the secretary (of agriculture) on March 16 increased the 1954 determination by 200,000 tons.

"The market reaction was immediate and sustained. This increase in supplies, when such increase was wholly unneeded, dealt the sugar market a blow. The gradual improvement in values which had occurred during the first three months of the year was reversed. The price of sugar continued to decline until the lowest level in more than 2½ years was reached in the fall of 1954.

"In fact, the continuation and nature of the decline clearly demonstrated that the early increase of 200,000 tons in the consumption requirement determination largely removed the control of the sugar market from the hands of the administrators of the sugar act for the balance of the year."

The department originally fixed the 1954 marketing quota at eight million short tons, increased it by 200,000 tons in March.

Sugar men throughout the world have complained of prices this year, and there is a world surplus of sugar.

Under the U.S. sugar act, the department of agriculture is charged with responsibility for keeping income of sugar producers at a reasonable level, and of assuring a supply of sugar at fair prices.

Adenauer Given French Rebuff On Saar Issue

BONN, Germany, Nov. 6 (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer today received a severe setback in his struggle to make the French-German Saar agreement acceptable to rebellious West German politicians. The French refused immediate talks on interpretation of the hotly criticized deal.

The agreement signed in Paris two weeks ago to "Europeanize" the border territory has been under fire from members of his own coalition as well as the Socialist opposition.

Yesterday a Bonn government spokesman said that there would be talks between top German and French officials next week on the interpretation of some provisions of the accord.

This announcement came after a "make peace" meeting between Adenauer and his chief critics. The German press reported the announcement had mollified the critics somewhat and taken the heat out of the coalition crisis.

Hitler's Foreign Minister Freed; Health Is Broken

BERLIN, Nov. 6 (AP)—Broken in health and almost forgotten in changing world politics, Baron Konstantin von Neurath, Hitler's first foreign minister, was released from a war crimes prison today.

Now 81 and suffering from heart trouble, Von Neurath was granted a parole from Spandau, the four-power prison holding the seven top Hitler Nazis who escaped hanging.

None ever had been expected to see the outside again. The Russians, in charge of the prison this month, revived last Wednesday an old Western proposal to release Von Neurath because of age and health, and got quick American, British and French assent.

Von Neurath's daughter, Mrs. Winifried von Mackensen, was notified to appear here for a "conference" at 10 a.m. today. At 11 a.m., her father appeared in the visitors' room, dressed for street travel for the first time in eight years.

He did not know he was being released, Mrs. Von Mackensen said. Only at the last moment were both advised by officers of all four powers that a car awaited. They went to a modest hotel in downtown Berlin where tonight von Neurath was under a private physician's care.

OPTIMIST LEADERS—J. C. Thrower, right, president of the Monroe chapter of the Optimist Club International, is shown with the district 7 governor, C. E. "Pop" Shriner of Alexandria. Optimist Week To Be Observed In Twin Cities

Mayors John E. Coon and J. Allen Norris of Monroe and West Monroe respectively have proclaimed the week of Nov. 7 through 13 as Optimist Week in the Twin Cities and urged all citizens to join in the observance and extend heartfelt salute to the club for its boys' work activities.

In signing the proclamation, the mayors pointed out the work of the Optimist members in raising money for the education and development of youth in unfortunate circumstances. "In this work it (the Optimist club) is performing many outstanding services in our community through the financial and moral aid provided by this group of business and professional boys in unfortunate circumstances. Through their assistance, these boys have a great opportunity to mature into adults who will benefit and not hinder the progress of their fellow men."

J. C. Thrower, president of the local chapter, has pointed out there are nearly 1,000 individual Optimist Clubs now in operation in the U. S., Canada, Mexico, Puerto Rico, Cuba and Hawaii with a combined membership of 45,000.

Last year alone, Thrower said, these clubs assisted more than 700,000 boys in unfortunate circumstances at an expenditure of more than $2 million.

Sgt. Glover said she will be glad to discuss a career in the WAC with any woman who is interested, or answer any question she may have concerning the Women's Army Corps.

Work To Start On Calcasieu Cutoff

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 6 (AP)—The New Orleans office of the US engineers reported today it had received authorization to go ahead with plans to construct a cutoff on the Calcasieu River below Lake Charles.

Col. Charles Tench, New Orleans district engineer, said right of way and right of entry documents had been received and he expected to advertise for bids on the $50,000 project within the next few days. He said the bids would be opened in December.

The cutoff will provide a straight channel from a bend on the Calcasieu to Lake Moss between 25 and 29 miles below Lake Charles. The two sharp bends in the river at that point frequently have caused ships to run aground or collide with shore installations, Tench said.

Woman Shoots Intruder After Bomb Explodes

HOUSTON, Nov. 6—UP—Someone set off a bomb, or perhaps a large firecracker, on the lawn at the home of Mrs. Gwendolyn Smith, 18, Friday night, and then a man started banging on the back door and shouted:

"Open the door!"

Mrs. Smith, however, had already popped through a window and saw two shadowy figures standing on the porch. She fired three shots through the door and heard one man yell, "Oh my leg!"

Then, she said, the other man helped him to a waiting car.

"I hope I got him," she said. "If any more show up they'll get the same treatment."

To announce the observance of the week, which was designated by Governor Kennon in cooperation with the organization's national program, high school faculty members were each presented with a red rose with a card attached giving the details.

Red China Not Invited To Scientific Parley On Atoms-For-Peace Theme

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Nov. 6 (AP) — A seven-nation draft resolution for an atom-for-peace agency was reinstated tonight, a U.S. delegation spokesman announced, after it had been withdrawn temporarily for a check as to whether it would open the door for Red China to attend a scientific congress.

The resolution, sponsored by the United States and six other nations, was made public as a note to correspondents tonight.

A key paragraph proposed that all "members of the United Nations or of the specialized agencies" be invited to attend a U.N. scientific conference on President Eisenhower's atoms-for-peace plan to be held not later than August, 1955.

Documents were being prepared to circulate the resolution to the 60 members of the U.N. Assembly's main Political Committee when the United States suddenly stepped in.

A U.S. spokesman said "The text is being withdrawn in order to correct an error due to inadvertence."

This was after newsmen had raised the question whether Red China was a member of the Universal Postal Union, the largest of the U.N.'s dozen specialized agencies, and therefore, by the language of the draft, eligible for an invitation.

Later the U.S. delegatoin spokesman said the check had been made and that Red China was not a member of the Universal Postal Union. he emphasized that the United States never had an intention of letting Red China participate.

He said the draft, as originally drawn, was being circulated by the U.N. to the other members.

The spoktsman hinted that all sponsors of the resolution had clearly understood Red China was not intended as a participant.

Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. chief U.S. delegate, launched the Assembly debate on atoms-for-peace here yesterday with an explanation of how the United States and its allies proposed to set up an international atomic agency.

Up until September the Russians refused to join the United States in such an agency unless atomic weapon bans were agreed on first. But as the Assembly opened the Soviet Union agreed to new talks and President Eisenhower on Wednesday said he has entered new negotiations with the Rusians.

Luckless Motorist Runs Into Buck

AUSTIN, Nov. 6—UP — Joseph Edward Taylor, 56, unintentionally bagged a four-point buck Friday night about a half mile from the city limits when the deer popped out in front of his car.

In such accidents, the state customarily gets the deer and sends the venison to some charitable institution. Policeman R. N. Vanatta said Taylor's car sustained about $300 in damages.

The overblouse is everywhere this fall and winter. It's a far cry from the old poplin middy, for it blooms in the most romantic fabrics. For evening wear, there's even one made of ermine.

Area Two F. F. A. Selects Officers At Session Here

James McGlothlin of Rayville was elected president of Area 2, Future Farmers of America, at the annual leadership conference held Saturday at Northeast Louisiana State College. McGlothlin succeeds Donnie Wilburn.

Other officers elected at the conference, which had 236 members in attendance, included: Richard Dearman, vice-president, Delhi; Albert Lazarus, secretary, Ruston; Archie Brown, treasurer, Rayville; Kenneth Rockett, reporter, Spearsville; and Jimmy Farley, parliamentarian, Farmerville.

Held on the Northeast campus in cooperation with school officials, the conference was sponsored for the second straight year by the Monroe-West Monroe Chamber of Commerce agricultural committee. The program was coordinated by Jim Williams, executive secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, and Gordon Canterbury, district supervisor of vocational agriculture, State Department of Education.

The conference begin shortly after 8:45 a.m. with registration, followed by a general assembly in Brown Auditorium. Presiding over the general meeting was Donnie Wilburn.

State President Billy Rogers gave the invocation, followed by a brief welcome address by Mayor John E. Coon of Monroe, who praised the group for the work which it has accomplished in the past and urged that it continue "working for the betterment of those who run our farms." Mayor Coon also pledged close cooperation of the City of Monroe to any movement which the FFA undertakes and asked that the members "feel free to call upon us at the city hall" for help.

Also pledging close cooperation to the organization was Dean William Smith, of the Northeast State faculty, who spoke in behalf of the school.

Miss Sara Batten, "Miss Northeast State College" and delegate to the Louisiana beauty pageant last July, rendered several solos.

Speaking briefly were State President Rogers and J. J. Joyce, Jr., representing the agriculture committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

Following panel discussions led by local citizens, the group reassembled for the election of officers and at 12:15 adjourned to the school cafeteria, where the members and visitors were guests of the Chamber of Commerce at lunch.

Red China Not Invited To Scientific Parley On Atoms-For-Peace Theme

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Nov. 6 (AP) — A seven-nation draft resolution for an atom-for-peace agency was reinstated tonight, a U.S. delegation spokesman announced, after it had been withdrawn temporarily for a check as to whether it would open the door for Red China to attend a scientific congress.

The resolution, sponsored by the United States and six other nations, was made public as a note to correspondents tonight.

A key paragraph proposed that all "members of the United Nations or of the specialized agencies" be invited to attend a U.N. scientific conference on President Eisenhower's atoms-for-peace plan to be held not later than August, 1955.

Documents were being prepared to circulate the resolution to the 60 members of the U.N. Assembly's main Political Committee when the United States suddenly stepped in.

A U.S. spokesman said "The text is being withdrawn in order to correct an error due to inadvertence."

This was after newsmen had raised the question whether Red China was a member of the Universal Postal Union, the largest of the U.N.'s dozen specialized agencies, and therefore, by the language of the draft, eligible for an invitation.

Later the U.S. delegatoin spokesman said the check had been made and that Red China was not a member of the Universal Postal Union. he emphasized that the United States never had an intention of letting Red China participate.

He said the draft, as originally drawn, was being circulated by the U.N. to the other members.

The spoktsman hinted that all sponsors of the resolution had clearly understood Red China was not intended as a participant.

Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. chief U.S. delegate, launched the Assembly debate on atoms-for-peace here yesterday with an explanation of how the United States and its allies proposed to set up an international atomic agency.

Up until September the Rusians refused to join the United States in such an agency unless atomic weapon bans were agreed on first. But as the Assembly opened the Soviet Union agreed to new talks and President Eisenhower on Wednesday said he has entered new negotiations with the Rusians.

Luckless Motorist Runs Into Buck

AUSTIN, Nov. 6—UP — Joseph Edward Taylor, 56, unintentionally bagged a four-point buck Friday night about a half mile from the city limits when the deer popped out in front of his car.

In such accidents, the state customarily gets the deer and sends the venison to some charitable institution. Policeman R. N. Vanatta said Taylor's car sustained about $300 in damages.

The overblouse is everywhere this fall and winter. It's a far cry from the old poplin middy, for it blooms in the most romantic fabrics. For evening wear, there's even one made of ermine.

Judge Complains

at the court and shouted:

"I'm going to take all the time necessary, your honor."

"No you're not, Mr. Corrigan," Blythin replied.

Sheppard is on trial for his life, accused of beating his 31-year-old wife to death last July 4 in the bedroom of their Lakefront home. She was four months pregnant with her second son.

The state contends the couple quarreled over the handsome osteopath's affairs with other women, including pert Susan Hayes, a 24-year-old former technician in the Sheppard Osteopathic Hospital. She is to testify for the state later.

Sheppard claimed a bushy-haired marauder bent on burglary entered the home, killed Marilyn and knocked him unconscious.

Lawyers for the state said they could wind up their end of the case in a week—if defense cross-examination remained within normal bounds.

However, Corrigan's tactics indicated he is prepared to pick at every single word that state witnesses put on the record.

Rarely, if ever, does a coroner's routine report on the cause of death get the going over Corrigan gave it yesterday.

He said his purpose was to prove "bungling from the outset" in the state's investigation of the murder. Corrigan claims the state decided Dr. Sheppard was a murder and then built up a circumstantial case around this preconceived idea.

The 67-year-old defense chieftain tried to demonstrate to the jury that Marilyn could have been poisoned for all the coroner's office knows. He contended her body never was thoroughly checked for poison.

He also picked holes here and there in the formal wording of the autopsy report, and got Dr. Adelson to admit one or two errors.

Time and again Corrigan bemoaned the fact that notes and data upon which the autopsy report was based were later destroyed. He told Dr. Adelson as one such point:

"There isn't any way of checking you, is there?"

Corrigan suggested to the jury that some multipronged instrument might have been the death weapon insinuating flaws in the state's theory that Marilyn was beaten methodically with an instrument that splintered her skull.

Brother George

Monroe tobacco dealer Claude Harrison have been mentioned as possible Kennon candidates.

The flurry of candidates and rumors of candidates comes almost eight months before the traditional July fourth starting gun for the gubernatorial race.

Earl Long moved up from lieutenant governor in 1939 when Richard Leche resigned at the height of the Louisiana scandals. He lost an attempt to win a full term in 1940.

In 1948, the 59-year-old Earl reversed the decision, defeating the 1940 victor, Sam Jones, by a two to one margin in the second primary.

Earl tried unsuccessfully to name a successor in 1952 when Baton Rouge Judge Carlos Spaht came out a shaky first in a nine-man field in the first primary but was blasted by dark horse Kennon in the runoff.

Earl won a victory over Kennon recently when Camille Gravel, staunch Long lieutenant, was named Louisiana National Democratic committee over Sen. Robert Ainsworth of New Orleans, Kennon's Senate floor leader.

"I never have had as much encouragement in my life to make the race as I have in recent months," Earl said. "I shall answer the call."

His 71-year-old congressman brother, George, said, "I won't say I will and I won't say I won't," and he added, "I'm a better man than Earl, who is 12 years younger."

Rep. Long admitted that "All men in political life would like to be governor and I, in that respect, am no different than other politicians."

Nephew Russell admitted he was considering trying for governor, but said he wouldn't decide until after the first of the year. Sen. Long supported Rep. Hale Boggs of New Orleans, who finished third in the first 1952 primary.

Barham, an attorney from Ruston, ran on the Boggs losing ticket, but piled up enough votes in the Kennon landslide to oust Elmer Conner, Kennon's choice for lieutenant governor.

Barham was jubilant over the thought of three Longs in the governor's race.

"If two or more Longs run," he predicted, "the independent candidate will win with ease. I am running as an independent . . . people want to elect an independent middle of the road man."

Grevemberg said he has been approached by financial backers seeking to interest him in running.

West Monroe, brought a stalk cut from a banana bush or tree in her yard. There were as many as 20 to 25 green bananas on the stalk and the bush was five years old. Until it was two years, it put out no stalks.

Mrs. Mason was quite delighted with results this year and she will keep it in the house hoping that bananas will ripen.

Now and then there is a large degree of human interest in such items as are found in the column that gives names of persons entering the bonds of matrimony. Yesterday the News-Star carried the item as follows:

"E. M. Stringer, 74, Monroe and Canada."

Grace M. Hearne, 39, Toronto,

Mr. Stringer for years has been caretaker at Riverview Burial park and hence is widely known. His many friends will wish him years of happiness ahead, and anyway he should by now be able to know his own mind.

Another item that appeared in an out of town paper, the same time, informed that Mary Evelyn Dickerson had been wedded to W. Bryant Parker of Baton Rouge.

Miss Dickerson was for a short time in general charge of the Monroe-West Monroe Chamber of Commerce.

Dinosaur Bones Are Dug Up In Uranium Mine

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Nov. 6 (AP)—The radioactive bones of a dinosaur have been unearthed in a uranium ore strip mine on the Turkey Creek Ranch 17 miles southwest of here.

Gano Senter of Denver, an official of Dome Uranium Mines, Inc., said today approximately 200 pounds of the dinosaur bones had been uncovered by bulldozers.

Senter said metallurgical experts in Denver had told him after tests the dinosaur bones assayed more than ½ of 1 per cent uranium. The largest bone recovered is part of a leg. It weighs 32 pounds and measures 8 inches in diameter and 4 feet long.

Stones, which Senter called "gizzard stones," were also found. They were polished as smooth as marbles.

Experts at the Colorado Museum of Natural History in Denver identified the bones as the remains of a Stegosaurus, one of the largest dinosaurs. It probably weighed between 60 and 80 tons. The remains were estimated to be 15 million years old.

Robbery Victim Is Badly Beaten

ALGIERS, La. —UP— Police Saturday sought two bandits who beat a service station attendant and robbed him of $92.

The attendant, Robert Glass, 50, told police the thugs hit him with pistols, and that he pleaded with them not to kill him.

The two thugs left, Glass said, after he faked unconsciousness. The Playground service station, 634 Seguin, had been held up several times before Saturday's robbery.

Hosts at the barbecue will be the "Old Timers" and their guests will be all the eligible World War Two and Korean veterans as well as World War Two post members. The first Legionnaires who were named granddads for the "Old Timers" were in their order: "Squenchy" Nettles, year 1951; Robert Cowden, year 1951; John B. Bailey, year 1952; Sam Rubin, year 1952; Sid "Almeda" Moore, year 1952.

Special Senate

said in answer to a question that "of course he (McCarthy) got a fair hearing" before the special committee.

Knowland and Johnson have both had strong words of praise for the special committee.

Johnson told newsmen that it was composed of "six of the finest, ablest and most respected members of the Senate." Knowland said at the time the committee was appointed that he would be willing to go on trial for his life before any of its members.

The two Senate leaders said that on Monday when the Senate meets at noon, new senators elected to replace appointed senators will be sworn in and the censure committee's report will be formally filed. Then the Senate will adjourn until 10 a.m. the next day.

On Tuesday, they said, tributes will be paid to the late Sen. Maybank (D-SC) and McCarran (D-Nev) who died during the recess, and to two senators who died earlier in the year — Butler (R-Neb) and Hunt (D-Wyo).

Viet Nam Torn By Feuds As Gen. Collins Arrives

Not since President Truman dispatched Gen. George C. Marshall to China in 1946 to attempt to the Communists into a coalition government has an American military man been entrusted with such a tough and delicate job.

Collins, who was named by the White House on Wednesday to "coordinate the operations of all U.S. agencies" in Viet Nam, is wxpected here Monday. Actually, his assignment is to try to bring order out of the political chaos now existing in the non-Communist South. If it is not done soon, there seems little chance Viet Nam can be saved from a Communist victory at the polls two years from now when a unified government is chose under terms of the Geneva armistice agreement. The former Army chief of staff has the personal rank of ambassador during his mission.

Collins must undertake a difficult diplomatic chore without seeming to interfere in the South's internal affairs, carefully avoiding the oversensitive toes of high strung Vietnamese.

The police force is under the control of Viet Nam's gambling czar, Gen. Le Van Vien, who heads the Binh Xuyen society endowed with its own small private army. The Premier, a man of great integrity and ascetism, opposes gambling and vice in general and would like to put his own man at the head of the police. But he is powerless to do so and would run counter to the wishes of Chief of State Bao Dai if he did. The ex-Emperor put Binh Xuyen in control before Diem took over the government.

Prominent Monroyan, Mrs. W. Bynum, Dies

Mrs. W. J. Bynum, Jr., 79 of 501 St. John street, member of a prominent local family died yesterday in a local hospital around 5 p.m.

Mrs. Bynum, a life long resident of Monroe was born here on May 2, 1875. She was a member of the First Presbyterian Church and also a member of the Louise L. McQuire Order of Eastern Star.

Funeral services will be held at the Mulhearn Funeral Chapel at 10:30 a.m. Monday with Rev. W. H. McFadden, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church officiating. Burial will be in the Riverview Cemetery.

Mrs. Bynum is survived by her husband, W. J. Bynum Jr., Monroe; one daughter Mrs. Lloyd Surghnor, Monroe; two sons J. Ernest Bynum, Shreveport; Dr. Bill Bynum, Baton Rouge; one granddaughter, Mrs. Don Hoyem, Monroe; two great grandchildren and a number of nieces and nephews.

How much horsepower in your ad program?

If you want your products to move faster, take a cue from the automobile people. They stepped up their newspaper advertising by 47.1% last year.

Big national advertisers of all types of products increased their newspaper advertising heavily in 1953.

But in the giant automotive field — where manufacturers had to sell as never before — they turned to newspapers with even more dramatic force.

They know that almost all the people in every town read a newspaper just about every day. It's one thing people won't do without.

Judge Complains

at the court and shouted:

"I'm going to take all the time necessary, your honor."

"No you're not, Mr. Corrigan," Blythin replied.

Sheppard is on trial for his life, accused of beating his 31-year-old wife to death last July 4 in the bedroom of their Lakefront home. She was four months pregnant with her second son.

The state contends the couple quarreled over the handsome osteopath's affairs with other women, including pert Susan Hayes, a 24-year-old former technician in the Sheppard Osteopathic Hospital. She is to testify for the state later.

Sheppard claimed a bushy-haired marauder bent on burglary entered the home, killed Marilyn and knocked him unconscious.

Lawyers for the state said they could wind up their end of the case in a week—if defense cross-examination remained within normal bounds.

However, Corrigan's tactics indicated he is prepared to pick at every single word that state witnesses put on the record.

Rarely, if ever, does a coroner's routine report on the cause of death get the going over Corrigan gave it yesterday.

He said his purpose was to prove "bungling from the outset" in the state's investigation of the murder. Corrigan claims the state decided Dr. Sheppard was a murder and then built up a circumstantial case around this preconceived idea.

The 67-year-old defense chieftain tried to demonstrate to the jury that Marilyn could have been poisoned for all the coroner's office knows. He contended her body never was thoroughly checked for poison.

He also picked holes here and there in the formal wording of the autopsy report, and got Dr. Adelson to admit one or two errors.

Time and again Corrigan bemoaned the fact that notes and data upon which the autopsy report was based were later destroyed. He told Dr. Adelson as one such point:

"There isn't any way of checking you, is there?"

Corrigan suggested to the jury that some multipronged instrument might have been the death weapon insinuating flaws in the state's theory that Marilyn was beaten methodically with an instrument that splintered her skull.

Brother George

Monroe tobacco dealer Claude Harrison have been mentioned as possible Kennon candidates.

The flurry of candidates and rumors of candidates comes almost eight months before the traditional July fourth starting gun for the gubernatorial race.

Earl Long moved up from lieutenant governor in 1939 when Richard Leche resigned at the height of the Louisiana scandals. He lost an attempt to win a full term in 1940.

In 1948, the 59-year-old Earl reversed the decision, defeating the 1940 victor, Sam Jones, by a two to one margin in the second primary.

Earl tried unsuccessfully to name a successor in 1952 when Baton Rouge Judge Carlos Spaht came out a shaky first in a nine-man field in the first primary but was blasted by dark horse Kennon in the runoff.

Earl won a victory over Kennon recently when Camille Gravel, staunch Long lieutenant, was named Louisiana National Democratic committee over Sen. Robert Ainsworth of New Orleans, Kennon's Senate floor leader.

"I never have had as much encouragement in my life to make the race as I have in recent months," Earl said. "I shall answer the call."

His 71-year-old congressman brother, George, said, "I won't say I will and I won't say I won't," and he added, "I'm a better man than Earl, who is 12 years younger."

Rep. Long admitted that "All men in political life would like to be governor and I, in that respect, am no different than other politicians."

Nephew Russell admitted he was considering trying for governor, but said he wouldn't decide until after the first of the year. Sen. Long supported Rep. Hale Boggs of New Orleans, who finished third in the first 1952 primary.

Barham, an attorney from Ruston, ran on the Boggs losing ticket, but piled up enough votes in the Kennon landslide to oust Elmer Conner, Kennon's choice for lieutenant governor.

Barham was jubilant over the thought of three Longs in the governor's race.

"If two or more Longs run," he predicted, "the independent candidate will win with ease. I am running as an independent . . . people want to elect an independent middle of the road man."

Grevemberg said he has been approached by financial backers seeking to interest him in running.

West Monroe, brought a stalk cut from a banana bush or tree in her yard. There were as many as 20 to 25 green bananas on the stalk and the bush was five years old. Until it was two years, it put out no stalks.

Mrs. Mason was quite delighted with results this year and she will keep it in the house hoping that bananas will ripen.

Now and then there is a large degree of human interest in such items as are found in the column that gives names of persons entering the bonds of matrimony. Yesterday the News-Star carried the item as follows:

"E. M. Stringer, 74, Monroe and Canada."

Grace M. Hearne, 39, Toronto,

Mr. Stringer for years has been caretaker at Riverview Burial park and hence is widely known. His many friends will wish him years of happiness ahead, and anyway he should by now be able to know his own mind.

Another item that appeared in an out of town paper, the same time, informed that Mary Evelyn Dickerson had been wedded to W. Bryant Parker of Baton Rouge.

Miss Dickerson was for a short time in general charge of the Monroe-West Monroe Chamber of Commerce.

Dinosaur Bones Are Dug Up In Uranium Mine

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Nov. 6 (AP)—The radioactive bones of a dinosaur have been unearthed in a uranium ore strip mine on the Turkey Creek Ranch 17 miles southwest of here.

Gano Senter of Denver, an official of Dome Uranium Mines, Inc., said today approximately 200 pounds of the dinosaur bones had been uncovered by bulldozers.

Senter said metallurgical experts in Denver had told him after tests the dinosaur bones assayed more than ½ of 1 per cent uranium. The largest bone recovered is part of a leg. It weighs 32 pounds and measures 8 inches in diameter and 4 feet long.

Stones, which Senter called "gizzard stones," were also found. They were polished as smooth as marbles.

Experts at the Colorado Museum of Natural History in Denver identified the bones as the remains of a Stegosaurus, one of the largest dinosaurs. It probably weighed between 60 and 80 tons. The remains were estimated to be 15 million years old.

Robbery Victim Is Badly Beaten

ALGIERS, La. —UP— Police Saturday sought two bandits who beat a service station attendant and robbed him of $92.

The attendant, Robert Glass, 50, told police the thugs hit him with pistols, and that he pleaded with them not to kill him.

The two thugs left, Glass said, after he faked unconsciousness. The Playground service station, 634 Seguin, had been held up several times before Saturday's robbery.

Knowland and Johnson have both had strong words of praise for the special committee.

Johnson told newsmen that it was composed of "six of the finest, ablest and most respected members of the Senate." Knowland said at the time the committee was appointed that he would be willing to go on trial for his life before any of its members.

The two Senate leaders said that on Monday when the Senate meets at noon, new senators elected to replace appointed senators will be sworn in and the censure committee's report will be formally filed. Then the Senate will adjourn until 10 a.m. the next day.

On Tuesday, they said, tributes will be paid to the late Sen. Maybank (D-SC) and McCarran (D-Nev) who died during the recess, and to two senators who died earlier in the year — Butler (R-Neb) and Hunt (D-Wyo).

Viet Nam Torn By Feuds As Gen. Collins Arrives

Not since President Truman dispatched Gen. George C. Marshall to China in 1946 to attempt to the Communists into a coalition government has an American military man been entrusted with such a tough and delicate job.

Collins, who was named by the White House on Wednesday to "coordinate the operations of all U.S. agencies" in Viet Nam, is wxpected here Monday. Actually, his assignment is to try to bring order out of the political chaos now existing in the non-Communist South. If it is not done soon, there seems little chance Viet Nam can be saved from a Communist victory at the polls two years from now when a unified government is chose under terms of the Geneva armistice agreement. The former Army chief of staff has the personal rank of ambassador during his mission.

Collins must undertake a difficult diplomatic chore without seeming to interfere in the South's internal affairs, carefully avoiding the oversensitive toes of high strung Vietnamese.

The police force is under the control of Viet Nam's gambling czar, Gen. Le Van Vien, who heads the Binh Xuyen society endowed with its own small private army. The Premier, a man of great integrity and ascetism, opposes gambling and vice in general and would like to put his own man at the head of the police. But he is powerless to do so and would run counter to the wishes of Chief of State Bao Dai if he did. The ex-Emperor put Binh Xuyen in control before Diem took over the government.

Gun Shot Hits Telephone Cable

WINNSBORO, Nov. 6 (Special)—A gun shot caused temporary damage to the Crowville - Winnsboro telephone cable knocking out approximately 100 telephones this week, according to A. B. Kessler, manager of Southern Bell Telephone Co. Repairmen were rushed to the scene immediately and all telephones were back in working order in a short time.

Kessler said that with hunting season under way, hunters and others who might have occasion to fire shotguns, rifles or pistols near aerial telephone equipment are asked to be careful of communication lines.

"Even the smallest shots can cut a telephone wire, shatter an insulator or otherwise cause disruption of service, and parish and city officials have been contacted for their assistance in prevention of such occurrences," Kessler said.

Adult Education To Be Spotlighted At Chicago Meet

National attention will be focused on the rapidly growing adult education movement in this country when 1,500 educators, community leaders, editors and business and labor leaders convene today in Chicago to discuss "Adult Education for a Free Society." The conference, which will extend through Wednesday, is sponsored by the Adult Education Association of the United States.

Miss Ida Lee King, dean of women at Northeast State, will be delegate to the policy-making assembly, which will chart plans for the Association for the coming year.

The three-day conference preceding the assembly will feature 50 round-table discussions and workshops exploring the role of adult education in meeting the growing needs of our time. Goals and methods of teaching adults will be examined, as well as specific areas of social concern.

"The emphasis of adult education today stems from increasing recognition that adults must grow and change in a society that demands maturity of its citizens," explained Paul Sheats, president of the Adult Education Association, in announcing the conference.

"There is a widespread realization that there isn't time in our atomic age to wait for another generation to solve our problems."

The conference will bring together a cross-section of teachers and leaders of the estimated 30,000,000 persons involved in some form of systematic part - time learning. These include public school adult educators, university extension directors, representatives of labor, business and voluntary agencies with education programs. Also attending will be agriculture specialists, armed forces training officers, librarians, and directors of community programs and forums.

Henry Steele Commager, noted American historian and author, will make the keynote address at the conference, on "The Tests of a Free Society."

Other speakers who will be featured in round-table discussions include: Leland Hazard vice-president, Pittsburgh Glass Co.; James Carey, vice-president, C. I. O.; Mrs. Theodore Chapman, president, General Federation of Women's Clubs; Benjamin Fine, education editor, New York Times; Ernest Melby, dean of the school of education, New York University; Charles Johnson, president of Fisk University; Melvin Glasser, director of field trials, National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis; Gardner Murphy, Menninger Foundation; Lawrence K. Frank; Leland Bradford, NEA; S. I. Hayakawa, semanticist and others.

Power Contract To Be Signed By AEC On Monday

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 (AP)—The 500 million dollar Dixon-Yates power contract probably will be signed Monday to clear up the legal authority of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee to review it.

This was decided today by the committee and the Atomic Energy Commission midway in hearings called to determine whether the committee will give an immediate go-ahead for a new private generating plant whose output would be fed into Tennessee Valley Authority public power lines.

The committee decided to ask the AEC to sign the agreement as soon as possible, after members of both parties had questioned the committee's authority to consider the contract until it is completed. AEC approved the agreement last month but did not sign it.

AEC Chairman Lewis L. Strauss told newsmen the signed contract would be delivered by 11 a.m. Monday when the committee reconvenes. And Edgar H. Dixon, speaking for the private utility group, said it could sign by then.

With a signed contract in hand, the congressional group will continue the hearings, now in the third day, which already have brought sharp partisan bickering over the power plant.

The proposal, hotly debated since June, provides for a 25-year agreement between AEC and the Dixon-Yates group for some 600 thousand additional kilowatts of power in the Memphis, Tenn., area beginning in 1957 and construction of a 107-million dollar power plant. The AEC would pay about 20 million dollars a year for the power, to be supplied to TVA to take the place of some of the electricity it sells AEC.

Sen. Lyndon D. Johnson, (D-Tex) slated to be the majority leader in the next Congress, meanwhile indicated that the Democrats would air the contract during the forthcoming session. "That contract," he told a news conference, "was written in the dark of the moon and we're going to expose it to some good New Mexico sun."

That was a reference to the fact that Sen. Anderson, (D-NM), long an opponent of the Dixon-Yates proposal, is in line to be the next chairman of the Atomic Energy Committee.

Johnson said a statement would be issued next week about Democratic plans and that "It will be of interest."

AEC Member Murray Says Dixon-Yates Contract Is Against Public Interest

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6—UP—A member of the Atomic Energy Commission said Saturday the Dixon-Yates contract has "needlessly" plunged the AEC into a "political" controversy and diverted attention from the urgent job of keeping ahead of Russia in the H - bomb race.

The charge was hurled by Thomas E. Murray only Democratic appointee still serving on the five-member Atomic Energy Commission. He testified at a public hearing of the Congressional Atomic Energy Commission. He testified at a public hearing of the Congressional Atomic Energy committee on the 25-year contract under which the AEC would buy 600 000 kilowatts of power from the Dixon-Yates private utility combine. The power would be delivered to the Tennessee Valley Authority to replace a like amount of TVA power used by atomic plants.

Murray took sharp issue with the claim of AEC Chairman Lewis L. Strauss that the contract is "in the public interest."

"To me anything that diverts the Atomic Energy Commission and its staff from the immediate developent and production of weapons, along with the gigantic task of bringing into being peacetime applications of atomic energy. . . is not 'in the public interest'," Murray declared.

He also protested that he was not informed of the negotiations for the contract until a month after they began. As one of the five co-equal atomic commissioners, he said, "I should have been informed of what was going on."

Murray testified after Strauss, under prodding by the committee, agreed to call a meeting of the commission Monday morning to sign the contract, which has been "approved" but never formally executed.

Members of the committee questioned whether they had authority to continue public hearings on the contract—already in their third day—unless the proposal was made legally binding and was no longer subject to change.

Murray said he was strongly in favor of the basic idea of using private utilities to meet the AEC's power needs, but that he opposed the Dixon-Yates contract because of the AEC's previous "sad experience" with Ebasco Services, Inc., the contracting firm which the Dixon-Yates combine has hired to build a $107 million steam plant at West Memphis, Ark.

Murray said Ebasco was also the original contractor for a plant built at Joppa, Ill., by Electric Energy, Inc., to furnish power to the AEC, and that its handling of the job boosted government costs about $70 million over the life of a long-term contract.

Murray said it is his firm conviction that no contract should be concluded to the understanding that Ebasco will be engineers and constructors without "conclusive evidence assuring competent performance."

"The public interest demands this," Murray said. "It cannot be satisfied with anything less."

Some members of the congressional committee had proposed earlier that the group halt its public hearings until the contract was formally signed and placed before them. But Strauss said he would try to hand them a completed contract Monday.

Armas Pledges Social Justice To All Classes

GUATEMALA, Nov. 6 (AP)—Carlos Castillo Armas took oath of office today as Guatemala's constitutional President and declared he stood neither with the left nor the right but for social justice for both workers and employers.

The wiry little colonel who led the revolt which ousted a pro-Communist regime from this Central American republic last June said economic recovery is the most pressing problem facing the new government.

The United States, long at odds with the old pro-Red regime of Jacobo Arbenz Guzman, has already allotted Castillo's government almost 6½ millions in economic aid.

Gun Shot Hits Telephone Cable

WINNSBORO, Nov. 6 (Special)—A gun shot caused temporary damage to the Crowville - Winnsboro telephone cable knocking out approximately 100 telephones this week, according to A. B. Kessler, manager of Southern Bell Telephone Co. Repairmen were rushed to the scene immediately and all telephones were back in working order in a short time.

Kessler said that with hunting season under way, hunters and others who might have occasion to fire shotguns, rifles or pistols near aerial telephone equipment are asked to be careful of communication lines.

"Even the smallest shots can cut a telephone wire, shatter an insulator or otherwise cause disruption of service, and parish and city officials have been contacted for their assistance in prevention of such occurrences," Kessler said.

Adult Education To Be Spotlighted At Chicago Meet

National attention will be focused on the rapidly growing adult education movement in this country when 1,500 educators, community leaders, editors and business and labor leaders convene today in Chicago to discuss "Adult Education for a Free Society." The conference, which will extend through Wednesday, is sponsored by the Adult Education Association of the United States.

Miss Ida Lee King, dean of women at Northeast State, will be delegate to the policy-making assembly, which will chart plans for the Association for the coming year.

The three-day conference preceding the assembly will feature 50 round-table discussions and workshops exploring the role of adult education in meeting the growing needs of our time. Goals and methods of teaching adults will be examined, as well as specific areas of social concern.

"The emphasis of adult education today stems from increasing recognition that adults must grow and change in a society that demands maturity of its citizens," explained Paul Sheats, president of the Adult Education Association, in announcing the conference.

"There is a widespread realization that there isn't time in our atomic age to wait for another generation to solve our problems."

The conference will bring together a cross-section of teachers and leaders of the estimated 30,000,000 persons involved in some form of systematic part - time learning. These include public school adult educatiors, university extension directors, representatives of labor, business and voluntary agencies with education programs. Also attending will be agriculture specialists, armed forces training officers, librarians, and directors of community programs and forums.

Henry Steele Commager, noted American historian and author, will make the keynote address at the conference, on "The Tests of a Free Society."

Other speakers who will be featured in round-table discussions include: Leland Hazard vice-president, Pittsburgh Glass Co.; James Carey, vice-president, C. I. O.; Mrs. Theodore Chapman, president, General Federation of Women's Clubs; Benjamin Fine, education editor, New York Times; Ernest Melby, dean of the school of education, New York University; Charles Johnson, president of Fisk University; Melvin Glasser, director of field trials, National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis; Gardner Murphy, Menninger Foundation; Lawrence K. Frank; Leland Bradford, NEA; S. I. Hayakawa, semanticist and others.

Power Contract To Be Signed By AEC On Monday

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 (AP)—The 500 million dollar Dixon-Yates power contract probably will be signed Monday to clear up the legal authority of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee to review it.

This was decided today by the committee and the Atomic Energy Commission midway in hearings called to determine whether the committee will give an immediate go-ahead for a new private generating plant whose output would be fed into Tennessee Valley Authority public power lines.

The committee decided to ask the AEC to sign the agreement as soon as possible, after members of both parties had questioned the committee's authority to consider the contract until it is completed. AEC approved the agreement last month but did not sign it.

AEC Chairman Lewis L. Strauss told newsmen the signed contract would be delivered by 11 a.m. Monday when the committee reconvenes. And Edgar H. Dixon, speaking for the private utility group, said it could sign by then.

With a signed contract in hand, the congressional group will continue the hearings, now in the third day, which already have brought sharp partisan bickering over the power plant.

The proposal, hotly debated since June, provides for a 25-year agreement between AEC and the Dixon-Yates group for some 600 thousand additional kilowatts of power in the Memphis, Tenn., area beginning in 1957 and construction of a 107-million dollar power plant. The AEC would pay about 20 million dollars a year for the power, to be supplied to TVA to take the place of some of the electricity it sells AEC.

Sen. Lyndon D. Johnson, (D-Tex) slated to be the majority leader in the next Congress, meanwhile indicated that the Democrats would air the contract during the forthcoming session. "That contract," he told a news conference, "was written in the dark of the moon and we're going to expose it to some good New Mexico sun."

That was a reference to the fact that Sen. Anderson, (D-NM), long an opponent of the Dixon-Yates proposal, is in line to be the next chairman of the Atomic Energy Committee.

Johnson said a statement would be issued next week about Democratic plans and that "It will be of interest."

AEC Member Murray Says Dixon-Yates Contract Is Against Public Interest

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6—UP—A member of the Atomic Energy Commission said Saturday the Dixon-Yates contract has "needlessly" plunged the AEC into a "political" controversy and diverted attention from the urgent job of keeping ahead of Russia in the H - bomb race.

The charge was hurled by Thomas E. Murray only Democratic appointee still serving on the five-member Atomic Energy Commission. He testified at a public hearing of the Congressional Atomic Energy Commission. He testified at a public hearing of the Congressional Atomic Energy committee on the 25-year contract under which the AEC would buy 600 000 kilowatts of power from the Dixon-Yates private utility combine. The power would be delivered to the Tennessee Valley Authority to replace a like amount of TVA power used by atomic plants.

Murray took sharp issue with the claim of AEC Chairman Lewis L. Strauss that the contract is "in the public interest."

"To me anything that diverts the Atomic Energy Commission and its staff from the immediate developent and production of weapons, along with the gigantic task of bringing into being peacetime applications of atomic energy. . . is not 'in the public interest'," Murray declared.

He also protested that he was not informed of the negotiations for the contract until a month after they began. As one of the five co-equal atomic commissioners, he said, "I should have been informed of what was going on."

Murray testified after Strauss, under prodding by the committee, agreed to call a meeting of the commission Monday morning to sign the contract, which has been "approved" but never formally executed.

Members of the committee questioned whether they had authority to continue public hearings on the contract—already in their third day—unless the proposal was made legally binding and was no longer subject to change.

Murray said he was strongly in favor of the basic idea of using private utilities to meet the AEC's power needs, but that he opposed the Dixon-Yates contract because of the AEC's previous "sad experience" with Ebasco Services, Inc., the contracting firm which the Dixon-Yates combine has hired to build a $107 million steam plant at West Memphis, Ark.

Murray said Ebasco was also the original contractor for a plant built at Joppa, Ill., by Electric Energy, Inc., to furnish power to the AEC, and that its handling of the job boosted government costs about $70 million over the life of a long-term contract.

Murray said it is his firm conviction that no contract should be concluded to the understanding that Ebasco will be engineers and constructors without "conclusive evidence assuring competent performance."

"The public interest demands this," Murray said. "It cannot be satisfied with anything less."

Some members of the congressional committee had proposed earlier that the group halt its public hearings until the contract was formally signed and placed before them. But Strauss said he would try to hand them a completed contract Monday.

Armas Pledges Social Justice To All Classes

GUATEMALA, Nov. 6 (AP)—Carlos Castillo Armas took oath of office today as Guatemala's constitutional President and declared he stood neither with the left nor the right but for social justice for both workers and employers.

The wiry little colonel who led the revolt which ousted a pro-Communist regime from this Central American republic last June said economic recovery is the most pressing problem facing the new government.

The United States long at odds with the old pro-Red regime of Jacobo Arbenz Guzman, has already allotted Castillo's government almost 6½ millions in economic aid.

Paul Martin Looks 'Em Over

Clarence Cook, the leather slinger from Oak Grove who works out of Larche Campbell's Bastrop stable, takes his longest step up (or down) the fistic ladder here tomorrow night when he meets Tino "The Mexican Bull" Longoria in the ten-round main event at Gus Kallio's Arena.

Promoter Kallio, at the same time, will be presenting the most attractive boxing card in his long career as a Twin City promoter, and, if the Cook following has increased any since his last stylish performance here, every seat in the recently enlarged arena will be taken. Backing up the Cook-Longoria clash will be the semi-final that sends Norris Ray, the bruising Bastrop middleweight, against Chango Patino, a Mexican scrapper working out of the Houston camp that is furnishing Cook's opponent. Ray also has a great following in this area, but, like Cook, he also is drawing a better caliber fighter than he has been usually meeting.

Longoria, at 25 years of ago, weighing 150, and fighting pro since 1949, has compiled a cronological record as follows: Beat Guy Davis, Red Mitchell, knocked out Jerry Sargent and Paul Vara, drew with New York's Billy Gillespie; decisioned in order Billy Trero, Robert Martinez; Benny Carnes, Billy LeBlanc, Vince Mazac, "Young King" Solomon, and Al Horton; stopped Jimmy Hatcher in two rounds; then beat Leo Duncan, Grover Bass (familiar to Monroe fans), Earle Keel, and "Bobcat" Elliott; lost by a TKO to Bobby Dykes at Miami Beach when he suffered a gashed eye in the ninth round; and beat Dennis Woodbury in his last outing.

Sometimes we think it pays to tell a team it doesn't have a chance, particularly when that team has material willing to fight to the last ditch just to prove how wrong you can be. Such is the case of the Bastrop Rams who weren't supposed to have a prayer against Byrd of Shreveport, the pre-season choice to win the North Louisiana district triple-A football championship. Byrd had been living right up to that prediction and headed the state's triple-A poll until the Yellow Jackets ran into the Rams Friday night.

You've heard it said that it's next to impossible to whip Byrd in its own back yard, but that's exactly what the Rams did, and convincingly, too. It was 28-7 for a steamed-up Bastrop crew when the stunned Shreveport crowd finally started hunting the gates. Now the Rams have only to combat over-confidence to sew up the district championship by beating Haynesville next Friday night.

The high school brand of ball being played this year is just as zannie as the college variety, what with the surprising reverses. Take Neville's 26-0 win over Jena which had beaten Tallulah, 35-20. Tallulah had upset Neville a week ago, 30-13. Then Neville had stopped Winnsboro, 20-0, but Friday night Winnsboro socked Tallulah, 26-6. These are just some of the muddled goings-on that make prep ball so interesting.

Ferriday's M'New Sparks Demons To Gulf States Win

By TED HECKATHORN

The Northwest State Demons, sparked by the brilliant running and passing of Ferriday's James McNew, rolled over the Northeast State Indians last night at Brown Stadium, 51-6, in a Gulf States Conference game.

The Tribe's sole touchdown came in the second quarter, when the Demons had only a 13-point lead, giving promise of a close ball game, but the visitors scored again on the first play after the Indian kickoff, and went on to rack up three six-pointers in the third, and two more in the fourth.

Francis "Red" Yocum, ace Northeast tackle, set up the Indian tally when he recovered a Northwestern lateral bobble on the 50. The Tribe marched 50 yards to paydirt, with a nine-yard run by Tommy Leos, and a nine-yard pass, Danny Hoak to Leos, accounting for the longest gains in the drive. Leos went over from the three, and the placement kick was wide.

The Demons scored early in the first quarter, with McNew, Don Millen and Searle Walton eating up steady yardage from the Northeast 38, capping the three-first down, 62-yard drive with a three-yard touchdown plunge by Walton. The kick for point was wide.

The Demons scored again late in the period, when McNew, on a beautiful broken-field run, went 60 yards for a touchdown. Charles Johnson kicked the first of his two placements, and it was 13-0.

On the first play from scrimmage following the Northeast tally, reserve back Larry Whittt burst through the middle from his own 33, and outdistanced the Tribe secondary for a 67-yard jaunt to touchdown-land. Don Purser scooted around end for the point, and when the half ended, it was 20-6.

Clyde Chesson scored for the Demons early in the third from four yards out, after Millen had set it up with a 28-yard dash. Millen broke loose for 42 yards after the Indians had been forced to punt following the kickoff, and plunged over from the two.

McNew, who had kept the Tribe defense loose all evening with his deadly aerials, faded back to pass later in the period, elected to run, and sped 15 yards for the TD.

Substitute Dan Carr scored the next, climaxing a 35-yard drive with an all-yard end run. To Demon third-stringer Don Brice went the honor of recording the longest run of the game, and the final Northwestern marker, when he broke into the clear from his own 26, and scampered 74 yards.

Leos and reserve back Rex Dillingham were the bright lights of the Northeast running attack; and Yocum, who was benched late in the fourth quarter for the first time this season, and C. J. Melancon were the Tribe stalwarts on defense.

DeMarco Decks Manzi In First

BOSTON, Mass., Nov. 6 (AP)—Stiff-punching Tony DeMarco, the world's seventh ranking welterweight contender from Boston, floored rugged Pat Manzi of Syracuse three times in the first round to gain a technical knockout decision at 1:06 of the first round tonight at The Arena. DeMarco weighed 145½, Manzi 146½.

Leo McKenna Hurls Dartmouth Triumph

HANOVER, N.H., Nov. 6 (AP) — Darthouth quarterback Leo McKenna, who suffered a broken wrist on his throwing arm only a month ago, tossed one touchdown pass and set up another score today to lead the Big Green to a 26-0 Ivy League triumph over Columbia.

McKenna was pressed into service when the doctors ruled last night that the Ivy League's top passer, Bill Beagle, couldn't play because of a hip injury.

Score by quarters:

LAKERS LASH HAWKS

Oregon Toppled By Uclan Might In 41-0 Contest

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 6 (AP) — Halfback Jim Decker rolled around right end and ran 91 yards for the knockout touchdown and unbeaten UCLA, the nation's No. 1 football team, went on to crush Oregon today 41-0.

The dramatic run late in the second quarter sent the Pacific Coast Conference kingpins into a safe 21-0 lead and came on the first play after the Webfoots' first—and and only— scoring threat of the afternoon died on the Bruin nine.

Oregon's quarterback George Shaw, until today the nation's total offense leader, was stopped completely. He gained a mere three yards running—he was minus seven for the first half—and completed but three out of 12 passes for 26 and a grand total of 29 for the day.

This was the eighth victory for UCLA, registered before 46,435 fans, and with it went any faint hope Oregon had of going to the Rose Bowl.

Cage Practice Gets Underway For Techsters

RUSTON, Nov. 6 (Special)—Louisiana Tech got basketball practice underway this week in preparation for the opening of the cage season on December 1.

Tech basketball coach Cecil Crowley will have six lettermen back from the team of last season —three seniors, two juniors, and a sophomore—and they will form the core of this year's Canine squad.

Returning lettermen are: forwards, L. V. Norris, senior, Georgetown; L. J. Fontenot, junior, Alexandria; Jap Gullatt, sophomore, Simsboro; guards, Bill Bailey, senior, Athens; Billly Wiggins, junior, Winnsboro; and center Chester Coker, senior, Harrisonburg. A number of freshmen are also trying out for the squad.

One of the team's most valuable all-around players last season, Bailey was captain of the squad. Norris, Wiggins and Coker received All-Gulf States Conference honors last spring and are expected to lend valuable assistance again for the 1954-55 season. The GSC coaches named Norris to the All-GSC second team, Wiggins to the third team, and Coker received honorable mention.

The Louisiana Sports Writers Association also named Norris and Wiggins to their selection of the All-Gulf States second team and Coker to the third team.

A tough 23-game schedule is ahead for the Tech cagers this season. The Bulldogs will play 12 games on the home court and 10 away from home. One tournament has also been scheduled for the Techmen, the Louisiana Invitational Tourney at Shreveport with Hamline, McMurry, Centenary and Tech participating.

BATON ROUGE, Nov. 6 (AP) — Quarterback Al Doggett's 13-yard touchdown pass in the last three minutes staved off a shocking Chattanooga eruption in the fourth quarter tonight as Louisiana State eked out a 26-19 football victory.

The underdog Chattanooga, led by substitute quarterback Dick Durham, blasted for three touchdowns in six minutes and almost turned what was supposed to be an LSU breather into a choker.

Then Doggett and halfback Chuck Johns staged a 76-yard drive that pulled the game out of the fire.

Playing before the smallest crowd in years — less than 13,000 —LSU fired a three-touchdown volley in the opening half, then decided to see what the bench looked like. While coach Gaynell Tinsley was rummaging through his reserves, Chattanooga suddenly came to life as Durham carried on a rentless spot pass attack that kept the LSU defense in a state of confusion.

It was LSU's third victory against five losses and Chattanooga's fourth loss against as many victories. The two teams met for the first time.

Breaks Of Game Enable Trojans To Whip Indians

PALO ALTO, Calif., Nov. 6 (AP)—Opportunist Southern California converted two fumbles and an intercepted pass into a 21-7 Pacific Coast Conference football victory over Stanford today and virtually clinched a bid to the Rose Bowl before a crowd of 38,000.

The big Trojans, who now have a 5-0 conference record, capitalized on their first break in the opening period when guard Orlando Ferrante scooped up a fumble on the Indian 35. From the 17, quarterback Jim Contratto threw a wobbly pass to left half Aramis Dandoy who snagged it in the end zone.

Southern California snapped up another Stanford fumble on the Indian 17 in the third quarter. Contratto passed to Dandoy for 16 to the one and the quarterback went over on a sneak.

Dandoy intercepted a Stanford pass on his own one and raced back to the 25 in the fourth and the Trojans marched 75 yards on 12 ground plays. Left half Ron Brown went the last 15. Sam Tsagalakis converted all three points.

Late in the fourth Stanford drove 65 yards in seven plays with fullback Joe Moreau going four for the score. Hank Roland converted.

Paul Martin Looks 'Em Over

Clarence Cook, the leather slinger from Oak Grove who works out of Larche Campbell's Bastrop stable, takes his longest step up (or down) the fistic ladder here tomorrow night when he meets Tino "The Mexican Bull" Longoria in the ten-round main event at Gus Kallio's Arena.

Promoter Kallio, at the same time, will be presenting the most attractive boxing card in his long career as a Twin City promoter, and, if the Cook following has increased any since his last stylish performance here, every seat in the recently enlarged arena will be taken. Backing up the Cook-Longoria clash will be the semi-final that sends Norris Ray, the bruising Bastrop middleweight, against Chango Patino, a Mexican scrapper working out of the Houston camp that is furnishing Cook's opponent. Ray also has a great following in this area, but, like Cook, he also is drawing a better caliber fighter than he has been usually meeting.

Longoria, at 25 years of ago, weighing 150, and fighting pro since 1949, has compiled a cronological record as follows: Beat Guy Davis, Red Mitchell, knocked out Jerry Sargent and Paul Vara, drew with New York's Billy Gillespie; decisioned in order Billy Trero, Robert Martinez; Benny Carnes, Billy LeBlanc, Vince Mazac, "Young King" Solomon, and Al Horton; stopped Jimmy Hatcher in two rounds; then beat Leo Duncan, Grover Bass (familiar to Monroe fans), Earle Keel, and "Bobcat" Elliott; lost by a TKO to Bobby Dykes at Miami Beach when he suffered a gashed eye in the ninth round; and beat Dennis Woodbury in his last outing.

Sometimes we think it pays to tell a team it doesn't have a chance, particularly when that team has material willing to fight to the last ditch just to prove how wrong you can be. Such is the case of the Bastrop Rams who weren't supposed to have a prayer against Byrd of Shreveport, the pre-season choice to win the North Louisiana district triple-A football championship. Byrd had been living right up to that prediction and headed the state's triple-A poll until the Yellow Jackets ran into the Rams Friday night.

You've heard it said that it's next to impossible to whip Byrd in its own back yard, but that's exactly what the Rams did, and convincingly, too. It was 28-7 for a steamed-up Bastrop crew when the stunned Shreveport crowd finally started hunting the gates. Now the Rams have only to combat over-confidence to sew up the district championship by beating Haynesville next Friday night.

The high school brand of ball being played this year is just as zannie as the college variety, what with the surprising reverses. Take Neville's 26-0 win over Jena which had beaten Tallulah, 35-20. Tallulah had upset Neville a week ago, 30-13. Then Neville had stopped Winnsboro, 20-0, but Friday night Winnsboro socked Tallulah, 26-6. These are just some of the muddled goings-on that make prep ball so interesting.

Ferriday's M'New Sparks Demons To Gulf States Win

By TED HECKATHORN

The Northwest State Demons, sparked by the brilliant running and passing of Ferriday's James McNew, rolled over the Northeast State Indians last night at Brown Stadium, 51-6, in a Gulf States Conference game.

The Tribe's sole touchdown came in the second quarter, when the Demons had only a 13-point lead, giving promise of a close ball game, but the visitors scored again on the first play after the Indian kickoff, and went on to rack up three six-pointers in the third, and two more in the fourth.

Francis "Red" Yocum, ace Northeast tackle, set up the Indian tally when he recovered a Northwestern lateral bobble on the 50. The Tribe marched 50 yards to paydirt, with a nine-yard run by Tommy Leos, and a nine-yard pass, Danny Hoak to Leos, accounting for the longest gains in the drive. Leos went over from the three, and the placement kick was wide.

The Demons scored early in the first quarter, with McNew, Don Millen and Searle Walton eating up steady yardage from the Northeast 38, capping the three-first down, 62-yard drive with a three-yard touchdown plunge by Walton. The kick for point was wide.

The Demons scored again late in the period, when McNew, on a beautiful broken-field run, went 60 yards for a touchdown. Charles Johnson kicked the first of his two placements, and it was 13-0.

On the first play from scrimmage following the Northeast tally, reserve back Larry Whittt burst through the middle from his own 33, and outdistanced the Tribe secondary for a 67-yard jaunt to touchdown-land. Don Purser scooted around end for the point, and when the half ended, it was 20-6.

Clyde Chesson scored for the Demons early in the third from four yards out, after Millen had set it up with a 28-yard dash. Millen broke loose for 42 yards after the Indians had been forced to punt following the kickoff, and plunged over from the two.

McNew, who had kept the Tribe defense loose all evening with his deadly aerials, faded back to pass later in the period, elected to run, and sped 15 yards for the TD.

Substitute Dan Carr scored the next, climaxing a 35-yard drive with an all-yard end run. To Demon third-stringer Don Brice went the honor of recording the longest run of the game, and the final Northwestern marker, when he broke into the clear from his own 26, and scampered 74 yards.

Leos and reserve back Rex Dillingham were the bright lights of the Northeast running attack; and Yocum, who was benched late in the fourth quarter for the first time this season, and C. J. Melancon were the Tribe stalwarts on defense.

DeMarco Decks Manzi In First

BOSTON, Mass., Nov. 6 (AP)—Stiff-punching Tony DeMarco, the world's seventh ranking welterweight contender from Boston, floored rugged Pat Manzi of Syracuse three times in the first round to gain a technical knockout decision at 1:06 of the first round tonight at The Arena. DeMarco weighed 145½, Manzi 146½.

Leo McKenna Hurls Dartmouth Triumph

HANOVER, N.H., Nov. 6 (AP) — Darthouth quarterback Leo McKenna, who suffered a broken wrist on his throwing arm only a month ago, tossed one touchdown pass and set up another score today to lead the Big Green to a 26-0 Ivy League triumph over Columbia.

McKenna was pressed into service when the doctors ruled last night that the Ivy League's top passer, Bill Beagle, couldn't play because of a hip injury.

Score by quarters:

LAKERS LASH HAWKS

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 6 (AP)—The Minneapolis Lakers, who had only one victory in their first three games, started flashing their old championship form here tonight as they wrecked the Milwaukee Hawks, 79-67, in a National Basketball Association game.

Oregon Toppled By Uclan Might In 41-0 Contest

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 6 (AP) — Halfback Jim Decker rolled around right end and ran 91 yards for the knockout touchdown and unbeaten UCLA, the nation's No. 1 football team, went on to crush Oregon today 41-0.

The dramatic run late in the second quarter sent the Pacific Coast Conference kingpins into a safe 21-0 lead and came on the first play after the Webfoots' first—and and only— scoring threat of the afternoon died on the Bruin nine.

Oregon's quarterback George Shaw, until today the nation's total offense leader, was stopped completely. He gained a mere three yards running—he was minus seven for the first half—and completed but three out of 12 passes for 26 and a grand total of 29 for the day.

This was the eighth victory for UCLA, registered before 46,435 fans, and with it went any faint hope Oregon had of going to the Rose Bowl.

Cage Practice Gets Underway For Techsters

RUSTON, Nov. 6 (Special)—Louisiana Tech got basketball practice underway this week in preparation for the opening of the cage season on December 1.

Tech basketball coach Cecil Crowley will have six lettermen back from the team of last season—three seniors, two juniors, and a sophomore—and they will form the core of this year's Canine squad.

Returning lettermen are: forwards, L. V. Norris, senior, Georgetown; L. J. Fontenot, junior, Alexandria; Jap Gullatt, sophomore, Simsboro; guards, Bill Bailey, senior, Athens; Billly Wiggins, junior, Winnsboro; and center Chester Coker, senior, Harrisonburg. A number of freshmen are also trying out for the squad.

One of the team's most valuable all-around players last season, Bailey was captain of the squad. Norris, Wiggins and Coker received All-Gulf States Conference honors last spring and are expected to lend valuable assistance again for the 1954-55 season. The GSC coaches named Norris to the All-GSC second team, Wiggins to the third team, and Coker received honorable mention.

The Louisiana Sports Writers Association also named Norris and Wiggins to their selection of the All-Gulf States second team and Coker to the third team.

A tough 23-game schedule is ahead for the Tech cagers this season. The Bulldogs will play 12 games on the home court and 10 away from home. One tournament has also been scheduled for the Techmen, the Louisiana Invitational Tourney at Shreveport with Hamline, McMurry, Centenary and Tech participating.

L. S. U. Tops Chattanooga

By HUGH MULLIGAN

BATON ROUGE, Nov. 6 (AP) — Quarterback Al Doggett's 13-yard touchdown pass in the last three minutes staved off a shocking Chattanooga eruption in the fourth quarter tonight as Louisiana State eked out a 26-19 football victory.

The underdog Chattanooga, led by substitute quarterback Dick Durham, blasted for three touchdowns in six minutes and almost turned what was supposed to be an LSU breather into a choker.

Then Doggett and halfback Chuck Johns staged a 76-yard drive that pulled the game out of the fire.

Playing before the smallest crowd in years — less than 13,000 —LSU fired a three-touchdown volley in the opening half, then decided to see what the bench looked like. While coach Gaynell Tinsley was rummaging through his reserves, Chattanooga suddenly came to life as Durham carried on a rentless spot pass attack that kept the LSU defense in a state of confusion.

It was LSU's third victory against five losses and Chattanooga's fourth loss against as many victories. The two teams met for the first time.

Breaks Of Game Enable Trojans To Whip Indians

PALO ALTO, Calif., Nov. 6 (AP)—Opportunist Southern California converted two fumbles and an intercepted pass into a 21-7 Pacific Coast Conference football victory over Stanford today and virtually clinched a bid to the Rose Bowl before a crowd of 38,000.

The big Trojans, who now have a 5-0 conference record, capitalized on their first break in the opening period when guard Orlando Ferrante scooped up a fumble on the Indian 35. From the 17, quarterback Jim Contratto threw a wobbly pass to left half Aramis Dandoy who snagged it in the end zone.

Southern California snapped up another Stanford fumble on the Indian 17 in the third quarter. Contratto passed to Dandoy for 16 to the one and the quarterback went over on a sneak.

Dandoy intercepted a Stanford pass on his own one and raced back to the 25 in the fourth and the Trojans marched 75 yards on 12 ground plays. Left half Ron Brown went the last 15. Sam Tsagalakis converted all three points.

Late in the fourth Stanford drove 65 yards in seven plays with fullback Joe Moreau going four for the score. Hank Roland converted.

Toughest Test For Clarence Cook Tomorrow Night

Tough Longoria Providing Test; Ray In Semi-Six

A trio of four-rounders complete the card, with Robert Hancock, Oak Grove, taking on Don McRay, Houston; Ruhl Brumley, Bastrop, vs. Jack Ferguson, Oak Grove, in a featherweight scrap; and Henry Burton, a Monroe Negro who bellhops at a local hotel, meeting Houston's Alvis Green, a Negro middleweight who is the boast of George Brown, the Houston fight handler.

Cook, with a rapier-like left jab that packs plenty of jolt, has impressed the fans here considerably with his boxing ability. Using his left to set opponents up for a hard right, Cook has made the best of his feature-fight rivals look helpless in recent months.

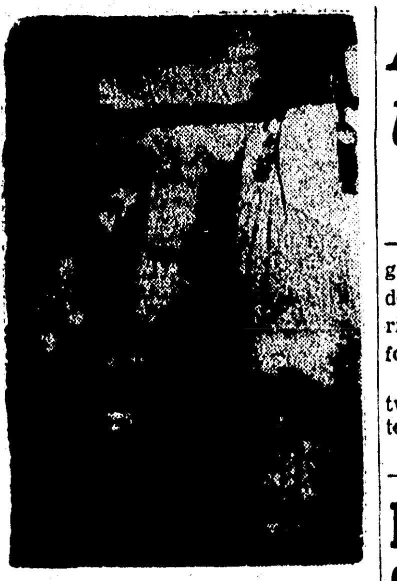
Against Longoria, who has earned his nickname from his slugging, boring-in style, he meets an aggressive, fast-moving puncher, who has compiled an imposing record in the welterweight division.

Harlan Haas, Ring Magazine correspondent, who has been much impressed by Cook's ability and named him "Prospect of the Month" in the welter division, says "He (Cook) had better be at his best come November 8th, because Longoria is intent on stopping him. It might come as a shock to some of the Monroe people, but Longoria is entirely capable of beating Cook. It might be well to prepare them. Longoria is about as cocky a fighter as I've run across. He likes to be the King of everything, and is extremely confident he'll run Cook right out of the ring. He told me he'd belt Cook around so much that Cook would want to quit."

Haas also states that Longoria has been working out steadily in preparation for the Cook bout, and is fretting because he knows that Cook has decisely whipped three Mexican fighters from the Houston area, namely, Baby Valdez, Alex Cedillo, and Joe Vasquez. However, the Bull told Haas he is the King of the Mexican fighters, and aims to prove it.

Haas goes on to say he may attend the Cook-Longoria tussle personally, since it is his opinion that it will be Clarence's toughest test to date.

Among Longoria's conquests were two severe beatings of Al "Red" Horton, who was impressive in a fight here; a win over Malcolm Bass, in which he had Bass on the deck and in a bad way at the finish; and a real slugfest at Miami Beach with nationally-ranked Bobby Dykes. Longoria made it mighty rough for Bobby before suffering an eye cut in the ninth round, causing the referee to halt the proceedings. Tino was never off his feet, and Dykes considers it one of his most torrid evenings in the ring.



THE BASTROP BOMBER, Norris Ray, (above) who hits the fistic comeback trail tomorrow night at Kallio's Arena when he meets veteran Houstoner Chango Patino in the six-round semi - final to the Clarence Cook - Tino Longoria feature ten-rounder. Three four round bouts complete the card.

Ray has bitten off a large chunk in Patino for his comeback inaugural. The Bastrop Bomber, who packs one of the most devastating rights ever seen here, is reputedly in the best condition of his career. Larche Campbell, Bastrop boxing handler, has stated that Ray has been working especially hard for this battle. His opponent, a 145-pound Mexican, has also scored a KO over Horton, and fought a good fight against Dykes.

He and Longoria have been working out together for their Monroe trip, and hope to avenge the former defeats by their countrymen here.

Patino's style is perfect for a crowd-pleasing Ray bout, for both love action and a knock-down, aggressive battle.

One of the four-rounders is slated to go on following the Cook-Longoria tilt, which will enable the Bastrop fans who have to leave early to watch the main event.

The victors smashed for their two touchdowns in the final quarter, after trailing 13-0.

Two minutes later Childress blasted into the end zone again on a four-yard gainer after tackle Frank D'Agostino recovered a fumble on the Miami 27.

Childress added both extra points.

Mangham Socks Crowville Foes By 33-12 Count

MANGHAM, La., Nov. 6 (Special) The Mangham Dragons journeyed to Crowville last night to tag the Bulldogs with a 32-12 defeat.

Crowville pounced on a Dragon fumble and punched across the first touchdown in the opening period, but Ken McKay tallied on a short plunge and Ben McLain ran ten for a touchdown to give Mangham a 13-6 lead at the half as J. L. Hendrix had converted behind McKay's TD.

McKay counted off tackle on a 50-yard sprint in the third quarter, McLain broke away on a 35-yard dash, and Robert Martin plunged for the point behind McLain's second touchdown. Crowvlle followed with its second touchdown in the third period, and McKay scooted 60 yards off tackle for Mangham's final touchdown in the fourth.

A pass to end J. W. Mercer added the final point.

McLain, 160-pound quarterback senior, played outstanding ball on offense and defense, and completed five out of seven passes. Other defensive standouts for the Dragons included guard Shelton Sharbono, tackle Carey Etier, end Don Chapman, and Hendrix, Martin and McKay in the backfield.

Maroons Display Varied Attack To Trip North Texas

STATE COLLEGE, Miss., Nov. 6 (AP)—Mississippi State alternated power and passes in a dazzling show of scoring might today, smothering undermanned North Texas State, 48-26, before 10,000 homecoming fans.

Mississippi State counted five times on the ground and twice through the air in dominating the one-sided intersectional football contest.

Army Runs Wild To Plaster Yale With 1st Defeat

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 6 (AP)—Fleet Tommy Bell burst 64 yards on Army's first play from scrimmage today and then zing, zing, zing, went the touchdowns as the Black Knights of the Hudson crushed unbeaten Yale, 48-7 before a sellout of 73,600 at Yale Bowl.

Bell, a high-kneed churner, accounted for three of the scores and sophomore Bob Kyasky, returning from the injured list, added two more during the rout while three touchdowns came from the accurate pitching arm of Pistol Pete Vann.

With the score 41-7—after two touchdowns in each of the first three periods—coach Earl Blaik of Army called off his point-conscious regulars and emptied his bench, letting reserves get into the game. Even that was not enough to stop the massacre.

6-Man 'Wrestle Royal' At Gus Kallio's Tuesday

Plenty of wrestlers will be in action at Gus Kallio's Arena Tuesday night, when a six-man wrestle-royal opens the procedings to decide who meets who in the simifinal and main event.

The first two men who are pinned are eliminated, out of action, and without pay for the evening. The next two grapplers pinned will come back and meet in the semifinal, which will in all probability require two falls to win.

The remaining pair will clash in the feature event, which will be over the 90-minute time limit route, with two of three falls necessary to win.

It would be an unusual event if Curtis and Apache wound up meeting in the feature attraction, for both are popularities here, and both have a large following.

Barney is a West Monroe garageman, and a capable local referee in addition to his hobby of professional wrestling. However, he has less actual experience on the mat than the other five, and will have to work hard to avoid elimination in the six-man tussle.

All are familiar with the villainous style of Steddum and Wright, and if either happen to tangle with Curtis or Chief in the opener, the chances are good that one or the other will bite the dust.

Nothing is known about Lane's mat ability, although he proved a very capable referee here two weeks ago.

What's the REASON—
for this AMAZING GROWTH?

In just 2 short years, since Delta has been writing Auto Policies it has grown to be one of the most important insurers in Louisiana. We have questioned our policyholders so as to determine why they prefer Delta policies, and on this page you will find their answers. In the paragraphs below we have tried to summarize the reasons for Delta's growth.

15 MINUTE CLAIM SERVICE

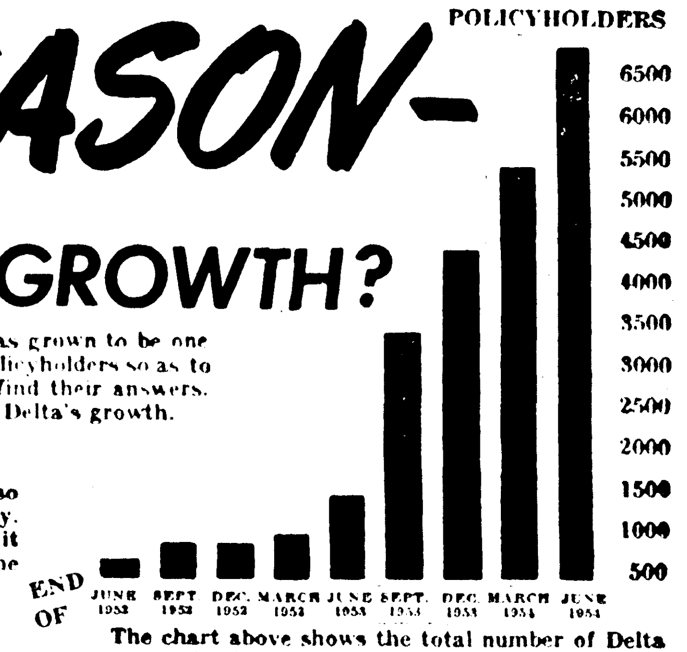
Delta maintains fully staffed claims offices so that claims can be settled quickly, without delay. Settlement in just 15 minutes is not unusual, it is common. No long correspondence with the home office—no waiting for clearances.

EASY MONTHLY PAYMENTS

Have all the coverage you need, when you insure with Delta, and pay for it as you are paid. No need to borrow. This is another extra Delta service, unusual in the insurance field.

DELTA PAYS DIVIDENDS

You share in Delta's growth, for each policyholder gets dividends. Current dividend rate is 10% of premium. When you insure with Delta therefore, you are paying less, getting more.



The chart above shows the total number of Delta auto policyholders, at the end of each fiscal quarter, from June 1952 up to June 1954. See how the number of policyholders has doubled and redoubled every time we have taken count. The management of the Delta Companies has made careful studies to determine the reasons for growth, so that steps could be taken to insure continued expansion. This page is the result of those studies.

The Delta Companies are a group of insurance companies gathered under one effective management, to provide general insurance coverage to the people of Louisiana. Delta National Mutual is the oldest of the companies, its charter dating back to 1893. This company writes insurance for dwellings and their contents. Delta Fire & Casualty writes a complete line of automobile insurance.

HOME OFFICES:
1220 Main Street, Baton Rouge, La.

THE Delta COMPANIES

How Delta "Quick Claim" Service Works

Since the home office is located right here in Louisiana, policyholders of Delta receive speedy claim service. There is no lengthy correspondence with an out-of-state home office to cause delay or inconvenience. This is particularly important with large claims, where quick payments are necessary.

How Delta Settles Claims

Repairs to automobiles are authorized immediately in order to prevent a tie-up of the automobile after an accident.

Policyholders Approve

The fast payment of claims has met with the approval of all Delta policyholders, and has helped to establish Delta Companies as one of the leading insurance groups in Louisiana.

EASY MONTHLY PREMIUM PAYMENTS

Payments of premiums with Delta may be made monthly, quarterly, or on a special plan which defers payment up to 6 months. When you are a Delta policyholder there is no need to borrow to meet premiums due, nor to deny yourself complete coverage because of shortage of cash. A large proportion of Delta policyholders pay for their insurance as they are paid, in easy, small monthly payments.

LOUISIANA FIRM RANKS WITH TOP OUT-OF-STATE COMPANIES

"We are proud," states Mr. David Thomas, president of the Delta Companies, "that a domestic company located here in Louisiana, is able effectively to compete in price and service with better mail order and out-of-state insurance suppliers. We are proud that we equal or surpass the service and protection offered by leading non-Louisiana insurance companies."

Monies Invested in Louisiana

Since the Delta Companies are designed to service Louisiana policyholders, it is a policy of the companies to invest monies received from premiums in the state of Louisiana, thus making the Delta Companies completely home-operated.

NATIONWIDE ACCIDENT SERVICE TO POLICYHOLDERS

Through connections across the country, Delta provides immediate service to policyholders in the event of accident. This has been one of the dominant factors contributing to the success of Delta. Policyholders have assurance that no matter where an accident occurs, Delta is there to back them against financial loss. This prompt service of course saves policyholders inconvenience and worry.

150 Out-of-State Accidents

David W. Robinson, Claims Manager for Delta Companies states that Delta has settled more than 150 claims on accidents that happened out-of-state, during the past year.

Every State in the Union

Mr. Robinson says: "We've settled claims for accidents occuring in almost every state in the union . . . from New York to Oregon, from California to Florida. Our Delta policyholders have been reimbursed for accidents that occurred during duststorms in Texas, floods in New Mexico, conventions in Atlantic City."

Confidence

This nationwide service has done much to build confidence in Delta policyholders, and has been one of the primary reasons for the phenomenal growth of the Delta Companies.

Nation's Largest Companies Back Delta Insurance

Extra Protection Given By Re-Insurance

As an extra protection to policyholders, Delta re-insures all policies. This additional security of re-insured policies has done much to add to the growth and prestige of the Delta Companies.

Automobile Policies

Automobile policies are backed by Pennsylvania Lumberman's Mutual Insurance Company, which has continually received the highest ratings as to its solvency and financial condition, and protection to policyholders, as reflected by Best's Insurance Guide.

Fire Insurance

Policies of Delta National Mutual are re-insured with one of the oldest insurance companies in the United States. The Merrimack Mutual Insurance Company. This company was organized in 1828, and for many generations has been one of the foremost companies in the fire insurance field.

Lloyds of London

Further re-insurance of Delta Fire and Casualty and Delta National Mutual is maintained with Lloyds of London. This system of re-insurance has enabled the Delta Companies to give added protection to all policyholders, as well as to maintain a strong financial position so necessary to insurance firms.

DIVIDENDS TO POLICYHOLDERS

Another popular feature of Delta policies is the dividend paid by Delta to its auto policyholders. These dividends represent a considerable savings to policyholders and have helped to account for the popularity and prestige of the Delta Companies during their rapid growth. Current dividends are 10% of premiums, and are welcomed by policyholders as extra income.

Auburn's Tigers Spring Upset On Miami, 14 To 13

By LEROY SIMMS

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 6 (AP)—The Auburn Tigers, led by a great fullback in Joe Childress, defeated Miami's sixth ranked Hurricanes today 14-13 in a tremendous football upset.

The victors smashed for their two touchdowns in the final quarter, after trailing 13-0.

Two minutes later Childress blasted into the end zone again on a four-yard gainer after tackle Frank D'Agostino recovered a fumble on the Miami 27.

Childress added both extra points.

Miami, capitalizing on an alert pass defense, scored in the second period on a 13-yard pass from Carl Garrigus to end Tom Pepsin, and in the third on Mario Bonofiglio's 53-yarder on a fake hand-off.

MANGHAM, La., Nov. 6 (Special) The Mangham Dragons journeyed to Crowville last night to tag the Bulldogs with a 32-12 defeat.

Crowville pounced on a Dragon fumble and punched across the first touchdown in the opening period, but Ken McKay tallied on a short plunge and Ben McLain ran ten for a touchdown to give Mangham a 13-6 lead at the half as J. L. Hendrix had converted behind McKay's TD.

McKay counted off tackle on a 50-yard sprint in the third quarter, McLain broke away on a 35-yard dash, and Robert Martin plunged for the point behind McLain's second touchdown. Crowvlle followed with its second touchdown in the third period, and McKay scooted 60 yards off tackle for Mangham's final touchdown in the fourth.

A pass to end J. W. Mercer added the final point.

McLain, 160-pound quarterback senior, played outstanding ball on offense and defense, and completed five out of seven passes. Other defensive standouts for the Dragons included guard Shelton Sharbono, tackle Carey Etier, end Don Chapman, and Hendrix, Martin and McKay in the backfield.

Maroons Display Varied Attack To Trip North Texas

STATE COLLEGE, Miss., Nov. 6 (AP)—Mississippi State alternated power and passes in a dazzling show of scoring might today, smothering undermanned North Texas State, 48-26, before 10,000 homecoming fans.

Mississippi State counted five times on the ground and twice through the air in dominating the one-sided intersectional football contest.

No standout emerged from the mass Mississippi State attack, although two plays after the kickoff Joe Silveri raced 63 yards for the first state touchdown and Bill Glasgow added the first of his four conversions.

After that six other Mississippi State backs hit pay-dirt one way or another.

Dean Renfro counted for North Texas State with a 62-yard touchdown sprint and Jack Hayes tied up the game 7-7 mith his extra point. But only moments later quarterback Bobby Collins pitched a 14-yard touchdown strike to end Levaine Hollingshead in the end zone.

From this point, Mississippi never was headed, or even pressed. It was the Maroons' fifth victory in eight starts.

Army Runs Wild To Plaster Yale With 1st Defeat

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 6 (AP)—Fleet Tommy Bell burst 64 yards on Army's first play from scrimmage today and then zing, zing, zing, went the touchdowns as the Black Knights of the Hudson crushed unbeaten Yale, 48-7 before a sellout of 73,600 at Yale Bowl.

Bell, a high-kneed churner, accounted for three of the scores and sophomore Bob Kyasky, returning from the injured list, added two more during the rout while three touchdowns came from the accurate pitching arm of Pistol Pete Vann.

With the score 41-7—after two touchdowns in each of the first three periods—coach Earl Blaik of Army called off his point-conscious regulars and emptied his bench, letting reserves get into the game. Even that was not enough to stop the massacre.

Score by quarters:

Army .... 14 14 13 7—48
Yale .... 0 7 0 0—7

6-Man 'Wrestle Royal' At Gus Kallio's Tuesday

Plenty of wrestlers will be in action at Gus Kallio's Arena Tuesday night, when a six-man wrestle-royal opens the procedings to decide who meets who in the simifinal and main event.

The first two men who are pinned are eliminated, out of action, and without pay for the evening. The next two grapplers pinned will come back and meet in the semifinal, which will in all probability require two falls to win.

The remaining pair will clash in the feature event, which will be over the 90-minute time limit route, with two of three falls necessary to win.

It would be an unusual event if Curtis and Apache wound up meeting in the feature attraction, for both are popularities here, and both have a large following.

Barney is a West Monroe garageman, and a capable local referee in addition to his hobby of professional wrestling. However, he has less actual experience on the mat than the other five, and will have to work hard to avoid elimination in the six-man tussle.

All are familiar with the villainous style of Steddum and Wright, and if either happen to tangle with Curtis or Chief in the opener, the chances are good that one or the other will bite the dust.

Nothing is known about Lane's mat ability, although he proved a very capable referee here two weeks ago.

What's the REASON—
for this AMAZING GROWTH?

In just 2 short years, since Delta has been writing Auto Policies it has grown to be one of the most important insurers in Louisiana. We have questioned our policyholders so as to determine why they prefer Delta policies, and on this page you will find their answers. In the paragraphs below we have tried to summarize the reasons for Delta's growth.

15 MINUTE CLAIM SERVICE

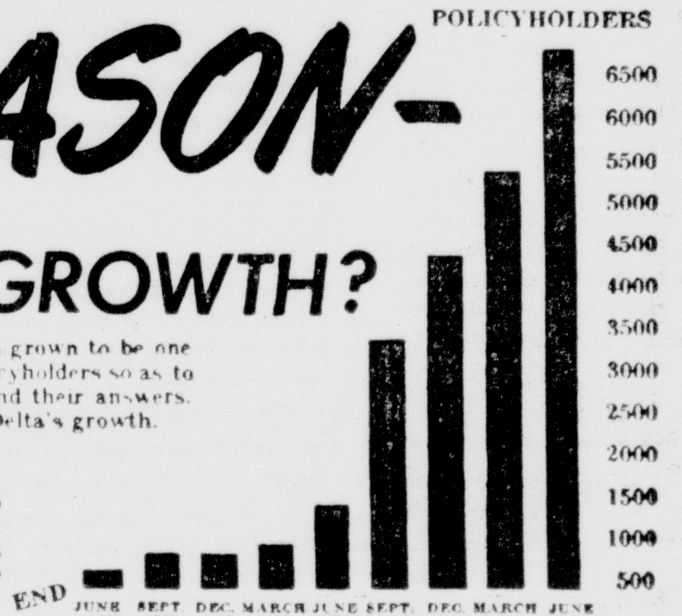
Delta maintains fully staffed claims offices so that claims can be settled quickly, without delay. Settlement in just 15 minutes is not unusual, it is common. No long correspondence with the home office—no waiting for clearances.

EASY MONTHLY PAYMENTS

Have all the coverage you need, when you insure with Delta, and pay for it as you are paid. No need to borrow. This is another extra Delta service, unusual in the insurance field.

DELTA PAYS DIVIDENDS

You share in Delta's growth, for each policyholder gets dividends. Current dividend rate is 10% of premium. When you insure with Delta therefore, you are paying less, getting more.



The chart above shows the total number of Delta auto policyholders, at the end of each fiscal quarter, from June 1952 up to June 1954. See how the number of policyholders has doubled and redoubled every time we have taken count. The management of the Delta Companies has made careful studies to determine the reasons for growth, so that steps could be taken to insure continued expansion. This page is the result of those studies.

The Delta Companies are a group of insurance companies gathered under one effective management, to provide general insurance coverage to the people of Louisiana. Delta National Mutual is the oldest of the companies, its charter dating back to 1893. This company writes insurance for dwellings and their contents. Delta Fire & Casualty writes a complete line of automobile insurance.

HOME OFFICES:
1220 Main Street, Baton Rouge, La.

THE Delta COMPANIES

How Delta "Quick Claim" Service Works

Since the home office is located right here in Louisiana, policyholders of Delta receive speedy claim service. There is no lengthy correspondence with an out-of-state home office to cause delay or inconvenience. This is particularly important with large claims, where quick payments are necessary.

How Delta Settles Claims

Policyholders Approve

The fast payment of claims has met with the approval of all Delta policyholders, and has helped to establish Delta Companies as one of the leading insurance groups in Louisiana.

EASY MONTHLY PREMIUM PAYMENTS

Payments of premiums with Delta may be made monthly, quarterly, or on a special plan which defers payment up to 6 months. When you are a Delta policyholder there is no need to borrow to meet premiums due, nor to deny yourself complete coverage because of shortage of cash. A large proportion of Delta policyholders pay for their insurance as they are paid, in easy, small monthly payments.

LOUISIANA FIRM RANKS WITH TOP OUT-OF-STATE COMPANIES

"We are proud," states Mr. David Thomas, president of the Delta Companies, "that a domestic company, located here in Louisiana, is able effectively to compete in price and service with better mail order and out-of-state insurance suppliers. We are proud that we equal or surpass the service and protection offered by leading non-Louisiana insurance companies."

Monies Invested in Louisiana

Since the Delta Companies are designed to service Louisiana policyholders, it is a policy of the companies to invest monies received from premiums in the state of Louisiana, thus making the Delta Companies completely home-operated.

NATIONWIDE ACCIDENT SERVICE TO POLICYHOLDERS

Through connections across the country, Delta provides immediate service to policyholders in the event of accident. This has been one of the dominant factors contributing to the success of Delta. Policyholders have assurance that no matter where an accident occurs, Delta is there to back them against financial loss. This prompt service of course saves policyholders inconvenience and worry.

150 Out-of-State Accidents

David W. Robinson, Claims Manager for Delta Companies states that Delta has settled more than 150 claims on accidents that happened out-of-state, during the past year.

Every State in the Union

Mr. Robinson says: "We've settled claims for accidents occuring in almost every state in the union . . . from New York to Oregon, from California to Florida. Our Delta policyholders have been reimbursed for accidents that occurred during duststorms in Texas, floods in New Mexico, conventions in Atlantic City."

Confidence

This nationwide service has done much to build confidence in Delta policyholders, and has been one of the primary reasons for the phenomenal growth of the Delta Companies.

Nation's Largest Companies Back Delta Insurance

Extra Protection Given By Re-Insurance

As an extra protection to policyholders, Delta re-insures all policies. This additional security of re-insured policies has done much to add to the growth and prestige of the Delta Companies.

Automobile Policies

Automobile policies are backed by Pennsylvania Lumberman's Mutual Insurance Company, which has continually received the highest ratings as to its solvency and financial condition, and protection to policyholders, as reflected by Best's Insurance Guide.

Fire Insurance

Policies of Delta National Mutual are re-insured with one of the oldest insurance companies in the United States. The Merrimack Mutual Insurance Company. This company was organized in 1828, and for many generations has been one of the foremost companies in the fire insurance field.

Lloyds of London

Further re-insurance of Delta Fire and Casualty and Delta National Mutual is maintained with Lloyds of London. This system of re-insurance has enabled the Delta Companies to give added protection to all policyholders, as well as to maintain a strong financial position so necessary to insurance firms.

DIVIDENDS TO POLICYHOLDERS

Another popular feature of Delta policies is the dividend paid by Delta to its auto policyholders. These dividends represent a considerable savings to policyholders and have helped to account for the popularity and prestige of the Delta Companies during their rapid growth. Current dividends are 10% of premiums, and are welcomed by policyholders as extra income.

Tulane Ties 'Bama; Arkansas Trips Rice

A homecoming crowd of 22,000 watched Sardisco and Burnthorne tear big gaps in the Alabama line and dump halfback Bobby Luna time and again.

Alabama never was able to get more than seven running and passing plays into any one drive.

Each team lost scoring opportunities. In the closing seconds of the first half, Luna passed 66 yards to halfback Bobby Tharp on the Tulane 8, where he was overhauled by Tulane halfback Willie Harrison. Time ran out before the next play.

Tulane's big scoring chance came in the third quarter. Tulane drove from its 49 to the Alabama 12 on the running of fullback Bobby Sala and Otis Gilmore. On fourth down at the 12, quarterback John Caruson passed to end Harry Duvigneaud in the end zone. Duvigneaud, standing alone, dropped the ball.

Late Southeastern Rally Beats Techmen, 35 To 24

RUSTON, La., Nov. 6 (AP)—Southeastern Louisiana, taking advantage of every break, broke loose for 21 points in the fourth quarter to outscore Louisiana Tech 35-24 in a Gulf States Conference game today.

The victory, the seventh straight, kept Southeastern in the undefeated ranks.

Southeastern, finding itself behind for the first time this season, started the fourth-quarter surge that overcame Louisiana Tech's 18-14 lead when Gerald Stone recovered a Tech fumble on the Tech 16. Several plays later Tommy Bell went over for the touchdown.

Another Tech fumble, this one recovered by end Rod Vizinat on the Tech 25, set up the second SLC touchdown of the quarter. Ray Porta got the touchdown on a quarterback keep play that started on the 14. SLC marched 67 yards in the closing seconds for the last score with Jutsin Fernandez going the last yard.

A homecoming crowd saw SLC take the lead in the first quarter on a scoring pass from Porta to Mickey Catalanotto. James Oliver scored Tech's first touchdown when he bulled over from the SLC six in the second quarter. An 83-yard scoring march, capped by Don Marino's one-yard plunge, gave SLC the halftime lead.

But Tech came back to score twice in the third quarter and go in front. A Pete McCulley to Ken Bates pass scored one of the Tech touchdowns and Oliver went over from the SLC six for the other. McCulley sneaked over from the one for Tech's fourth touchdown.

Marino converted three times, Ken Bailey once and Larry Troxler once for SLC.

Iowa State Nods To Sooner Might In 40-To-0 Rout

AMES, Iowa, Nov. 5 (AP)—Oklahoma crumpled Iowa State's defenses 40-0 today and bounced back two Cyclone threats inside the 15 for its 16th consecutive victory.

The victory preserved the Big Seven champion's record of never losing a conference football game under coach Bud Wilkinson in eight seasons.

Gene Calame, a slick split-T quarterback, ran back Cyclone John Breckenridge's pass 54 yards for a touchdown in the third quarter after the Sooners ground out a 20-0 halftime lead.

Although the game's other spectacular play, a 62-yard pass from Tommy McDonald to Bob Burris, did not go all the way for a touchdown, it did figure prominently in the Sooner's 73-yard scoring march for their final score.

The Cyclones got inside Oklahoma's 15 only twice, moving up to the two on one occasion before a great Sooner line, backed by Kurt Burris, smothered the threats.

Score by quarters:

Oklahoma	7	13	7	13—40
Iowa State	0	0	0	0—0

Navy Shatters Duke's Morale For 40-7 Rout

NORFOLK, Va., Nov. 6 (AP)—Navy shattered Duke's big line and Duke's morale with a furious first-half attack today, then stood off the comeback kids from North Carolina to win Norfolk's eighth Oyster Bowl football game 40-7.

The Midshipmen, playing as if they were out to surpass Army's 28-14 victory over Duke, the only game the Blue Devils had lost before today, smashed to a 26-0 lead in the first half.

Then, after Duke finally scored in the final quarter, Navy's second-string lineup drove to two more touchdowns, just to show that nothing could stop the Midshipmen today. In addition to running Duke completely ragged with a great ground attack, the Midshipmen handcuffed the Duke attack with seven pass interceptions.

Score by quarters:

Navy	13	13	0	14—40
Duke	0	0	0	7—7

Duke scoring: Touchdown, Barger. Conversion, Nelson.

Razorbacks Keep '54 Slate Clean In 28-15 Contest

By RAY STEPHENS

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Nov. 6 (AP)—Arkansas' undefeated Razorbacks drove to two final quarter touchdowns to come from behind and smother the Rice Owls, 28-15, for their seventh straight football conquest of the season.

The victory put the Porkers in the position of needing no more than a tie with Southern Methodist next Saturday to win their first clear-cut Southwest Conference title since 1936.

While a capacity crowd of 38,000 looked on in War Memorial Stadium here, the Razorbacks' great Henry Moore riddled the Rice line and sophomore tailback George Walker passed with perfection to give the Hogs an eight-game winning streak, starting with the final game of the 1953 season.

Rice had appeared to be unstoppable on the ground, where Dicky Moegle, undoubtedly the best running back Arkansas has faced all year, and a bevy of talented companions time and again racked up long gains.

But Arkansas' upstart Hogs were not to be denied, and twice came from behind.

The game had been billed as a duel between Moegle, and the Southwest's top rusher and leading scorer, and Moore, who stands second to the Rice ace in both departments.

Neither of the men let the fans down as both turned in sparkling performances.

Moore, noted for his high diving plunges, scored one Arkansas touchdown and set up another with three short bucks into the line. The Arkansas star carried 25 times for 85 yards.

Moegle was by far the outstanding player on the field. The big, swift halfback never got across the Arkansas goal line, but he carried the ball 2 times for 117 yards; returned four punts for 73 yards, and caught three passes for 27 yards.

Rice	0	6	6	3—15
Arkansas	0	7	7	14—28

Rice scoring: Touchdowns, Nisbet, A. Proctor. Field Goal, Hall.

Georgia Edges Florida, 14-13; Heads SEC Race

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Nov. 6 (AP)—Georgia hung its stuttering offense on a pair of Florida fumbles today and scored a 14-13 victory to hold first place in the Southeastern Conference football race.

Charlie Madison was the hero of heroes for the Georgia Bulldogs. His two conversions produced the margin of their third SEC victory to go along with one tie.

But the alert Georgia line play was responsible for both scoring opportunities.

That big, quick line shook Florida's Bob Davis loose from the football on the first series of downs and Georgia moved 40 yards for a quick six points. Quarterback Charlie Harper set it up with a 28-yard pass to Roy Wilkins and then Harper scored from one yard out.

Florida tied the score on a 44-yard march, and was moving toward the Georgia goal again when the Bulldog line forced another fumble.

Georgia went 68 yards from there to score again, and although Florida got even in touchdowns, the Gators lost the game when Georgia's line blocked a conversion attempt by Ed Bass.

Ole Miss Tacks 51-0 Defeat On Memphis State

MEMPHIS, Nov. 6 (AP)—Mississippi, the nation's 9th ranked team, took the wraps off its potent passing attack to crush injury-punctured Memphis State 51-0 today.

The powerful Rebels, with three quarterbacks throwing, scored three airborne touchdowns. Passes set up two others. They completed 9 out of 10 first half tosses, all for sizeable gains.

Mississippi made its first TD the hard way, moving 67 yards on nine bruising ground plays. Allen Muirhead rammed over from the five on last down.

Fullback Paige Cothren accounted for Ole Miss' second score almost singlehanded. He recovered a State fumble on the Tigers 27, caught a Houston Patton pass on the eighth, then drove off tackle for the score.

Mississippi's other six scores came like this:

Cothren bulled over from the three to climax a 68-yard drive highlighted by two Patton passes; third string quarterback John Blalack passed 15 yards to halfback John Barber; Patton threw seven yards to Jimmy Patton; Muirhead went over from the one after a 70-yard drive; Johnny Baker rammed over from the one.

Score by quarters:

Mississippi	7	19	6	19—51
Memphis State	0	0	0	0—0

Newellton Has Field Day With Davidson, 64-7

NEWELLTON, La., Nov. 6 (Special) — The Newellton Bears won their seventh straight victory of the season last night by downing a Joseph M. Davidson Warrior team from St. Joseph 64-7 before a handfull of chilly football fans.

The Bears led off by scoring fullback Buddy Emfinger from 32 yards, then halfback Ronnie Doyle from 22 yards. The second conversion was made by halfback Parnell Barfield. Then the Warriors come to life and broke halfback Bobbie Wingate into clear sailing for 66 yards and Glory Land. Conversion was made by fullback Dale Hoover from placement.

In the second period the Bears had a field day. Halfback Ronnie Doyle received a punt on the 10, picked up a beautiful block thrown by Terry Head and went all the way for 90 yards and a score, ably escorted by left end Sam Duchesne. Then Emfinger broke loose again for 19 yards and a touchdown, followed by a pass from Terry Head to twin brother Jerry Head good for 28 yards and a touchdown. Terry Head ran the point after. Then the Warriors intercepted a Bear pass on the three, but fumbled on the next play and the Bears recovered. Quarterback Jerry Clark sneaked across as the half ended.

In the third period Emfinger got two more touchdowns, one from 29 yards and the other from 56 yards, while Terry Head got across from eight yards out. Barfield made two conversions from placement. Then in the fourth period, Terry Head went all the way from 45 yards.

Volunteers Fall Before Jackets By 28 To 7 Edge

ATLANTA, Nov. 6 (AP)—Georgia Tech took three of Tennessee's favorite weapons—a pass interception, a punt return and a clutch defense—and used them today to trample the Vols 28-7 in a Southeastern Conference football game.

Wade Mitchell, Tech's sophomore quarterback, did everything and did it well, and with two sophomore halfbacks, Jimmy Thompson and George Volkert, led the winners explosive fourth quarter victory drive.

Tom Tracy, Tennessee's battering fullback, carried the load for the Vols—and he gave Tech's defense fits. But he didn't have enough help.

The game was tight as a new pair of shoes until the fourth quarter when Tech broke it up with three swift touchdowns.

Tennessee	0	7	0	0—7

Tennessee scoring: Touchdown, Majors. Conversion, Ritchey.

Maryland Tags 42 To 14 Loss On N. C. State

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Nov. 6 (AP)—Maryland strengthened its bid for a second straight trip to the Orange Bowl by running up a three-touchdown lead in the first half and coasting to a 42-14 football victory over North Carolina State today.

A homecoming day crowd of 21,000 saw the Terrapins score in the first period on Ronnie Waller's 61-yard punt return and in the last quarter on George Albrecht's 20-yard pass return.

In between there were four Maryland touchdown marches guided by sophomore Sam Tamburello and senior Charley Boxold, ranging from 70 to 95 yards.

Buckeyes Stop Panthers Cold For 26-0 Triumph

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 6 (AP)—Ohio State's powerful Buckeyes enhanced their No. 2 national ranking today as they scored in every period and stopped the Pittsburgh Panthers cold for a 26-0 nonconference victory before 80,886 fans.

Pittsburgh, which had defeated Northwestern, Navy and West Virginia in its last three starts, failed to reach the Ohio 40-yard line as the Bucks completely smothered the Panther power and passing attack.

Probably the happiest kid in town was Ken Thompson, sophomore halfback from Dayton, Ohio, who got into the game in the last three minutes as Ohio flooded the field with the last of its benchwarmers. Carrying the ball for the first time for the Buckeyes, Thompson took a pitchout from Bill Booth and rolled 32 yards around his left end for the final touchdown.

Earlier the Bucks had moved 81 yards in 19 plays, 34 in 3, and 80 in 14 for touchdowns with Bobby Watkins getting two on the ground and quarterback Dave Leggett pitching 13 yards to end Bill Michael for the other.

Tulane Ties 'Bama; Arkansas Trips Rice

A homecoming crowd of 22,000 watched Sardisco and Burnthorne tear big gaps in the Alabama line and dump halfback Bobby Luna time and again.

Alabama never was able to get more than seven running and passing plays into any one drive.

Each team lost scoring opportunities. In the closing seconds of the first half, Luna passed 66 yards to halfback Bobby Tharp on the Tulane 8, where he was overhauled by Tulane halfback Willie Harrison. Time ran out before the next play.

Tulane's big scoring chance came in the third quarter. Tulane drove from its 49 to the Alabama 12 on the running of fullback Bobby Saia and Otis Gilmore. On fourth down at the 12, quarterback John Caruson passed to end Harry Duvigneaud in the end zone. Duvigneaud, standing alone, dropped the ball.

Late Southeastern Rally Beats Techmen, 35 To 24

RUSTON, La., Nov. 6 (AP)—Southeastern Louisiana, taking advantage of every break, broke loose for 21 points in the fourth quarter to outscore Louisiana Tech 35-24 in a Gulf States Conference game today.

The victory, the seventh straight, kept Southeastern in the undefeated ranks.

Southeastern, finding itself behind for the first time this season, started the fourth-quarter surge that overcame Louisiana Tech's 18-14 lead when Gerald Stone recovered a Tech fumble on the Tech 16. Several plays later Tommy Bell went over for the touchdown.

Another Tech fumble, this one recovered by end Rod Vizinat on the Tech 25, set up the second SLC touchdown of the quarter. Ray Porta got the touchdown on a quarterback keep play that started on the 14. SLC marched 67 yards in the closing seconds for the last score with Jutsin Fernandez going the last yard.

A homecoming crowd saw SLC take the lead in the first quarter on a scoring pass from Porta to Mickey Catalanotto. James Oliver scored Tech's first touchdown when he bulled over from the SLC six in the second quarter. An 83-yard scoring march, capped by Don Marino's one-yard plunge, gave SLC the halftime lead.

But Tech came back to score twice in the third quarter and go in front. A Pete McCulley to Ken Bates pass scored one of the Tech touchdowns and Oliver went over from the SLC six for the other. McCulley sneaked over from the one for Tech's fourth touchdown.

Marino converted three times, Ken Bailey once and Larry Troxler once for SLC.

Iowa State Nods To Sooner Might In 40-To-0 Rout

AMES, Iowa, Nov. 5 (AP)—Oklahoma crumpled Iowa State's defenses 40-0 today and bounced back two Cyclone threats inside the 15 for its 16th consecutive victory.

The victory preserved the Big Seven champion's record of never losing a conference football game under coach Bud Wilkinson in eight seasons.

Gene Calame, a slick split-T quarterback, ran back Cyclone John Breckenridge's pass 54 yards for a touchdown in the third quarter after the Sooners ground out a 20-0 halftime lead.

Although the game's other spectacular play, a 62-yard pass from Tommy McDonald to Bob Burris, did not go all the way for a touchdown, it did figure prominently in the Sooner's 73-yard scoring march for their final score.

The Cyclones got inside Oklahoma's 15 only twice, moving up to the two on one occasion before a great Sooner line, backed by Kurt Burris, smothered the threats.

Score by quarters:

Oklahoma	7	13	7	13—40
Iowa State	0	0	0	0—0

Navy Shatters Duke's Morale For 40-7 Rout

NORFOLK, Va., Nov. 6 (AP)—Navy shattered Duke's big line and Duke's morale with a furious first-half attack today, then stood off the comeback kids from North Carolina to win Norfolk's eighth Oyster Bowl football game 40-7.

The Midshipmen, playing as if they were out to surpass Army's 28-14 victory over Duke, the only game the Blue Devils had lost before today, smashed to a 26-0 lead in the first half.

Then, after Duke finally scored in the final quarter, Navy's second-string lineup drove to two more touchdowns, just to show that nothing could stop the Midshipmen today. In addition to running Duke completely ragged with a great ground attack, the Midshipmen handcuffed the Duke attack with seven pass interceptions.

Score by quarters:

Navy	13	13	0	14—40
Duke	0	0	0	7— 7

Duke scoring: Touchdown, Barger. Conversion, Nelson.

Razorbacks Keep '54 Slate Clean In 28-15 Contest

By RAY STEPHENS

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Nov. 6 (AP)—Arkansas' undefeated Razorbacks drove to two final quarter touchdowns to come from behind and smother the Rice Owls, 28-15, for their seventh straight football conquest of the season.

The victory put the Porkers in the position of needing no more than a tie with Southern Methodist next Saturday to win their first clear-cut Southwest Conference title since 1936.

While a capacity crowd of 38,000 looked on in War Memorial Stadium here, the Razorbacks' great Henry Moore riddled the Rice line and sophomore tailback George Walker passed with perfection to give the Hogs an eight-game winning streak, starting with the final game of the 1953 season.

Rice had appeared to be unstoppable on the ground, where Dicky Moegle, undoubtedly the best running back Arkansas has faced all year, and a bevy of talented companions time and again racked up long gains.

But Arkansas' upstart Hogs were not to be denied, and twice came from behind.

The game had been billed as a duel between Moegle, and the Southwest's top rusher and leading scorer, and Moore, who stands second to the Rice ace in both departments.

Neither of the men let the fans down as both turned in sparkling performances.

Moore, noted for his high diving plunges, scored one Arkansas touchdown and set up another with three short bucks into the line. The Arkansas star carried 25 times for 85 yards.

Moegle was by far the outstanding player on the field. The big, swift halfback never got across the Arkansas goal line, but he carried the ball 2 times for 117 yards; returned four punts for 73 yards, and caught three passes for 27 yards.

Rice	0	6	6	3—15
Arkansas	0	7	7	14—28

Rice scoring: Touchdowns, Nisbet, A. Proctor. Field Goal, Hall.

Georgia Edges Florida, 14-13; Heads SEC Race

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Nov. 6 (AP)—Georgia hung its stuttering offense on a pair of Florida fumbles today and scored a 14-13 victory to hold first place in the Southeastern Conference football race.

Charlie Madison was the hero of heroes for the Georgia Bulldogs. His two conversions produced the margin of their third SEC victory to go along with one tie.

But the alert Georgia line play was responsible for both scoring opportunities.

That big, quick line shook Florida's Bob Davis loose from the football on the first series of downs and Georgia moved 40 yards for a quick six points. Quarterback Charlie Harper set it up with a 28-yard pass to Roy Wilkins and then Harper scored from one yard out.

Florida tied the score on a 44-yard march, and was moving toward the Georgia goal again when the Bulldog line forced another fumble.

Georgia went 68 yards from there to score again, and although Florida got even in touchdowns, the Gators lost the game when Georgia's line blocked a conversion attempt by Ed Bass.

Georgia	7	7	0	0—14
Florida	0	7	6	0—13

Florida scoring: Touchdowns, Simpson, Davis. Conversion, Allen.

Ole Miss Tacks 51-0 Defeat On Memphis State

MEMPHIS, Nov. 6 (AP)—Mississippi, the nation's 9th ranked team, took the wraps off its potent passing attack to crush injury-punctured Memphis State 51-0 today.

The powerful Rebels, with three quarterbacks throwing, scored three airborne touchdowns. Passes set up two others. They completed 9 out of 10 first half tosses, all for sizeable gains.

Mississippi made its first TD the hard way, moving 67 yards on nine bruising ground plays. Allen Muirhead rammed over from the five on last down.

Fullback Paige Cothren accounted for Ole Miss' second score almost singlehanded. He recovered a State fumble on the Tigers 27, caught a Houston Patton pass on the eighth, then drove off tackle for the score.

Mississippi's other six scores came like this:

Cothren bulled over from the three to climax a 68-yard drive highlighted by two Patton passes; third string quarterback John Blalack passed 15 yards to halfback John Barber; Patton threw seven yards to Jimmy Patton; Muirhead went over from the one after a 70-yard drive; Johnny Baker rammed over from the one.

Score by quarters:

Mississippi	7	19	6	19—51
Memphis State	0	0	0	0— 0

Newellton Has Field Day With Davidson, 64-7

NEWELLTON, La., Nov. 6 (Special) — The Newellton Bears won their seventh straight victory of the season last night by downing a Joseph M. Davidson Warrior team from St. Joseph 64-7 before a handfull of chilly football fans.

The Bears led off by scoring fullback Buddy Emfinger from 32 yards, then halfback Ronnie Doyle from 22 yards. The second conversion was made by halfback Parnell Barfield. Then the Warriors come to life and broke halfback Bobbie Wingate into clear sailing for 66 yards and Glory Land. Conversion was made by fullback Dale Hoover from placement.

In the second period the Bears had a field day. Halfback Ronnie Doyle received a punt on the 10, picked up a beautiful block thrown by Terry Head and went all the way for 90 yards and a score, ably escorted by left end Sam Duchesne. Then Emfinger broke loose again for 19 yards and a touchdown, followed by a pass from Terry Head to twin brother Jerry Head good for 28 yards and a touchdown. Terry Head ran the point after. Then the Warriors intercepted a Bear pass on the three, but fumbled on the next play and the Bears recovered. Quarterback Jerry Clark sneaked across as the half ended.

In the third period Emfinger got two more touchdowns, one from 29 yards and the other from 56 yards, while Terry Head got across from eight yards out. Barfield made two conversions from placement. Then in the fourth period, Terry Head went all the way from 45 yards.

ATLANTA, Nov. 6 (AP)—Georgia Tech took three of Tennessee's favorite weapons—a pass interception, a punt return and a clutch defense—and used them today to trample the Vols 28-7 in a Southeastern Conference football game.

Wade Mitchell, Tech's sophomore quarterback, did everything and did it well, and with two sophomore halfbacks, Jimmy Thompson and George Volkert, led the winners explosive fourth quarter victory drive.

Tom Tracy, Tennessee's battering fullback, carried the load for the Vols—and he gave Tech's defense fits. But he didn't have enough help.

The game was tight as a new pair of shoes until the fourth quarter when Tech broke it up with three swift touchdowns.

Maryland Tags 42 To 14 Loss On N. C. State

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Nov. 6 (AP)—Maryland strengthened its bid for a second straight trip to the Orange Bowl by running up a three-touchdown lead in the first half and coasting to a 42-14 football victory over North Carolina State today.

A homecoming day crowd of 21,000 saw the Terrapins score in the first period on Ronnie Waller's 61-yard punt return and in the last quarter on George Albrecht's 20-yard pass return.

In between there were four Maryland touchdown marches guided by sophomore Sam Tamburello and senior Charley Boxold, ranging from 70 to 95 yards.

Maryland	7	14	14	7—42
N C State	0	0	7	7—14

Maryland scoring: Touchdowns, Waller, Dennis, Vereb, Dare, Horning, Albrecht. Conversions, Albrecht 3, Selep 3.

Buckeyes Stop Panthers Cold For 26-0 Triumph

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 6 (AP)—Ohio State's powerful Buckeyes enhanced their No. 2 national ranking today as they scored in every period and stopped the Pittsburgh Panthers cold for a 26-0 nonconference victory before 80,886 fans.

Pittsburgh, which had defeated Northwestern, Navy and West Virginia in its last three starts, failed to reach the Ohio 40-yard line as the Bucks completely smothered the Panther power and passing attack.

Probably the happiest kid in town was Ken Thompson, sophomore halfback from Dayton, Ohio, who got into the game in the last three minutes as Ohio flooded the field with the last of its benchwarmers. Carrying the ball for the first time for the Buckeyes, Thompson took a pitchout from Bill Booth and rolled 32 yards around his left end for the final touchdown.

Earlier the Bucks had moved 81 yards in 19 plays, 34 in 3, and 80 in 14 for touchdowns with Bobby Watkins getting two on the ground and quarterback Dave Leggett pitching 13 yards to end Bill Michael for the other.

Efforts Being Made To Implement Law Allowing Old Folks More Revenue

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Louisiana has a law adopted last summer designed to let old folks on public welfare earn up to $30 a month. But federal matching funds are required and chances now appear slim.

For several months, welfare commissioner Edward Dameron and his aides have been negotiating with the federal government through a regional office in Dallas.

"Nothing conclusive" developed in the conference, Dameron said. He will report to the State Board of Public Welfare when it meets here Friday.

New material is being developed to support the state's claim, and there is a possibility efforts will be made to discuss the issue with highest federal authorities.

For some time state machinery has been set up to put the program in effect, once the federal government signals okay.

The proposed new state program would do this:

Established $85 a month as the minimum monthly budget for the old age recipient, compared with the present $67.

Under the existing welfare system, old age recipients are allowed to earn or receive up to $12 a month in extra income without affecting their welfare payments from the state.

The new law would boost the $12 to $30.

Old age recipients now receive $55 monthly as the maximum payment for an individual. With the $12 extra income, their total monthly budget is set at a $67 maximum.

The new law—with the $30 extra income—would enable the Welfare Department to establish the $85 budgets, with the $55 maximum welfare payment plus the $30 in extra earned income.

If the federal government does approve the $30, the $55 maximum in welfare payments will not be increased.

Under the new program, about 29,000 of the 119,000 persons receiving old age assistance—now below the $55 monthly maximum—would benefit slightly.

And another 4,230 who never have been on the old age rosters would become eligible for payment.

Efforts Being Made To Implement Law Allowing Old Folks More Revenue

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Louisiana has a law adopted last summer designed to let old folks on public welfare earn up to $30 a month. But federal matching funds are required and chances now appear slim.

For several months, welfare commissioner Edward Dameron and his aides have been negotiating with the federal government through a regional office in Dallas.

"Nothing conclusive" developed in the conference, Dameron said. He will report to the State Board of Public Welfare when it meets here Friday.

New material is being developed to support the state's claim, and there is a possibility efforts will be made to discuss the issue with highest federal authorities.

For some time state machinery has been set up to put the program in effect, once the federal government signals okay.

The proposed new state program would do this:

Established $85 a month as the minimum monthly budget for the old age recipient, compared with the present $67.

Under the existing welfare system, old age recipients are allowed to earn or receive up to $12 a month in extra income without affecting their welfare payments from the state.

The new law would boost the $12 to $30.

Old age recipients now receive $55 monthly as the maximum payment for an individual. With the $12 extra income, their total monthly budget is set at a $67 maximum.

The new law—with the $30 extra income—would enable the Welfare Department to establish the $85 budgets, with the $55 maximum welfare payment plus the $30 in extra earned income.

If the federal government does approve the $30, the $55 maximum in welfare payments will not be increased.

Under the new program, about 29,000 of the 119,000 persons receiving old age assistance—now below the $55 monthly maximum—would benefit slightly.

And another 4,230 who never have been on the old age rosters would become eligible for payment.

Interesting Program

Highlighting the program was an interesting talk on "Your Place in the History of American Music" by Dr. Grace Yerbury and a piano solo by Miss Ruth Temple.

She asserted that each American Musician has a place in the history of American music. That each has come here with a European background in culture, which has been subjected to change, even as the American English differs in rhythms and song from the Mother or British English.

The early settlers, she pointed out, brought with them tunes from the French Genevan Psalter, orchestral traditions of the Maunheim School which fostered the genius of Mozart, double chorus idioms of the Baroque tradition which flowered particularly in the Euphrata colony of Lancaster, Pa., under the leadership of Conrad Beissel and French and Spanish traditions which blossomed in New Orleans.

But whereas Europe had ducal courts to foster these idioms, the democratic style of American life has given the composer the necessity of appeal to a wider audience, the speaker said.

Dr. Yerbury explained that this is where each musician steps into his place in the history of the music of our land, and it is going to become an increasingly important place.

In concluding her talk, Dr. Yerbury stated it was Walt Whitman who said that a great poet needed a great audience. The young composers of today are going to be looking to you to provide this audience. It is not possible to escape this responsibility, even if one only takes the place of being a disregarder in the tradition. If the young musicians of today pick up wide and great interest in the varied background to America's present musical growth and foster it by performance and attention, the great genius of the future will be found in their midst, the speaker said.

Following Dr. Yerbury's talk, Miss Ruth Temple, who is a native of Westboro, Mass., and a graduate Magna cum laude from Westminister College in New Wilmington, Dela., played Alexander Tcheraphine's "Bagatelles Op. 5."

Music Guild Will Sponsor Several Junior Guilds

Mrs. James T. Harris, assisted by Mrs. Willys Hopkins and Mrs. Bennie Phelps, entertained the Music Guild in her home November third. Delicious refreshments were served during a brief social hour followed by a business session. It was decided at this time that the Music Guild will sponsor a Junior Guild in Fairbanks and one or more in Monroe. A candidate was chosen to be entered in the Woman of the Year competition.

The members enjoyed a program entitled Traditional Folk Song. Mrs. P. J. Newman gave the text on music, work, and play, saying that tunes are often sung or played to make work more pleasant. In old Europe, simple tunes were invented to dance by. Folk songs are often made up by fiddlers or singers to suit the mood of the moment and grow and change gradually as they are passed down through generations. The composer or the origin of the traditional folk song is rarely known but is often a folk tale set to a tune. America is rich in music of this type reflecting cowboy, Negro spiritual, French Canadian and many such influences. Mrs. Wilbur Bullock played a medley of American Folk Tunes. Mrs. Morris Miller and Mrs. B. B. Martin gave a vocal duet with an American origin, Clementine. Mrs. Doyle Hamilton played selections with Irish origin, English origin, and Scottish origin Mrs. J. Norman Coon sang "Come to the Fair." Mrs. Leon Noland, Jr. played the old Irish tune Londonderry Air. Mrs. R. W. Cretney sang "The Harp that Once Through Tara's Halls." Mrs. Dewey White sang "Au Claire De La Lune" of French origin and "Ach, Du Lieber Augustin" of German origin.

Music Guild Will Sponsor Several Junior Guilds

Mrs. James T. Harris, assisted by Mrs. Willys Hopkins and Mrs. Bennie Phelps, entertained the Music Guild in her home November third. Delicious refreshments were served during a brief social hour followed by a business session. It was decided at this time that the Music Guild will sponsor a Junior Guild in Fairbanks and one or more in Monroe. A candidate was chosen to be entered in the Woman of the Year competition.

The members enjoyed a program entitled Traditional Folk Song. Mrs. P. J. Newman gave the text on music, work, and play. saying that tunes are often sung or played to make work more pleasant. In old Europe, simple tunes were invented to dance by. Folk songs are often made up by fiddlers or singers to suit the mood of the moment and grow and change gradually as they are passed down through generations. The composer or the origin of the traditional folk song is rarely known but is often a folk tale set to a tune. America is rich in music of this type reflecting cowboy, Negro spiritual, French Canadian and many such influences. Mrs. Wilbur Bullock played a medley of American Folk Tunes. Mrs. Morris Miller and Mrs. B. B. Martin gave a vocal duet with an American origin, Clementine. Mrs. Doyle Hamilton played selections with Irish origin, English origin, and Scottish origin Mrs. J. Norman Coon sang "Come to the Fair." Mrs. Leon Noland, Jr. played the old Irish tune Londonderry Air. Mrs. R. W. Cretney sang "The Harp that Once Through Tara's Halls." Mrs. Dewey White sang "Au Claire De La Lune" of French origin and "Ach, Du Lieber Augustin" of German origin.

MRS. ROBERT RANKIN SHEPPERSON is the former Miss Lelia Nell Griffith of Port Arthur, Tex. She and the Rev. Shepperson of Fairbanks, a long-time resident of El Dorado, were married in the chapel of the Presbyterian Theological Seminary in Austin, Tex. They will live in Fairbanks.

Shepperson And Griffith Vows Said In Texas

Claiming the interest of Society here and in Texas is news of the wedding of Miss Lelia Nell Griffifth and the Rev. Robert Rankin Shepperson, which was solemnized yesterday in the chapel of the Presbyterian Theological Seminary in Austin, Tex. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Griffith of Port Arthur, Tex., and the bridegroom, who is living now in Fairbanks, La., is the younger son of the Rev. and Mrs. David Shepperson of Taylor, Tex.

The bridegroom's father, the Rev. Mr. Shepperson of Taylor, and his brother, the Rev. David Shepperson, Jr., of Morgan City, La., performed the ceremony. Nuptial music was provided by Wayne Sebasta, organist, of Austin.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a handfashioned gown of white brocaded satin, styled along semi-princess lines. The brocade was in an unusual pattern of butterflies. The wide neckline, irregularly shaped, was embroidered with seed pearls and iridescent sequins outlining the butterfly motif. The waltz-length hemline repeated the irregular cut of the neck. Her elbow-length veil of illusion fell from a small bejewelled cap. She carried a bouquet of red roses.

Miss Carolyn Foreman of Port Arthur was maid of honor and the bride's only attendant. She wore moonglow pink antique silk shantung of cut and trim similar to that of the bridal gown. Her small pink felt cloche was embroidered with seed pearls and sequins. She carried pale pink gladiola in a gladette arrangement.

Lt. Robert E. Lacy of El Dorado was best man and the Rev. Fleat Cook of Cleburne, Tex., and Robert J. Stewart of Monroe, La., were the ushers.

After the nuptials a reception was held in the garden of the home of Mrs. Werna Thompson. The triple-tiered cake, with its white floral decorations, was served by Miss Lynelle Tuma of Port Arthur, Miss Majorie Loyd of Austin presided at the punchbowl and Mrs. Jack Lorenzo, also of Austin, was at the bride's register. The bridegroom's sister, Miss Dorothy Shepperson of Taylor, assisted in serving.

When they return from their wedding trip, the bride and groom will be at home in Fairbanks.

Am. Education Week Will Be Observed Here

"American Education Week" has been set for November 7 through November 13 by the sponsoring organizations, National Education Association, National Congress of Parents and Teachers, United States office of Education and the American Legion," states Mrs. Carl Thompson, president, Monroe P.-T. A. Council.

"The Monroe Council will sponsor a series of radio talks each morning at 9:30," continues Mrs. Thompson. "Good schools are your responsibility — it is through the doorway of this school that tomorrow's citizens pass — presidents, governors, lawmakers, judges, mothers, fathers, teachers."

"We are urging every citizen to pause in their day's activities and listen to these talks," she explained.

Mrs. Howard Rivers will introduce the speakers. She says, "On Sunday at 9:30, Mike John Jr., representing Barkdull Faulk P.-T. A, will discuss "Ideals To Live By." Monday, Mrs. Howard Rivers will represent Plum Street P.-T. A. using as her topic, "Teachers For Tomorrow."

Tuesday, Mr. Van Odom will discuss "Investing In Good Schools," speaking for the Lida Benton P.-T. A.

Thursday Lexington P.-T. A. will present Miss Myrtle Rodgers, who will discuss "Effective Citizenship." Mrs. Oulda N. McGee, a member of the Georgia Tucker faculty will represent the Georgia Tucker P.-T. A. discussing "Teaching the Fundamentals Today."

The program will close with Saturday's discussion by Mrs. Douglas Kelley, speaking for Sherrouse P.-T. A. on the topic, "How Good Are Your Schools?"

"Realizing that beyond the school doorway the tomorrow of America is being shaped," says Mrs. Thompson, "we urge today's citizens — mothers, fathers, teachers — to rededicate themselves during American Education Week."

Kitchen arithmetic: Use 2 cups of grated cheddar cheese (½ pound) with 2 cups of medium white sauce when you want a cheese sauce for cauliflower, broccoli, onions, cabbage or asparagus. These proportions are also good to use when you want a cheese sauce for cooked ham, leftover chicken or turkey or sliced hard-cooked eggs.

News From The Public Library

Next week 102 people in Ouachita Parish will be presented reading certificates as evidence of their successful participation in the adult reading program sponsored each year by the Louisiana State Library. This program was inaugurated in 1932. At this time only 33 people in the state received certificates. In 1953 the number awarded in the state was 1,686. We do not have a record of the people earning certificates in Ouachita Parish before 1941. In that year 12 people earned certificates. Only one person who earned a certificate that year also earned one in 1954. That is Miss Marie Powers, a member of our staff.

We want to give special honor to two ladies who earned certificates in 1942 and have earned one each year since that time. They are Mrs. C. E. Faulk and Mrs. J. B. Landreaux. Mrs. Landreaux is also a member of the Library Staff. In 1949 we made a special effort to interest large number of people in our reading program and had 117 people to earn certificates that year. 29 of that number have earned a certificate every year since that time. They are: Mrs. C. R. Alexander, Mrs. Floy Anding, Mrs. E. O. Beardon, Mrs. D.C. Brothers, Mrs. Lilian Burdine, Mrs. Ellen Collie, Mrs. J. E. Fike, Miss Frances Flanders, Mrs. C.E. Faulk, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Frantom, Mr. L. C. Gill, Cappy Ann Haley, Mrs. John Heckert, Mrs. John Bishop Johnston, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. William B. Jordan, Mrs. J.B. Landreaux, Mrs. J. A. Moore, Mrs. Hilton Owens, Mrs. Defoe Richardson, Mrs. W. J. St. John, Mrs. Garland Shipp, Mrs. T. C. Starnes, Mrs. W. E. Stewart, Mrs Spurgeon Welch, Mrs. Mary W. Willett and Mrs. William W. Wilson. Four of these people are staff members of the library.

The certificates will be awarded next week and it will then be time to start reading for a certificate in 1955. The purpose of this program is to encourage people in a well-rounded program of reading. It is a most worthwhile and interesting program. If you have never tried it, you do not know what you are missing.

Lips Must Be Relaxed

Some women tend to overwork theme. If you've seen any number of women, you've seen the face of affected radiance. You've also seen the empty, insincere smile.

Then, too, there's the woman who goes through each day and the daily contacts it offers her, ignoring the importance of a nice facial expression. She rarely smiles, and with her lips pressed tightly together, her expression is one of grave seriousness.

She is unaware of the fact that her lips set the scene for her facial expression. And at first glance, she creates the impression of being very unhappy, and without a sense of humor.

To present a pleasant expression that's indicative of warm and happy personality is very simple. The key and method is contained in just a half-dozen words: Keep the corners of your lips up.

When applying your lipstick, remember to fill in the corners of your mouth. Keep your lipstick as neat and as well applied as you can.

Enroll In Farm And Home Program

Now is the time to take inventory and make plans for 1955 farm and home activities. Extension Service's main objective is better living for farm families. Planning wil help the farm family get where they want to go. No matter whether the income is small, large, or irregular, the year, a good or bad one, a plan is needed. It is the pattern that helps assure the family that it will be able to take care of the most urgent needs. It aids in getting the most out of money the family works so hard to earn. You can get this assistance with your planning by enlisting in the Farm and Home Development program with the County Farm Agent, J. J. Joyce. Call 3-2251. The agent will work with the homemakers in this program on home management.

Drive Against "Litterbugs" Launched

A coordinated national effort to eliminate litter from America's highways, parks and beaches has been launched by Keep America Beautiful, Inc. — a newly formed organization supported by industry, particularly companies whose bottles, cans, containers and wrappers are most likely to be found in the litter. The program is being built around long-range continuing education to create awareness of litter as a responsibility of the indvidual. The ultimate objective is to change public habits and make it unpopular as well as illegal to be a "litterbug."

Control Aphids On Plants

Aphids and plant lice are on mustard, turnips, and many other plants now. Control them with rotenone.

Brighten Up With Dye for Winter

Brightening faded colors or changing colors of washable fabrics is almost as easy as laundering them. Tinting fabrics can best be done in the washing machine—automatic or non-automatic. The mechanical agitation assures a thorough penetration of the dye. Here is the procedure to follow in dyeing in your washing machine. Launder article and make sure it is clean. Prepare dye by dissolving it in a small quantity of hot water. Use amount of dye recommended on the package. Place article in washer tub and allow it to go through one rinse. This heats the tub and dampens the fabric. Then drain tub and fill with hottest water available. Do not remove article—add dissolved dye. Start the machine and set dial for longest washing cycle—10 to 30 minutes. Then allow washer to go through full rinse cycle. With non-automatic washer rinse article three times—but do not run through wringer—squeeze and hang up to drip dry.

You can add interest and harmony to house furnishing by using dye.

How to Handle Jersey

Jersey is being used so much for winter, maybe it would be well to review the method used in cutting, sewing and pressing it.

Cutting: Locate the rib of the jersey. This is the right side of the fabric, and is on the inside of the tubular fold.

Ascertain the natural straight of the goods by laying a ruler along a continuous rib; then mark this rib with a basting thread or tailors' chalk.

Be sure to cut the straight of the pattern on this natural straight of the goods. This will permit the ribs to fall at right angles to the floor, insuring the correct drape of the fabric in the finished garment.

Sewing: Run basting thread along edges after cutting, in order to give the support supplied later by the stitching. Use machine needle No. 4. Use mercerized cotton thread No. 50 or 60. Loosen the tension of the machine. Allow 14 to 16 stitches to the inch. Feed fabric loosely into the machine, avoiding pulling and stretching. Pinking of seams is desirable. Snaps, hooks and eyes, buttons and buttonholes, which must resist pulling, should be backed by some reinforcing material. Tape, on facings and hems, is preferable to double fold of fabric.

Pressing: Press with hot iron over a damp cloth on the wrong side of the goods. Move iron up and down, parallel with the rib, rather than across.

Girl Scout News

One of the best projects combining fun and work to make good Girl Scout program was the making of Hallowe'en costumes by the girls of Troop 37. Now these were not the usual orange and black cotton, hastily basted together, but were full skirts made of pretty, gay prints, worn with a blouse, a bright sash, and a head scarf to match the skirt. Mindful of the Girl Scout Law, "A Girl Scout is Thrifty," the girls left the skirts unhemmed for a costume, but will hem them later so that they can wear the skirts to school.

On Hallowe'en the troop had a cookout in the Wilds' backyard and then, wearing masks, went "trick or treatin" in the neighborhood. Leaders Marie Wilds and Edna Shaughnessy helped the girls to learn to sew, with the result that most of the girls will soon be wearing the sewing badge on their sleeves.

Senior troop 14 keeps busy these days—in fact, the girls say it's no trouble at all to keep busy. They have so much to plan and learn and to practice s othat a patrol from the troop can go to the Regional Patrol-Troop Encampment at Chicot State Park next June. The girls were pleased when notified at the regional conference that their application had been approved. Only sixteen patrols can attend. Twenty-seven applied before the deadline, so some had to be left out. We're glad our girls will have this opportunity to camp with girls from all over Region V.

Troop 14 is being sponsored this year by the First Methodist church, where the troop meets once a month for a long meeting that includes the evening meal. Their other meetings are held on Saturdays and always, weather permitting, out of doors. This sounds like a good way to include Scouting in the schedule of teen-agers.

Twice this fall a small number from the troop have spent the night at Pine Wood. The more experienced campers in the group are doing a good job, leaders Ethel Easterling and Lorraine Ragland say, of initiating the others into the mysteries of reflector cooking, making bedrolls, kaper charts, and kitchen gadgets. Last time they used a pot on a crane over an outdoor fire to cook their one-pot meal. Another time they baked a cherry pie on a reflector over in front of an outdoor fire — sounds wonderful.

At their indoor meetings the girls have started making equipment for use in camping. Last week they worked on shower curtains, stenciling them with original designs, just for fun.

Last week end a group from the troop started making a primitive camp site at Pine Wood, with lashed tables, grease pit, dishwater drain, and all the gadgets that an indoor kitchen has, except that it looks a bit different from the modern kitchen at home. Same principle, though, of neatness and sanitation.

Registered in Troop 14 are the following Senior Scouts, some of whom are in their seventh year of Scouting, others are new, some have been registered previously in other troops: Nancy Breard, Martha Burns, Betty Hemphill, Betty Hines, Yvonne Huckabee, Janice Joyce, Carol McKinley, Marie Nelson, Ingrid Peterson, Jo Ann Usrey, Sue Grower, Pat Haynes, Marjorie Malone, Peggy Hines, and Linda Eby.

Serving on the troop committee are: Mrs. Noel Grower, Mrs. E.N. Hemphill, Mrs. J. R. McKinley, Mrs. Harold Breard, and Mrs. J.W. Usrey.

Federation Of Music Clubs To Sponsor Contest

DONALDSONVILLE — A Jeanie contest to send a representative to a Stepson Foster Ball in Miami, Fla., is to be conducted by the Louisiana Federation of Music Clubs.

Mrs. Frank A. Vought, state federation president, has set Dec. 4 as date of state auditions to be conducted in New Orleans at Werlein's auditorium, 605 Canal St., starting at 1 p. m.

Letters of application for entrance in the auditions must be mailed to Mrs. Vought by midnight of Nov. 15, it was stated. State Federations in the southeastern region have been invited to send a Jeanie to take part with Florida Jeanies at the Foster ball, Saturday, April 23, 1955, during the Miami biennial convention of the National Federation of Music Clubs.

Entrants must have light brown hair, be between 15 and 21 years old (not yet 22) and be advanced accomplished musicians and capable of giving creditable radio and concert performances. The contest is open to vocalists only and each is to be sponsored by a federated music club or must be a special member of the state and national music club federations.

The Louisiana entrants must provide two typewritten copies sketching their musical education and training. Each is to submit a ten-minute program of vocal solos of her own choice, including one Foster song.

The Louisiana Federation will award $50 to be applied toward travel expenses of the representative in the contest in Florida and will provide meals in Miami. The Louisiana entrant will be housed with other Jeanies in a Florida hotel with an official chaperone provided, as the guest of Florida federation members.

Mrs. C. C. Roberts Is Entertained At Dinner Party

Mrs. Dunbar Hunt and Miss Helen Hunt entertained with a dinner party on Wednesday night, at the home of Mrs. Hunt, 403 North 6th, West Monroe, for Mrs. C. C. Roberts, formerly Mrs. Ethlee Petty, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. A. S. Neill of Bastrop.

The home of Mrs. Hunt was beautifully decorated with autumn flowers. Card tables were used with white lace covers and a centerpiece of yellow mums.

After the dinner and opening of gifts, a conversation hour was enjoyed. Those present were: Mrs. Roberts, the honoree; Mrs. Neill of Bastrop, mother of the bride; Mrs. Beulah Langford of Chester, Ill.; Mrs. Sara Kennon; Mrs. H. Boulware; Mrs. Mary Harker; Mrs. Gene Hunt; Mrs. Lilly Coon; Mrs. T. E. Humphries; Miss Maude Brownlee; Mrs. Sue Hardin; and the hostess, Mrs. Hunt and Miss Helen Hunt.

Leather Look For Separates

The popularity of leather is such that you see it everywhere this season. Simulated leather (vinyl plastic) not only looks like real leather, but is a fine substitute for the girl who must count pennies. Just a few whisks with a sudsy, soapy cloth is all that is needed to keep leather - like items in top-notch condition.

Most women will delight in slim skirts and matching vests of simulated leather. These separates look smart when teamed with long-sleeved, striped, cotton blouses.

Simulated capeskin blazers are expected to become very popular with the teen-age crowd. An especially smart blazer is the white jacket, piped with red or black, with a colorful crest on the pocket.

Some of these new jackets feature high - standing collars and substitute huge buckles instead of buttons.

Because of their fine washability, simulated leathers are ideal for junior's rough - and - ready wardrobe. Coats and jackets for the small-fry set are lined with milium to keep junior warm in cold weather. These interlinings also help to insure the shapeliness and fit of these coats.

The budget - minded mother will save by noticing that simulated leather makes good, firm, elbow-and-knee patches for junior's cloth jackets and dungarees.

Here's a way to use the liquid leftover from such cooked vegetables as carrots, celery, snapbeans or peas. Add 1-3 cup of it to a can of condensed mushroom soup with a teaspoon of curry powder. Heat this quick curry sauce with cooked leftover lamb, beef or chicken; serve over rice with chopped peanuts, crumbled crisply cooked bacon, chutney, sweet pickle relish and coconut.

Mr. William Dan Files of Bastrop was also elected vice-president.

'Tomboy' Likes Grooming When It's Not A Task

This is the little girl who dearly prefers dungarees and pigtails to dresses and curls. She'd think herself quite fortunate, indeed, if just once mother would forget to make her take her daily bath.

If she has an older sister who has started her own grooming routine, then this sister is held up to the "tomboy" as a good example. "Don't you want to look neat like your sister?" she'll be asked. The answer is usually a casual "No" that completely shocks the inquirer.

Twenty years ago, the mother of such a child really had a problem on her hands. No so today, with grooming items being made with "anti-grooming" - type children in mind.

Among the items available is a selection of soap toys made by Austria's leading artists and imported to this country from a leading firm in Vienna.

Nylons Should Be Run-Free

The teen-ager who prefers nylons to knee - length cotton hose or "bobby sox" must be doubly careful in attaining a neat appearance.

Using lukewarm water and mild soap flakes, wash your stockings after each wearing. If you allow the grime that's accumulated during the day to remain on your stockings, it will damage the fiber overnight.

Before dunking your stockings in the basin for their nightly tubbing, check your fingernails. Chances are your fingernails may be rough or broken and will cause snags in the washing process.

If you're a girl who's especially rough on nylons (always catching them on your school desk) then perhaps mesh stockings are a good choice for a solution.

And, if you have a great deal of trouble keeping your stocking seams straight, then try seamless mesh stockings.

Pink is back in the nightgown business. It appears over blue, embroidered on white, in addition to being its own sweet selp in all the finest fancies for bedtime.

Vast Ammunition Store Available On Rifle Ranges

Fourteen and a half million rounds of ammunition have been made available for the Fourth Army fiscal year, 1955 indoor .22 caliber rifle competition, now in its initial stage, Fourth Army Headquarters revealed today.

Competing for small-bore team and individual championships are marksmen of the active Army, Reserve, and junior and senior ROTC. In addition, the National Guard has been invited to participate.

The small-bore indoor competition, first of its kind to be initiated in the area, is in line with the Army's stepped-up program to improve the marksmanship of its soldiers. Lt. Gen. I. D. White, Fourth Army commander, recently stated: "The advent of mass destruction weapons has in no way lessened the Army's requirement to develop expert riflemen. Even our most recent changes to tactical doctrine has reasserted the importance of the well-aimed rifle shot."

Nancy Walker Becomes Bride Of Lanfield Gilley

Miss Nancy Walker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Walker of Rayville, became the bride of Lanfield Delano Gilley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Gilley of Draper, N. C., in a ceremony performed at 6 o'clock Saturday afternoon in the home of the bride's parents.

Reverend T. McCartney, pastor of the Church of God at Olla, performed the ceremony before an improvised altar of baskets of white gladioli and chyrsanthemums. A low arrangement of roses was used on the piano. Miss Lovey Harper was organist and Mrs. Thelma Ponder and Mrs. Elaine Anderson, vocalists.

When the couple left for a Florida wedding trip the bride wore a suit of navy taffeta with black accessories. She pinned an orchid on her shoulder.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilley will live in Martinsville, Va.

Out of town guests included Mrs. Elaine Anderson, Mrs. Thelma Ponder, Miss Lovey Harper, Lawrence Harper of Monroe, Clyde and Hubert Stevens of West Monroe and Mr. and Mrs. Theo Johnston of Archibald.

Vast Ammunition Store Available On Rifle Ranges

Fourteen and a half million rounds of ammunition have been made available for the Fourth Army fiscal year, 1955 indoor .22 caliber rifle competition, now in its initial stage, Fourth Army Headquarters revealed today.

Competing for small-bore team and individual championships are marksmen of the active Army, Reserve, and junior and senior ROTC. In addition, the National Guard has been invited to participate.

The small-bore indoor competition, first of its kind to be initiated in the area, is in line with the Army's stepped-up program to improve the marksmanship of its soldiers. Lt. Gen. I. D. White, Fourth Army commander, recently stated: "The advent of mass destruction weapons has in no way lessened the Army's requirement to develop expert riflemen. Even our most recent changes to tactical doctrine has reasserted the importance of the well-aimed rifle shot."

Nancy Walker Becomes Bride Of Lanfield Gilley

Miss Nancy Walker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Walker of Rayville, became the bride of Lanfield Delano Gilley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Gilley of Draper, N. C., in a ceremony performed at 6 o'clock Saturday afternoon in the home of the bride's parents.

Reverend T. McCartney, pastor of the Church of God at Olla, performed the ceremony before an improvised altar of baskets of white gladioli and chyrsanthemums. A low arrangement of roses was used on the piano. Miss Lovey Harper was organist and Mrs. Thelma Ponder and Mrs. Elaine Anderson, vocalists.

The bride wore a white slipper satin gown with the bodice fashioned of lace. The long tight fitting sleeves ended in petal points over her wrists. The skirt was long and very full. It ended in a cathedral train. A cap of white velvet sprinkled with rhinestones held her fingertip veil of illusion. She carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid and valley lilies.

When the couple left for a Florida wedding trip the bride wore a suit of navy taffeta with black accessories. She pinned an orchid on her shoulder.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilley will live in Martinsville, Va.

Out of town guests included Mrs. Elaine Anderson, Mrs. Thelma Ponder, Miss Lovey Harper. Lawrence Harper of Monroe, Clyde and Hubert Stevens of West Monroe and Mr. and Mrs. Theo Johnston of Archibald.

Cpl. James Carradine, son of Mrs. Laney B. Carradine, Route 1.

DODSON, Nov. 5 (Special)—Pvt. Claude I. Murphy, Jr., of Dodson, is now serving in Germany.

Pvt. Murphy is a radio repairman with the 1st Infantry Division 63rd Tank Battalion, Headquarters and Service Company.

Pvt. Murphy's wife and father live on route 1. His wife is the former Gloria Jean Adams.

CLAYTON, Nov. 5 (Special)—Marine Corporal Charles E. Wilkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Wilkins, of Clayton, was meritoriously promoted to his present rank at the Marine Corps School in Quantico, Va., recently.

Before joining the Marines in September of 1953, he graduated from the Ferriday High School. He gained his promotion for outstanding performance of duty in the service battalion disbursing section.

La. Tech Unit Above Average

At Tech, 559 students are enrolled in the four-year program which is now being conducted in 206 colleges and universities across the nation and in Hawaii and Puerto Rico. More than 104,000 cadets are getting ROTC training throughout the nation this fall. There are approximately 505 students in the average unit.

Tech statistics show that 223 freshmen, 123 sophomores, 50 juniors and 173 seniors are enrolled this semester. In the entire program there are 48,470 freshmen, 31,750 sophomores, 9,750 juniors, and 14,000 seniors.

Officials at AF ROTC Headquarters in Montgomery predict that approximately 75 per cent of this year's seniors will be qualified for flight training either as pilots or observers.

Of the 11,000 graduated from ROTC during the past year, 8,000 were qualified for flight training. During the year 42 graduated through the program at Tech. Most of them have already begun their tours of active duty.

Interclub Group Plans Woman Of Year's Banquet

An important meeting of the Interclub Council of Service Clubs of the Twin Cities has been scheduled for Monday afternoon at 5:30 p.m. at the Rendezvous according to Mrs. Lillie Mae Carroll, president of the council. Plans are to be completed for the "Woman of the Year" banquet to be held November 30.

The Interclub Council itself is a non-profit organization providing for coordination of effort between the five women's service and civic clubs who make up its membership by representation. The clubs making up the council include Altrusa Executive Women, Delta Rho Delta, Quota, Pilot and Jr. Charity League and each club in the council is represented by one officer and three delegates or alternates. Officers of the council are: President, Mrs. Lillie Mae Carroll, representing Pilot Club; first vice president, Miss Marguerite Kirkpatrick representing Delta Rho Delta; second vice president, Mrs. Helen Agnew, representing Quota; secretary, Miss Lillie Glenn, representing Altrusa; and treasurer, Mrs. Marie Cookston, representing Jr. Charity League. The delegates to the council include Altrusa, Mrs. Erlene Adams, Mrs. Adrienne Carr, Mrs. Yvonne Herron; Delta Rho Delta, Miss Mary Louise Farr, Miss Mary Stringer, Miss Mary Riser; Jr. League, Mrs. Virginia Pierce, Mrs. Sue Abington, Mrs. Maydron Jones; Pilot, Miss Nona Martin, Mrs. Zera Edwards, Mrs. Hazel Garlington; Quota, Miss Armandine Renaud, Mrs. Frances Ritter, Mrs. Ouida McGee.

At the special meeting called for Monday afternoon final plans will be completed for the woman of the year banquet. The time and place, speaker and judges will be selected at this meeting. Letters have gone out to the various clubs in the Twin-Cities asking for nominations for the "Woman of the Year" and residents of the community are urged to send in their nominations also.

Auto Increase In Louisiana Is Above Average

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 (Special)—Louisiana's "motor vehicle population is increasing faster than that of the nation as a whole, a report by the bureau of public roads indicated today.

According to the bureau's estimates, based on reports from state registration agencies, motor-vehicle registrations in the United States continue to gain and are expected to reach 58,129,000 for 1954, an increase 3.3 per cent over 1953.

Total registrations in Louisiana for 1954 probably will reach 847,000—or 3.8 per cent higher than last year's figure of 816,113.

The state's gain in passenger automobile registrations will be even more impressive, the bureau believes. It is estimated that 661,000 autos are being registered this year for a 4.1 per cent increase over last year, when 635,225 were registered.

Nationally, the number of passenger cars will reach 48,087,000 this year, for a 3.5 per cent increase, the federal agency estimated.

Trucks and busses are expected to top 10,000,000 for the first time with a total of 10,042,000, up 2.3 per cent. Louisiana trucks and busses will account for 186,000 of these—an increase of 2.8 per cent over the 180,888 registered last year.

California leads the nation in every category of estimated motor vehicle registrations, with 4,879,000 passenger cars, 806,000 trucks and busses, for a total of 5,685,000 vehicles.

However, the highest percentage increase was registered by Alabama with a 4.9 per cent gain in all types of vehicles and a 5.9 per cent increase in passenger autos alone.

Regionally, the largest gains are indicated for the nine Northeastern states, the bureau estimated, with increases ranging from 4.4 to 1.8 per cent, or an average gain of 3.7 per cent.

Your Problems

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Mrs. Landers: I find I like a boy and I don't want to like him because a boy once jilted me and I promised myself that I would never give another one the chance to hurt me. Any advice you could give me would be very much appreciated. I am 15 and the boy I now like is 16. — Donna.

Oh, Donna! You can't judge the whole barrel by one bad apple. If this boy is tugging at your heartstrings, go ahead and like him; just don't wear your heart on your sleeve and let any boy know how much you have fallen . . . then you can't be hurt and probably will not be "jilted" again. Jilted at your age . . . tsk and tsch!

Dear Ann Landers: Because my husband drinks so much, our lives are miserable. There is nothing I haven't tried to do to help him but he doesn't seem to want to be any better. Because I was a graduate of high honor and won a college scholarship, he often tries to make me feel his inferior. Thinking that he might feel inferior, I have never taken an outside job even though we are now in desperate straits. We are being evicted at the end of this month. When my husband works he can earn over $100 a week but even then I get only $25 a week . . . the rest goes for liquor. I am not the type to give up but he is turning both the children and me against him. I do not believe in divorce but I feel we have more to lose if we stay. Please help me. —Mrs. J. R.

Yes, you have more to lose if you stay. After your husband hits the gutter . . . and he will . . . he may realize that he needs help to conquer alcoholism with which he is apparently afflicted; only then will the help do any good.

When that time comes, you can again give your all in assisting him. Now, there is no sense in allowing him to take you and the children into the gutter with him. Find a job and a good place or person to care for the children and wait and pray for your husband to hit bottom, and then wake up. For further help and guidance, seek your nearest Family Service Bureau.

Dear Ann Landers: We have have been married for four years and most of this time I have worked. I start work an hour and a half after my husband leaves for his job and he insists that I get out of bed to fix his breakfast. In view of the fact that I could sleep an hour and a half more, do you think it right that he insists?—L. W.

When you are married and hold an outside job, Cookie, you not only work . . . you slave. A man's job is to bring home the bacon. Period.

When a woman insists, whether of choice or necessity, on bringing home part of the bacon, her lord and master will permit same, but, by golly! she'll still turn out her homework, too! Therefore, honey, right or wrong, you get up to get his lordship's breakfast. And if you are real smart you'll quit your job . . . seeing it's good breakfasts that concern him most.

My Answer

By BILLY GRAHAM

QUESTION: "I am a Christian, and ashamed to admit that every night when I lock the door, and am alone in the house, I am gripped by a terrible fear. How can I dispel it?" G. S.

ANSWER: I think perhaps in the evening you have been reading of the crimes committed in your city, or elsewhere. Try reading the Bible instead.

When young Timothy was beset by doubts and fears, Paul wrote to him, saying: "God does not give us the spirit of fear; but of power, and of love, and of a sound mind." (II Tim. 1:7).

There is no room for fear in the heart that is filled with Christ. As you turn that key in the lock, do not think that you are alone in the house. You are not alone. God is there with you.

Read your Bible. Talk to God in prayer. Ask your heavenly Father what He wants you to do that evening. Perhaps He'll tell you to write a note of encouragement to someone who is ill or in trouble. Perhaps He'll prompt you to go to the phone and call some friend you have neglected.

As a Christian you are to have a part in building God's Kingdom. Ask God to show you what it is, and then get busy about it.

Statistics tell us that most of the things people worry about never happen. Why waste your life in useless fear?

In the days of Jeremiah, when the people were terrified that their land would be invaded, the prophet gave the assurance that God would "set up shepherds over them." This was a promise of divine protection. (Jer. 234). The Psalmist expressed it by saying, "He shall give His angels charge over thee, to keep thee in all thy ways." (Psalms 91:11).

These promises from the Scriptures were not only for the Israelites. They are for you and for me.

I recall that a woman who is nearing eighty, and lives all alone, told me, "Every night when I get into bed and turn out the light, I say, "God, rest on my pillow." Then I put myself in His care, and sleep peacefully."

"Perfect love casteth out fear." (I John 4:18).

What's new with Chevrolet?

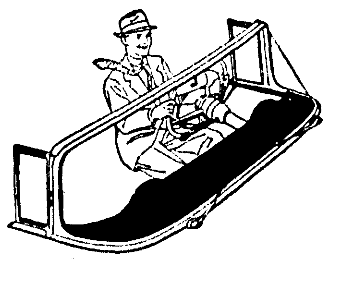
Wonderful new Glide-Ride Front Suspension

New spherical joints flex freely to cushion all road shocks. You glide over the bumps with new smoothness and stability. New Anti-Dive Braking Control, exclusive with Chevrolet, assures "heads up" stops.

Great new V8—two new 6's

New "Turbo-Fire V8" delivers 162 h.p. with an ultra-high compression ratio of 8 to 1. It's the valve-in-head V8 as only the valve-in-head leader can build it! Two new 6's, too—the new "Blue-Flame 136" with Powerglide (optional at extra cost) and the new "Blue-Flame 123." All three are sparked by a new 12-volt electrical system.

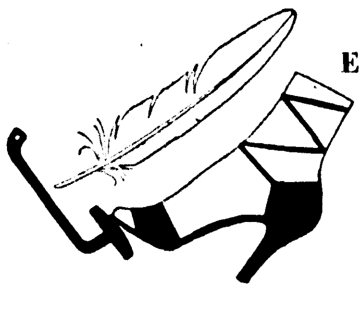


And look what you see from the driver's seat

Chevrolet's new Sweep-Sight Windshield curves around to vertical corner pillars, giving you a wide, full view of the road ahead. Rear and side windows are bigger, too. And you can see all four fenders from the driver's seat!

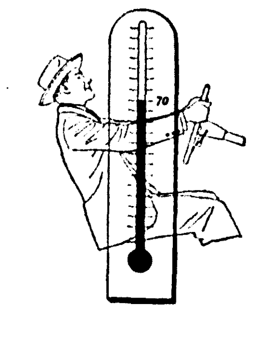
New Outrigger Rear Springs

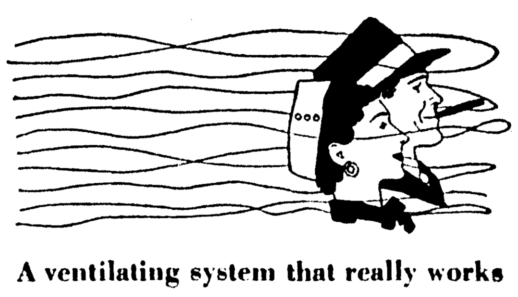
Rear springs are longer—and they're attached at the outside of the frame. This means they're spaced wider apart, outrigger-fashion, to give you greater stability in cornering. And Chevrolet's new Hotchkiss drive cushions drive-line shocks through the rear springs!



Easier steering, stopping, clutching

The new Chevrolet steers with ball-bearing ease, thanks to new friction-cutting Ball-Race Steering. New Swing-Type Brake and Clutch Pedals swing downward with a light pressure of your toe. They pivot at the top, leaving the floor free and clear!





A ventilating system that really works

Three drives, including Overdrive

Take your choice. There's Powerglide—now even smoother and quieter—teamed with the new V8 or the new "Blue-Flame 136." There's new Overdrive teamed with the new V8 or the new "Blue-Flame 123." (Powerglide and Overdrive are extra-cost options.) And there's a new and finer standard transmission offered in combination with either the new V8 or the "Blue-Flame 123." It's the greatest choice going!

Tubeless tires as standard equipment

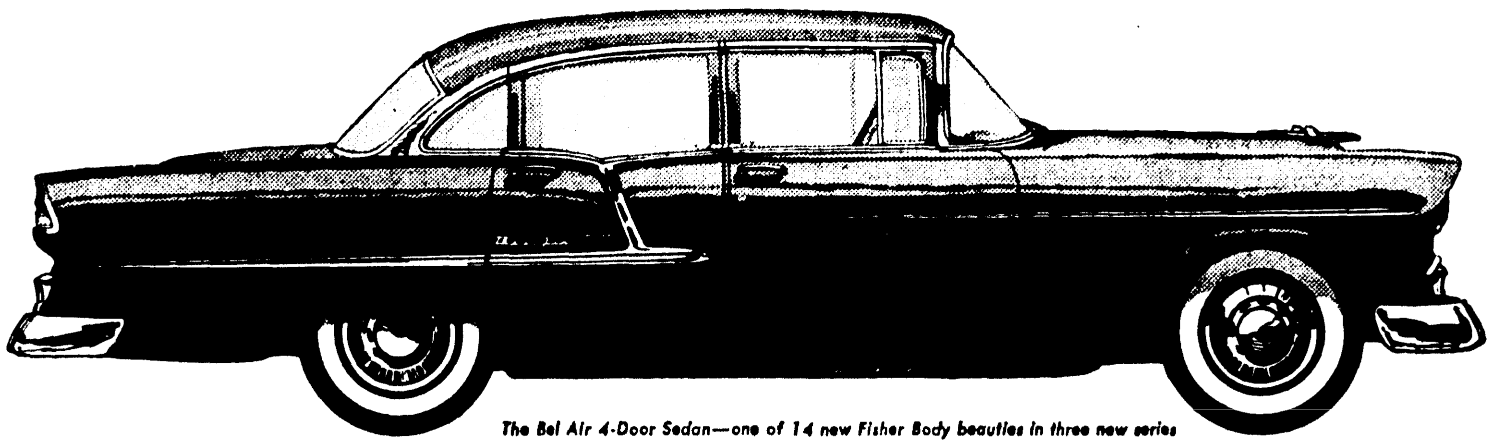
Even Air Conditioning, if you wish

Air is heated or cooled by a single highly efficient unit that fits compactly into the front of the car. Requires no trunk space! (V8 models only.) Other extra-cost options are Chevrolet's new Linkage-Type Power Steering, improved Power Brakes, and, on Bel Air and "Two-Ten" models, new Power Controls on all windows, and Power-Positioned Front Seat.

. . . and Chevrolet's got that long, low "let's go" look

It's a show car from the word go! Longer looking—and lots lower, the new Chevrolet has the spirited look of a sports car. There's plenty of glamor inside, too—plus more room for hats, hips and shoulders!



The Bel Air 4-Door Sedan—one of 14 new Fisher Body beauties in three new series

Chevrolet and General Motors have started something—a whole new age of low-cost motoring—by taking a whole new look at the low-cost car. Here are new ideas, young ideas . . . and some of tomorrow's ideas, too! And they're all rolled up in the most glamorous package that ever wore anything like a Chevrolet price tag!

This is the car that began with a great idea—the idea that a low-priced car could be built that would have the style, the performance, the comfort and convenience features, and the fine quality "feel" of high-priced cars.

Lots of car buyers have wished for such a car. Lots of automotive engineers have dreamed about it. But there were plenty of reasons why it couldn't be done.

Then Chevrolet and General Motors sat down and tackled the job. It took a lot of months and a lot of manpower. but they designed and built a car to fit the dream . . . a car to fulfill the great idea—the Motoramic Chevrolet for 1955.

Come in and see how the Motoramic Chevrolet for '55 is far more than a new model. It's more, even, than a completely new car. It's a whole new idea about cars!

The need for peace. The greatest need of this old world today is peace. The turbulent storms of hate, of enmity, of distrust, and of sin are threatening to wreck humanity. It is time for men — true men — to dedicate their lives to God, and to cry with the spirit and power of the Christ, "Peace, be still ..."

We welcome you.

Cool Weather Has Gardeners Busy

This cool sunny weather makes you want to work in the yard. If you need some work to do, you can prune your hearty broadleaf evergreens and summer and fall blooming shrubs such as ligustrum, althea and crape myrtle. I like to wait until January or February for this job, then I don't have to see the stubby looking pruned plant all winter. Don't prune your spring flowering shrubs until after they bloom. You'll cut off all your spring blooms. I hope your shrubbery beds were plenty wet. If so, the quick change from warm weather to cold didn't damage your plants Tuesday night.

November Garden Jobs

You can still plant daffodils, narcissus, jonquils and snowflakes. Lilies to plant are: Easter, madonna, speciosum and regal. Lilies like leaf mold, sandy loam and plenty of mulch. Put tulip bulbs in ice box for two or three weeks before planting.

Perennials can be transplanted during November. In fact this job can be done anytime between now and March, but the sooner they're moved the earlier and more satisfactory will be your blooms.

Some seed which may be sown this month are: Sweet alyssum, arctotis, babys - breath, blanket flower, Texas bluebell, calendula, candytuft, Chinese forget-me-not, coreopsis, cornflower, delphinium, everlasting, everlasting sweet pea, forget-me-not, four o'clock, gayfeather, hollyhock, larkspur, phlox, drummon, pinks, California, Iceland and shirley poppy, queenslace, blue salvia, scabiesa, snapdragon, statice, and wallflower.

Pansy and calendula plants can be purchased now. You can root verbena well during November. This is a good time for separating and planting montbretia.

Mrs. Glazier, 1107 Bailey, West Monroe (near the paper mill) has violets she will give to anybody who will call for them. Mrs. Bailey works, so she asks that you come on Sunday afternoon.

Skeletonized Magnolia Leaves

We're having so many requests for the method for skeletonizing magnolia leaves so here it is: Put one can of lye and one cup of soap in five gallons of water. (Use soap, not detergent.) Put your leaves in this and boil twenty minutes. Remove leaves and put them in a pan of pure clorax until they have bleached as white as you want them. Then put the leaves in water. You can leave them in the water bath for several days. You will have to take a tooth brush and work the fleshy part of the leaf off the veins. Then you are ready to dye. Use all purpose Rit. Follow the instructions in the package and add a tablespoon of vinegar to set the color. These are lovely for mixing with dried arrangements or for using alone. They're dainty and "airy." They can be dyed any shade to blend with the color scheme of your room.

In the Kitchen

Remember—pecans will crack and come out of the shell easily if you'll soak them in cold water for twelve hours or — pour boiling water on the pecans and let them soak for 30 minutes.

Here's an easy recipe for salting pecans. Put a cup of cooking oil in a sauce pan and heat until it's hot enough to brown a pecan. Then drop in a cup of nuts at a time and let them brown. Spread on brown paper and sprinkle with salt.

I believe it must be about deer season. Some people like vinson, some don't. Soaking the meat over night in vinegar helps to take away some of the wild taste. Using lots of seasoning will help, too, such as garlic, onion, celery, celery salt and worchester sauce.

I'm sure you know the old trick of cooking wild duck with an onion or turnip stuffing. Leave the vegetable whole and discard it when the duck is baked. Worchester sauce and lemon juice poured over the duck while it is baking gives a little "umph."

Sewing News

Have you noticed how many of the dresses and separate skirts are lined, through out? For soft dresses they used taffeta but for the princess style and full skirts pellon, orlon or formite is used. The teen-ager likes pellon because the skirt stands out so gracefully.

When stitching a pointed collar, if you'll make one stitch across the corner, instead of stitching to a point, you'll find the collar will turn to a beautiful point. Of course, you trim all seams before turning. Also, if you'll cut about an inch of the point off your collar interfacing, you won't have this extra heaviness in the corner.

So many of the new patterns call for contour belts. One store has ordered a kit so you can make your own and one person who makes belts and buttons also makes perfectly beautiful contour belts. I find they're flattering to the stout figure.

Here And There

An event looked forward to from year to year is the St. Matthews and Our Lady of Fatima annual bazaar. The place is the gymnasium at 311 Grammont St. Date Tuesday and Wednesday, November 9 and 10th. Dinner will be served from 11:00 a.m. til 2:00 p.m. Evening meal will be served from 5:30 to 8:00 p.m. That special gumbo will be on hand and the women have 100 quarts frozen that can be purchased and carried home. Also, turkey dinners can be carried out. The booth serving cakes, hamburgers and coffee will be open all day both days. There'll be games and fun both nights.

On the TV show Tuesday at 2:30 we'll give the third step in making the slip cover. Mrs. Hamilton and Mrs. Ladart will again do the show. If you haven't called for your mimeographed sheet on making a cover, call 3-2251.

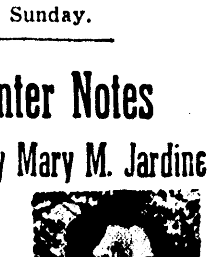
See you next Sunday.

Garden Center Notes

By Mary M. Jardine

Hunt To Speak In S'port Nov. 10



Delightful fall arrangements were presented at the Garden Center this week by the Tensas Garden Club of St. Joseph. Mrs. John Redditt and Miss Louise Jones tied for first place in the arrangement class. Mrs. Redditt designed a delightful rustic arrangement in a flat basket of natural straw. A line-mass arrangement of Michaelmas daisies and yellow candles. Perfect for that patio supper table! Miss Jones chose for her container a grey green pitcher. A beautiful line following the design of the container was created using grey-green juniper, red pyracantha berries and red pomegranates brought down the front of the container.

Mrs. William Oehmig was awarded third place. For a container she chose a flat green bowl. A large white frosty candle was used in the background. Bright orange marigolds and maidenhair fern were arranged around the candle. A charming interpretative arrangement, the last fall flowers before frost!

We are proud to say all the horticulture was in the blue ribbon class. Ribbons were awarded to Mrs. Burton Wade for large leaf ivy, Mrs. Denny Miller for purple chrysanthemums and Mrs. Philip Watson for Pyracantha. Mrs. Russell Ratcliff also made a beautiful fall arrangement for display. In an oval basket of natural straw, Mrs. Ratcliff arranged purple grasses and forsythia foliage which had a purple tinge to the leaves. Bright two-toned marigolds were used as a focal point.

Mrs. Walter Colquitt of Shreveport called to remind us of the William Lanier Hunt lecture in Shreveport on Wednesday, November 10, at 2 p.m. in the State Exhibits Building. Also, they are bringing in December, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hastings to Shreveport. This will be an all day session, Mr. Hastings will talk on Horticulture at 10 a.m. and Mrs. Hastings will lecture on Christmas arrangements at 2 p.m. I will give you the date soon.

The Garden Club Year Books are still pouring in. They are all so attractive and the programs seem well rounded. Green Thumb Garden Club of Ruston have chosen a bright green jacket. A most attractive line design in black depicts a lady gardener with trowel in hand and a potted plant before her. A most welcome gift from Mrs. John Barr of Oak Ridge is the year book of the Pierian Club. While this is not a garden club, they have chosen for their year's study, gardening, landscaping and flower arranging. Their year book is lovely — a pale pink cover, with a complete garden scene in water colors on the front. Planning programs and designing year books is a challenge and the women of the Fifth District have met that challenge with wonderful and beautiful results.

Next week we will have a ceramics display by Mark Harris, Assistant Professor of Art, Louisiana Tech. Be sure to drop in during the week to see them.

1. DESIRE FOR PRAISE IS ONE OF THE GREATEST WEAKNESSESS OF HUMAN NATURE. TRUE ☐ FALSE ☐

2. ARE THERE PSYCHOLOGICAL REASONS FOR BUSINESS FAILURE? YES ☐ NO ☐

3. SHOULD EVERYONE BELONG TO SOME CLUB, LODGE, FRATERNITY, OR OTHER GROUP? YES ☐ NO ☐

Answer To Question No. 1

1. False. Desire for importance leads to nearly all human achievements. Even animals such as cows and chickens struggle for importance. They have social classes like human beings. No cow or chicken dares to trespass on another's rights or social standing. The above statement couldn't possibly be farther from right.

Answer To Question No. 2

2. Yes. Sylvia Porter, business writer, states businesses are now failing faster than ever before since the depression. In good times people try to fulfill everybody's dream to own a business of his own. Many fail from lack of talent and capital. In bad times they fail from poor business. However, it shows people still believe in America's great future.

Answer To Question No. 3

3. Yes. The feeling of "belongingness" to some group brings a feeling of importance absolutely necessary to everyone's happiness. The sorority of working girls, Sigma Alpha Sigma, organized by Muriel Davis, now has 2,000 members in 100 cities and is growing and giving a new life to previously lonely girls.

How To Improve Your Clay Soils

If you have to improve soil in your flower garden a little bit at a time, be sure to have on hand a yard or so of coarse sand and plenty of some kind of humus. Then you can put some sand and some humus into the hole you leave every time you take up a plant. Throw in a big handful of bone meal, too, unless you are planting azaleas or other acid loving plants. Spade these ingredients into the soil already there. The coarse sand will stay put in your soil and keep it from sticking so tightly together when you wish to dig in it. The humus will hold moisture and provide a home for friendly bacteria while it breaks down into soil again. We have been transplanting all sorts of things this week in a soil that was prepared last year. It was easy to dig in it after a year, and transplanting is a real joy.

This is that perfect time to transplant things. Think now about next summer's flowers as well as next spring's. Remember what the toughest summer and fall perennials and bulbs are. Aster frikarti wonder of Staffa, with its blue lavender daisies and yellow centers in bloom right now ought to remind you of how long it blooms —off and on all summer. The various new veronicas were the things that held up in the heat and bloomed in spite of the worst sort of summer in most parts of the south. Maybe it is because it does not make any seeds and you have to buy plants that people still do not know much about Veronica longifolia subsessilis that tall one that is almost a shrub here in the south. The smaller ones like Blue Spires come in late May and June just when hot weather really strikes us. In our garden, a new one called Blue Champion is especially fine. It blooms well in summer and gets better as cold weather comes on.

These veronicas can be taken up and divided, if you like, after three or four years in the same place. We made ten small plants out of a big fat clump of V. longifolia subsessilis. We keep harping on this plant because it is extremely showy — really a small bush. This year, we nipped some of the branches as soon as they were four or five inches long to try to keep this veronica from sprawling on the ground with the weight of its tremendous crop of blossoms. It seems to have worked, and we think it might have been wise to nip them even a second time. In England, some very learned gardeners got excited over these plants when we showed them some colored slides. One of my nurserymen friends who really knows perennials said they would certainly get stock of it and exhibit it in the London flower shows because it was the best looking blue summer perennial he had ever seen if it would grow over there as it does here. It may be that, much as we dread our summer heat, this veronica likes our heat and thrives on it. Not just every perennial catalogue lists it, but you will not have much trouble finding it. If you do, drop a self-addressed envelope or postal to the column in care of this newspaper, and we shall be glad to send you the addresses of some nurseries who handle it. Do not look for it in the seed catalogues unless they have plants, too. It does not make any seeds that will come up.

One of the prettiest grey plants we have seen lately came from some little plants we bought a year ago in the spring thinking they were low plants. They were not low, and they lived right through our winter and are even more beautiful right now. These you can raise from seed next spring. The name is Centaurea gymnocarpa. They grow to be 20 inches tall and produce the most elegant grey leaves imaginable. Set several together and pinch them back a little at first to make them branch. A group of three behind an edging of santolina will provide a handsome evergrey composition that will stay there all winter.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

Dress To Suit Weather But Don't Coddle Self

Winter is upon us! One of the most exciting things about life is the change in season. Enjoy this one! Maybe you are one of those who tie yourself up in long underwear and scarfs and do not stick your nose out of the house if you can help it in cold weather. If so, you are missing a lot of fun and beauty, and health, too.

It is possible to coddle yourself to such an extent that whenever a little breeze hits you a sneeze immediately comes forth. Take a lesson from statistics; there are more people living to be 80 and older in cold climes than in hot ones.

Of course we must use sense in dressing for cold weather when we go out in it but we should also take care not to wear clothing which is too warm when in the house and to avoid overheated houses. There is nothing so tiring as a room which is too hot. I sometimes wonder how salesladies and workers in offices can last past noon because the temperature is so high. This is not healthful.

Adapt To Changes

The way you dress and live is most essential in those climates which have sudden changes in weather. If you live in a very temperate climate which is susceptible to sudden "Northers," when the temperature may drop 30 degrees in a few hours, you should take special care to adapt your clothing and the heat in your house to these changes.

Button up your overcoat and take brisk walks in the zippy air. You will feel much better for it. Take advanatage of the beautiful scenery, when snow drifts down and turns the everyday world into a magic place. You will return with your cheeks rosy and your spirit refreshed.

Women should remember that the skin needs more-than-usual lubrication during the cold, drying winter months. If you live in a climate which has a lot of cold weather, and especially if you have a dry skin, you will be surprised at the comfort you will get from bath oils, and also from the use of body lotions during the winter.

May Avoid Colds

I called to your attention not long ago the fact that during winter months there is a big upswing in many diseases, to say nothing of the usual colds.

Less fatigue, more sleep, an extra supply of vitamins, less overeating, exercise, and clothing which suits the occasion in weight, will go a long way toward cutting down your quota of colds. These measures might even allow you to speed through a whole winter without a single sniffle.

THE HOME SHIFT—

With Mildred Swift

Cool Weather Has Gardeners Busy

This cool sunny weather makes you want to work in the yard. If you need some work to do, you can prune your hearty broadleaf evergreens and summer and fall blooming shrubs such as ligustrum, althea and crape myrtle. I like to wait until January or February for this job, then I don't have to see the stubby looking pruned plant all winter. Don't prune your spring flowering shrubs until after they bloom. You'll cut off all your spring blooms. I hope your shrubbery beds were plenty wet. If so, the quick change from warm weather to cold didn't damage your plants Tuesday night.

November Garden Jobs

You can still plant daffodils, narcissus, jonquils and snowflakes. Lilies to plant are: Easter, madonna, speciosum and regal. Lilies like leaf mold, sandy loam and plenty of mulch. Put tulip bulbs in ice box for two or three weeks before planting.

Perennials can be transplanted during November. In fact this job can be done anytime between now and March, but the sooner they're moved the earlier and more satisfactory will be your blooms.

Some seed which may be sown this month are: Sweet alyssum, arctotis, babys - breath, blanket flower, Texas bluebell, calendula, candytuft, Chinese forget-me-not, coreopsis, cornflower, delphinium, everlasting, everlasting sweet pea, forget-me-not, four o'clock, gayfeather, hollyhock, larkspur, phlox, drummon, pinks, California, Iceland and shirley poppy, queenslace, blue salvia, scabiesa, snapdragon, statice, and wallflower.

Pansy and calendula plants can be purchased now. You can root verbena well during November. This is a good time for separating and planting montbretia.

Mrs. Glazier, 1107 Bailey, West Monroe (near the paper mill) has violets she will give to anybody who will call for them. Mrs. Bailey works, so she asks that you come on Sunday afternoon.

Skeletonized Magnolia Leaves

We're having so many requests for the method for skeletonizing magnolia leaves so here it is: Put one can of lye and one cup of soap in five gallons of water. (Use soap, not detergent.) Put your leaves in this and boil twenty minutes. Remove leaves and put them in a pan of pure clorax until they have bleached as white as you want them. Then put the leaves in water. You can leave them in the water bath for several days. You will have to take a tooth brush and work the fleshy part of the leaf off the veins. Then you are ready to dye. Use all purpose Rit. Follow the instructions in the package and add a tablespoon of vinegar to set the color. These are lovely for mixing with dried arrangements or for using alone. They're dainty and "airy." They can be dyed any shade to blend with the color scheme of your room.

In the Kitchen

Remember—pecans will crack and come out of the shell easily if you'll soak them in cold water for twelve hours or — pour boiling water on the pecans and let them soak for 30 minutes.

Here's an easy recipe for salting pecans. Put a cup of cooking oil in a sauce pan and heat until it's hot enough to brown a pecan. Then drop in a cup of nuts at a time and let them brown. Spread on brown paper and sprinkle with salt.

I believe it must be about deer season. Some people like vinson, some don't. Soaking the meat over night in vinegar helps to take away some of the wild taste. Using lots of seasoning will help, too, such as garlic, onion, celery, celery salt and worchester sauce.

I'm sure you know the old trick of cooking wild duck with an onion or turnip stuffing. Leave the vegetable whole and discard it when the duck is baked. Worchester sauce and lemon juice poured over the duck while it is baking gives a little "umph."

Sewing News

Have you noticed how many of the dresses and separate skirts are lined, through out? For soft dresses they used taffeta but for the princess style and full skirts pellon, orlon or formite is used. The teen-ager likes pellon because the skirt stands out so gracefully.

When stitching a pointed collar, if you'll make one stitch across the corner, instead of stitching to a point, you'll find the collar will turn to a beautiful point. Of course, you trim all seams before turning. Also, if you'll cut about an inch of the point off your collar interfacing, you won't have this extra heaviness in the corner.

So many of the new patterns call for contour belts. One store has ordered a kit so you can make your own and one person who makes belts and buttons also makes perfectly beautiful contour belts. I find they're flattering to the stout figure.

Here And There

An event looked forward to from year to year is the St. Matthews and Our Lady of Fatima annual bazaar. The place is the gymnasium at 311 Grammont St. Date Tuesday and Wednesday, November 9 and 10th. Dinner will be served from 11:00 a.m. til 2:00 p.m. Evening meal will be served from 5:30 to 8:00 p.m. That special gumbo will be on hand and the women have 100 quarts frozen that can be purchased and carried home. Also, turkey dinners can be carried out. The booth serving cakes, hamburgers and coffee will be open all day both days. There'll be games and fun both nights.

On the TV show Tuesday at 2:30 we'll give the third step in making the slip cover. Mrs. Hamilton and Mrs. Ladart will again do the show. If you haven't called for your mimeographed sheet on making a cover, call 3-2251.

Don't forget to call 3-2251 for your copy of the fruit cake and cooky recipe book.

See you next Sunday.

Garden Center Notes

By Mary M. Jardine

Hunt To Speak In S'port Nov. 10

Delightful fall arrangements were presented at the Garden Center this week by the Tensas Garden Club of St. Joseph. Mrs. John Redditt and Miss Louise Jones tied for first place in the arrangement class. Mrs. Redditt designed a delightful rustic arrangement in a flat basket of natural straw. A line-mass arrangement of Michaelmas daisies and yellow candles. Perfect for that patio supper table! Miss Jones chose for her container a grey green pitcher. A beautiful line following the design of the container was created using grey-green juniper, red pyracantha berries and red pomegranates brought down the front of the container.

Mrs. William Oehmig was awarded third place. For a container she chose a flat green bowl. A large white frosty candle was used in the background. Bright orange marigolds and maidenhair fern were arranged around the candle. A charming interpretative arrange ment, the last fall flowers before frost!

We are proud to say all the horticulture was in the blue ribbon class. Ribbons were awarded to Mrs. Burton Wade for large leaf ivy, Mrs. Denny Miller for purple chrysanthemums and Mrs. Philip Watson for Pyracantha. Mrs. Russell Ratcliff also made a beautiful fall arrangement for display. In an oval basket of natural straw, Mrs. Ratcliff arranged purple grasses and forsythia foliage which had a purple tinge to the leaves. Bright two-toned marigolds were used as a focal point.

Mrs. Walter Colquitt of Shreveport called to remind us of the William Lanier Hunt lecture in Shreveport on Wednesday, November 10, at 2 p.m. in the State Exhibits Building. Also, they are bringing in December, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hastings to Shreveport. This will be an all day session, Mr. Hastings will talk on Horticulture at 10 a.m. and Mrs. Hastings will lecture on Christmas arrangements at 2 p.m. I will give you the date soon.

The Garden Club Year Books are still pouring in. They are all so attractive and the programs seem well rounded. Green Thumb Garden Club of Ruston have chosen a bright green jacket. A most attractive line design in black depicts a lady gardener with trowel in hand and a potted plant before her. A most welcome gift from Mrs. John Barr of Oak Ridge is the year book of the Pierian Club. While this is not a garden club, they have chosen for their year's study, gardening, landscaping and flower arranging. Their year book is lovely — a pale pink cover, with a complete garden scene in water colors on the front. Planning programs and designing year books is a challenge and the women of the Fifth District have met that challenge with wonderful and beautiful results.

Next week we will have a ceramics display by Mark Harris, Assistant Professor of Art, Louisiana Tech. Be sure to drop in during the week to see them.

Dress To Suit Weather But Don't Coddle Self

Winter is upon us! One of the most exciting things about life is the change in season. Enjoy this one! A double barreled safety play is featured in today's deal.

With a balanced hand counting 17, South chose to open with one no trump and North, holding 11, raised to three. Some players will point out that perhaps a safer contract of four spades might have been reached. Where the conventional two club response is employed, North would respond in that manner. South would bid two spades which North would raise to four. But even without the use of the convention, four spades can be reached in a natural way. North, having enough to contract for game, does it indirectly by the game force of three diamonds. This affords opener the chance to show his four card major which North raises to four. North asserted that he realized partner might have four spades but inasmuch as his short suit contained an honor he preferred to play for nine tricks.

West made the natural opening of the jack of hearts, dummy played low, East followed with the seven and declarer won with the king. South, observing that only three spade tricks were needed to bring his total to the required nine, promptly led a spade to the king and on the return finessed the jack. West, upon taking the queen, saw that the defeat of the contract could not be brought about on power, so placing his faith in the fallibility of man, he continued with the ten of hearts. Declarer was placed under the pressure of deciding whether the opening lead had been made from a jack high suit, or from a combination containing the ace. From South's standpoint East's seven at trick one may have been a come-on signal. He, therefore, decided to play East for the ace and ducked, whereupon West proceeded to cash the setting tricks in the manner of the one who had swallowed the canary.

If South required four spade tricks, his management would have been sound. But since he needed only three, he should have made an effort to prevent West from getting in, for only he could attack the queen of hearts. Proper play was the ace of spades first, then a low one. If West plays low, the nine is played from dummy and East is permitted to win a trick to which he is welcome for nine tricks are assured. This play has the further merit of protecting against four spades to the queen-10 in the West hand.

While a true misguess always arouses our compassion, South had been guilty of subjecting himself to that guess. Proper handling of the spade suit would have avoided it.

Monroe Businessman Says Trees Are Vital

(EDITOR'S NOTE: After years of extensive study, Howard E. Griffith, prominent Monroe businessman, has reached a conclusion on nature's processes that is, to say the least, thought-provoking. Griffith delves deeply into the matter and brings out some original ideas. Because of the originality and new concepts presented, an article by Mr. Griffith is printed below.)

By HOWARD E. GRIFFITH

Millions of years ago, when the earth was formed, certain basic principles were set up by nature in order that life might exist. Certain types of life formed which produced carbon dioxide gas, and consumed oxygen. Other types of life consumed carbon dioxide, and produced oxygen both completely dependent on each other.

The vegetation on earth absorbs energy from the sun, converts this energy into matter, and distributes this matter to other forms of life as food, or stores it in the form of coal, gases, wood, etc. This process has been going on since the beginning of life on earth.

At first, the earth was very, very warm, and the vegetation grew far to the north and far to the south. It grew very fast and heavy. Since there was nothing to stop its growth, it covered the earth. Each blade of grass, and each leaf on every tree was busy converting the heat on earth into matter. Finally, too much heat was converted into matter, and the surface of the earth became colder and colder. Ice formed at the poles, and rapidly formed further and further toward the equator of the earth. This was called the Ice Age. As this ice formed, of course, it destroyed the vegetation in its path, and as there was less vegetation to convert heat into matter, then the earth began to warm up again.

But the very speed of this change in climate had made nature overshoot her mark, and again the earth became a little too warm, and the ice melted away too far back up toward the poles of the earth. The vegetation followed it, of course, later, and soon brought the temperature down again, as more and more trees and bushes and grass converted more and more energy into matter. Then, again, nature had gone a little too far, and the earth became just a little too cold again, so the ice came back down toward the equator, but not nearly so far as it did the first time.

This process has been repeated again and again, much the same as a pendulum will swing back and forth until it finally comes to rest. The vegetation on earth might be regarded as a thermostat that controls the temperature on earth so that life might exist as we know it today. As things warm up, nature grows more vegetation as the ice melts, and as the vegetation converts heat into matter, it cools the atmosphere off, and the temperature of the earth remains constant.

Until the twentieth century, nature's processes remained virtually unchanged, and our earth went on in much the same manner. At the turn of the twentieth century, our civilization had progressed to the point where its demands had become very great. Industry began to expand, which made it necessary that our civilization obtain fuel to feed the furnaces that produce the materials that we demanded. As time has gone by, this has increased and expanded beyond man's own imagination.

The fuel used in our factories, in our cars, in our homes, our offices — in fact, in practically everything we do from day to day, from minute to minute, converts energy back into heat. This energy has been stored by nature for millions of years. This energy that we are using today on such a vast scale, was converted from sunlight to matter hundreds thousands, or even millions of years ago, and stored away as matter. It had to be stored away as matter in order to keep the earth cool, because if it had been allowed to remain on earth in the form of heat, then the earth would have never cooled down enough for life to exist as we know it today.

This means, simply, that the heat energy being released by man is being added to the heat energy supplied to this planet by our sun and other sources.

As man's population has increased, he has been forced to make room for himself, and in making room, he has been forced to cut down trees, and clear off earth for his homes, his cities and other uses. Vegetation has been reduced very, very much. Therefore, nature is no longer able to convert all the heat that is being released on earth back into matter.

The more heat that is released on earth, by the sun and by man himself, the less able nature's thermostat, vegetation, is able to convert it back into matter. The more the heat, the greater this out-of-balance condition becomes, and the warmer our climate grows. The warmer the climate grows, the faster this reversed process becomes, until at some future date, it will be so overbalanced, and the heat will be so great, that all ignitible matter will burn, and our planet will become increasingly hot until it reaches the point of incandescence so that the energy supplied to it can be radiated out into space in the form of light.

From this, then, it can be seen that our earth and the civilization on it, may not be destroyed by the H-bomb, nor the A-bomb, but rather by every living person on earth who strikes a match, or cooks a meal, or in any way converts matter into heat.

People who deliberately set forest fires are doubly guilty. They convert matter into heat, and destroy the very trees that have given them life in the first place. Their crimes against the owners of the land are indeed small as compared to their crimes against themselves and all other life forms on earth.

To offset this growing threat, our governments and people should concentrate their energies on methods of artificially producing matter from heat, by some scientific process. The matter produced would supply all the fuel that we would ever need, and the temperature of the earth could be regulated.

This would be a fantastic task. It seems out of the bounds of practical reason. But, if the people on earth would quit their bickering, and open their eyes to this fact, (it is a fact, and I challenge anyone to prove differently), and get to work on this project before it is too late, our earth will be around for a long time.

Love-Sick Elephant Killed By Shots From U. S. Machine Guns

AUGSBURG, Germany, Nov. 5 (AP)—Ten rounds from two U.S. Army .50 calibre machine guns killed Bosco, a love-sick, four-ton bull elephant today. Circus men explained sorrowfully that being without a girl friend turned 19-year-old Bosco into a rampaging menace.

Bosco, moon-eyed for days, exploded in wild fury last night. He bowled over his trainer, smashed through a stone fence and lumbered into the woods.

Keepers lured him back to the circus grounds and the circus owner asked a U.S. Army regiment nearby to stand guard in case Bosco acted up again. Two jeeps with machine guns mounted on them were sent over. The soldiers shot the animal at the owner's request late today when Bosco went wild again.

Victory Legion Tournament To Be Nov. 13-14

On November 13 and 14 the Ladies' Bowling Association of Monroe will sponsor a Bowlers Victory Legion Tournament at the Monroe Bowling Center.

Mrs. Mary Long, publicity chairman, urged women bowlers of this area to take an active part in the tournament, since all proceeds will go to veterans' hospitals throughout the country.

Last year bowlers contributed $74,479.92 to the cause. This year's tournament is the first of its kind to be held in Monroe although nation - wide the B. V. L. is in its fifteenth year.

Mrs. Long said that local merchants had given many valuable prizes for the event and had given one hundred per cent cooperation in making the tournament a success.

The local publicity chairman pointed out that Veterans Administration hospitals have increased to 176 units over the nation, that patient personnel exceeds 150,000 war veterans and it is the intention of bowlers over the nation to conduct their B. V. L. tourneys to help in the rehabilitation of the hospitalized and blinded veterans.

More than 3,000 copies of "Sporting News," baseball guides, baseball registers, football guides and other material has been provided through the national tournaments for veterans hospitals. The Blinded Veterans Association alone realized $15,000 from B. V. L. last year, Mrs. Long reported.

Love-Sick Elephant Killed By Shots From U. S. Machine Guns

AUGSBURG, Germany, Nov. 5 (AP)—Ten rounds from two U.S. Army .50 calibre machine guns killed Bosco, a love-sick, four-ton bull elephant today. Circus men explained sorrowfully that being without a girl friend turned 19-year-old Bosco into a rampaging menace.

Bosco, moon-eyed for days, exploded in wild fury last night. He bowled over his trainer, smashed through a stone fence and lumbered into the woods.

Keepers lured him back to the circus grounds and the circus owner asked a U.S. Army regiment nearby to stand guard in case Bosco acted up again. Two jeeps with machine guns mounted on them were sent over. The soldiers shot the animal at the owner's request late today when Bosco went wild again.

Victory Legion Tournament To Be Nov. 13-14

On November 13 and 14 the Ladies' Bowling Association of Monroe will sponsor a Bowlers Victory Legion Tournament at the Monroe Bowling Center.

Mrs. Mary Long, publicity chairman, urged women bowlers of this area to take an active part in the tournament, since all proceeds will go to veterans' hospitals throughout the country.

Last year bowlers contributed $74,479.92 to the cause. This year's tournament is the first of its kind to be held in Monroe although nation - wide the B. V. L. is in its fifteenth year.

Mrs. Long said that local merchants had given many valuable prizes for the event and had given one hundred per cent cooperation in making the tournament a success.

The local publicity chairman pointed out that Veterans Administration hospitals nave increased to 176 units over the nation, that patient personnel exceeds 150,000 war veterans and it is the intention of bowlers over the nation to conduct their B. V. L. tourneys to help in the rehabilitation of the hospitalized and blinded veterans.

More than 3,000 copies of "Sporting News," baseball guides, baseball registers, football guides and other material has been provided through the national tournaments for veterans hospitals. The Blinded Veterans Association alone realized $15,000 from B. V. L. last year, Mrs. Long reported.

'Caine Mutiny' Opening Today At The Paramount

Climaxing more than two years of intensive preparation and lavish production, Columbia Pictures today brings to the Paramount Theatre screen Stanley Kramer's production of "The Caine Mutiny," the fictional sea epic that has become the greatest best-seller of our generation. Based on Herman Wouk's Pulitzer prize-winning novel, "The Caine Mutiny" has been accorded an all-out production and all-star cast in keeping with the book's tremendous scope and phenomenal reader interest. Starring Humphrey Bogart, Jose Ferrer, Van Johnson and Fred MacMurray and filmed in color by Technicolor, the powerful sea epic opens today at the Paramount Theatre. Newcomers Robert Francis and May Wynn are featured as the romantic leads in the filmization of Wouk's titanic sea story.

In adapting the best-seller that rips the steel hatches off a combat vessel in the Pacific to reveal the raw emotions seething beneath her decks, producer Stanley Kramer had the benefit of some of the most outstanding performances of our time, according to enthralled Hollywood report. Academy Award winner Bogart plays the key role of Captain Queeg, skipper of the uss Caine, the minesweeper on and under whose decks most of the action takes place. Another Academy Award winner, Jose Ferrer, has the pivotal role of Lt. Greenwald, the brilliant defense attorney at the naval court martial, one of the most celebrated trials in modern literature.

To Van Johnson fell the plum role of Maryk, the rugged young executive officer who seizes command of the Caine from Queeg during the furious typhoon and is subsequently brought to trial for leading a mutiny. Johnson's forceful interpretation of the dynamic Maryk is said to be a far cry from the light-hearted portrayals he has had of late. Fred MacMurray, too, is said to be a revelation as Lt. Keefer, the trouble maker who is the real instigator of the mutiny but who keeps his nose clean in the showdown.

Since "The Caine Mutiny" was produced with the cooperation of the U. S. navy, a technical aide, Commander James C. Shaw, was assigned by Washington to the production. Extensive location filming took place at Yosemite National Park, the San Francisco Bay area and Pearl Harbor, Honolulu. Portraying the Caine are the destroyer-minesweepers Doyle and Thompson. Marine Corps personnel assisted in the filming of the Kwajalein battle sequence and the aircraft carrier, Kearsarge, was also used for important scenes in the film.

"The Caine Mutiny" was directed by Edward Dmytryk from Stanley Roberts' screen play based on the Wouk novel.

Local Man Served Aboard Ship In 'Caine Mutiny'

The showing of the motion picture "Caine Mutiny' in Monroe will be of special interest to one local resident — for one part in the picture will portray an experience which he had.

Jack D. Phillips, Jr., 510 Eason Place, was serving aboard the USS Zane DMS-14, which is the ship, with the name changed in the best-selling novel and movie version, on which the action is placed. Also serving aboard the ship at the same time was Herman Wouk, then Lt. Wouk, who wrote the Pulitzer Prize novel. The story was begun and written in a large part, while Wouk served aboard the ship.

The characters depicted in the novel and movie are about real people with the names changed. Phillips is portrayed in the novel as a seaman first class, which incidentally was his rank, who has to undergo an emergency appendectomy while the ship is being tossed in a severe storm.

The strawberry investigation, one of the most interesting parts of the book, when reads it to seek out the various characters, was an incident which actually happened. Once, when the ship pulled into port, a number of pies were brought aboard and later were missing. (And while all of the seamen had pie, no one knew where they came from or how they got into the hands of the seamen.)

Youghal Is Setting For 'Moby Dick'

(Guest Columnist)

HOLLYWOOD, November 6—For one month a little seaside holiday resort in Ireland, called Youghal, became a boom town, topping anything American history can offer from the gold-mad days in California.

And all because of "Moby Dick," Moulin-Elstree production in Technicolor for Warner Bros. starring Gregory Peck, myself and Leo Genn.

When Director John Huston decided on Youghal as the first location of his new whaling production, he was happy in the thought that he had found a town that, after treatment, would look exactly like New Bedford, Massachusetts, one hundred years ago.

The treatment, handled by Art Director Ralph Brinton and his assistants, Stephen Grimes and Tony Inglish, consisted of clearing the silt from the harbor bottom to house four schooners, face-lifting the houses on the waterfront to resemble New Bedford, of 1840, and generally so altering the place that even the oldest inhabitant was no longer sure of his directions.

But if Huston was happy when the workers of production moved in, the people of Youghal were delighted.

Here was a chance to exploit their town to the rest of Ireland and bring back some much-needed prosperity. It did not take them long to decide that if thousands of visitors were going to be lured to Youghal to see Peck, Genn, and perhaps your correspondent and many others, the prospects for entertaining the tourists after the sight-seeing seemed more than profitable.

And how right they were. There was never a moment during the entire location shooting when the cars, trains, and coaches stopped bringing hordes of people in to see the filming. From early morning till late evening the streets were thronged.

Shopkeepers counted their sales in thousands instead of tons, 'full house' signs went up at the cinema and bookmakers made fortunes at the greyhound track. Hotels and restaurants bulged every evening and ballrooms turned away more than double their capacity.

Book shops bought every copy of Herman Melville's "Moby Dick" in Ireland and sold them all; stationers did fantastic business with autograph albums and post cards.

Everywhere there were smiles. Even the local undertaker was happy. He was asked to make a coffin to fit six-foot six-inch Friedrich Ledebur, who plays Queequeg, the harpooner in the film.

But not only the trade people prospered. Crowd extras were needed with no previous experience. There was work almost every day. Typical of those who benefited was 78-year-old Richard White, a British navy pensioner. Richard spent his life at sea and went through two world wars. Besides British war medals he holds the Irish Emergency medal, too.

He found the "extra" money—$5.85 a day, which included 70 cents food money — a wonderful help in supporting a widowed daughter and her three children.

But through all the prosperity and gaity there ran the sure knowledge that Youghal's days as a boom town were strictly rationed. When John Huston and his crew left, so did the tourists. The sleepy little town settled down to live on some wonderful memories.

The timber and the paint that made Youghal into New Bedford now became fit for the junk shop. The masts and canvas that once gave the appearance of a bustling whaling port came down and were pushed in a corner.

Painters and cleaners wiped away the new-old look of the harbor and down came the false fronts. Only Paddy Linihan's pub, the Moby Dick Saloon, remains to tell of the glory that was once Youghal's.

In hotels where for weeks, it was impossible to get a bed and in bars, where service was once a savage test of strength, the calm has returned. Policemen no longer have tortured nights dreaming about parking problems that London or Los Angeles will never know. Occasionally a car will now move apologetically through the town, the driver hardly daring to disturb the peace by blowing his horn.

The old men have returned to sit on benches in front of the British Legion Hall, lately the production office and nerve center of the "Moby Dick" location. Children go out to fish from the quay, forbidden ground for the four weeks that the whaler "Pequod" was alongside.

But though Youghal may now be an ex-boom town, it is not a sad town. Throughout the filming the thought of business never once halted the people in the task of making the stars and technicians as happy and contented as possible. On both sides wonderful friendships were made which will last even though New Bedford in Ireland has gone.

The people are proud that, thanks to John Huston, Youghal has yet another claim to fame. In addition to Sir Walter Raleigh's house, the window where Edmund Spenser wrote the "Faerie Queene' and the last piece of Irish soil that Cromwell walked upon, they now have "Moby Dick."

Deportation Of Haymes Voted By Appeals Board

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 —UP— The board of immigration appeals ruled Friday that Argentine-born crooner Dick Haymes, husband of screen star Rita Hayworth, should be deported from the United States.

Haymes' attorneys promptly sought and received a temporary restraining order from Federal Judge Alexander Holtzoff to block his arrest by immigration officials. Holtzoff scheduled a hearing for Nov. 15 on a petition for a preliminary injunction to prevent the arrest.

The singer's counsel, headed by David Marcus of Los Angeles, contended the deportation order was "unfair, null and void." They said they would test the constitutionality of the McCarran-Walter immigration act, under which the baritone was ordered deported.

The immigration appeals board rejected Haymes' appeal for a reversal of a deportation order issued against him last March by a special inquiry officer. It held that Haymes is "ineligible for citizenship" and thus subject to deportation.

The singer's troubles started when he pursued Rita to Hawaii in May, 1953, in a whirlwind courtship. The immigration service contended he re-entered this country illegally because he is an alien and claimed exemption from military service in World War II.

Marcus said the appeals board "must have held Hawaii is a foreign country." He said the McCarran-Walter act specifically includes Hawaii, Alaska and Guam, as within the bounds of the continental United States.

"The immigration service," he said, "had no authority to declare an act of Congress unconstitutional—that's up to the courts."

Haymes and Rita were at Lake Tahoe, Nev. They issued no statements immediately. Haymes was born in Buenos Aires Sept. 13, 1918.

Mrs. Roosevelt Escapes Injury In Studio Blast

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 6 —UP— Eleanor Roosevelt narrowly escaped injury Friday on a motion picture studio sound stage when a giant movie light exploded sending actor Humphrey Bogart and two technicians to the studio hospital.

The former first lady was visiting the set of "Desperate Hours" at Paramount Studios when the accident occurred. Mrs. Roosevelt was talking to Bogart — the picture's star — when the heavy kleig light blew up.

Studio officials said the widow of the late President was spared serious injury because her back was turned to the light. Bogart, facing the lamp, received gashes in his head and cuts on his face from glass splinters. Blood ran down the noted actor's face from the cuts but his condition was reported more painful than serious.

The conditions of the technicians was said not to be serious according to reports from studio first-aid men.

'Caine Mutiny' Opening Today At The Paramount

Climaxing more than two years of intensive preparation and lavish production, Columbia Pictures today brings to the Paramount Theatre screen Stanley Kramer's production of "The Caine Mutiny," the fictional sea epic that has become the greatest best-seller of our generation. Based on Herman Wouk's Pulitzer prize-winning novel, "The Caine Mutiny" has been accorded an all-out production and all-star cast in keeping with the book's tremendous scope and phenomenal reader interest. Starring Humphrey Bogart, Jose Ferrer, Van Johnson and Fred MacMurray and filmed in color by Technicolor, the powerful sea epic opens today at the Paramount Theatre. Newcomers Robert Francis and May Wynn are featured as the romantic leads in the filmization of Wouk's titanic sea story.

In adapting the best-seller that rips the steel hatches off a combat vessel in the Pacific to reveal the raw emotions seething beneath her decks, producer Stanley Kramer had the benefit of some of the most outstanding performances of our time, according to enthralled Hollywood report. Academy Award winner Bogart plays the key role of Captain Queeg, skipper of the uss Caine, the minesweeper on and under whose decks most of the action takes place. Another Academy Award winner, Jose Ferrer, has the pivotal role of Lt. Greenwald, the brilliant defense attorney at the naval court martial, one of the most celebrated trials in modern literature.

To Van Johnson fell the plum role of Maryk, the rugged young executive officer who seizes command of the Caine from Queeg during the furious typhoon and is subsequently brought to trial for leading a mutiny. Johnson's forceful interpretation of the dynamic Maryk is said to be a far cry from the light-hearted portrayals he has had of late. Fred MacMurray, too, is said to be a revelation as Lt. Keefer, the trouble maker who is the real instigator of the mutiny but who keeps his nose clean in the showdown.

Since "The Caine Mutiny" was produced with the cooperation of the U. S. navy, a technical aide, Commander James C. Shaw, was assigned by Washington to the production. Extensive location filming took place at Yosemite National Park, the San Francisco Bay area and Pearl Harbor, Honolulu. Portraying the Caine are the destroyer - minesweepers Doyle and Thompson. Marine Corps personnel assisted in the filming of the Kwajalein battle sequence and the aircraft carrier, Kearsarge, was also used for important scenes in the film.

"The Caine Mutiny" was directed by Edward Dmytryk from Stanley Roberts' screen play based on the Wouk novel.

Local Man Served Aboard Ship In 'Caine Mutiny'

The showing of the motion picture "Caine Mutiny' in Monroe will be of special interest to one local resident — for one part in the picture will portray an experience which he had.

Jack D. Phillips, Jr., 510 Eason Place, was serving aboard the USS Zane DMS-14, which is the ship, with the name changed in the best-selling novel and movie version, on which the action is placed. Also serving aboard the ship at the same time was Herman Wouk, then Lt. Wouk, who wrote the Pulitzer Prize novel. The story was begun and written in a large part, while Wouk served aboard the ship.

The characters depicted in the novel and movie are about real people with the names changed. Phillips is portrayed in the novel as a seaman first class, which incidentally was his rank, who has to undergo an emergency appendectomy while the ship is being tossed in a severe storm.

The strawberry investigation, one of the most interesting parts of the book, when reads it to seek out the various characters, was an incident which actually happened. Once, when the ship pulled into port, a number of pies were brought aboard and later were missing. (And while all of the seamen had pie, no one knew where they came from or how they got into the hands of the seamen.)

The "strawberry investigation" was an outgrowth of this incident.

Youghal Is Setting For 'Moby Dick'

(Guest Columnist)

HOLLYWOOD, November 6—For one month a little seaside holiday resort in Ireland, called Youghal, became a boom town, topping anything American history can offer from the gold-mad days in California.

And all because of "Moby Dick," Moulin-Elstree production in Technicolor for Warner Bros. starring Gregory Peck, myself and Leo Genn.

When Director John Huston decided on Youghal as the first location of his new whaling production, he was happy in the thought that he had found a town that, after treatment, would look exactly like New Bedford, Massachusetts, one hundred years ago.

The treatment, handled by Art Director Ralph Brinton and his assistants, Stephen Grimes and Tony Inglish, consisted of clearing the silt from the harbor bottom to house four schooners, face-lifting the houses on the waterfront to resemble New Bedford, of 1840, and generally so altering the place that even the oldest inhabitant was no longer sure of his directions.

But if Huston was happy when the workers of production moved in, the people of Youghal were delighted.

Here was a chance to exploit their town to the rest of Ireland and bring back some much-needed prosperity. It did not take them long to decide that if thousands of visitors were going to be lured to Youghal to see Peck, Genn, and perhaps your correspondent and many others, the prospects for entertaining the tourists after the sight-seeing seemed more than profitable.

And how right they were. There was never a moment during the entire location shooting when the cars, trains, and coaches stopped bringing hordes of people in to see the filming. From early morning till late evening the streets were thronged.

Shopkeepers counted their sales in thousands instead of tons, 'full house' signs went up at the cinema and bookmakers made fortunes at the greyhound track. Hotels and restaurants bulged every evening and ballrooms turned away more than double their capacity.

Book shops bought every copy of Herman Melville's "Moby Dick" in Ireland and sold them all; stationers did fantastic business with autograph albums and post cards.

Everywhere there were smiles. Even the local undertaker was happy. He was asked to make a coffin to fit six-foot six-inch Friedrich Ledebur, who plays Queequeg, the harpooner in the film.

But not only the trade people prospered. Crowd extras were needed with no previous experience. There was work almost every day. Typical of those who benefited was 78-year-old Richard White, a British navy pensioner. Richard spent his life at sea and went through two world wars. Besides British war medals he holds the Irish Emergency medal, too.

He found the "extra" money—$5.85 a day, which included 70 cents food money — a wonderful help in supporting a widowed daughter and her three children.

But through all the prosperity and gaity there ran the sure knowledge that Youghal's days as a boom town were strictly rationed. When John Huston and his crew left, so did the tourists. The sleepy little town settled down to live on some wonderful memories.

The timber and the paint that made Youghal into New Bedford now became fit for the junk shop. The masts and canvas that once gave the appearance of a bustling whaling port came down and were pushed in a corner.

Painters and cleaners wiped away the new-old look of the harbor and down came the false fronts. Only Paddy Linihan's pub, the Moby Dick Saloon, remains to tell of the glory that was once Youghal's.

In hotels where for weeks, it was impossible to get a bed and in bars, where service was once a savage test of strength, the calm has returned. Policemen no longer have tortured nights dreaming about parking problems that London or Los Angeles will never know. Occasionally a car will now move apologetically through the town, the driver hardly daring to disturb the peace by blowing his horn.

The old men have returned to sit on benches in front of the British Legion Hall, lately the production office and nerve center of the "Moby Dick" location. Children go out to fish from the quay, forbidden ground for the four weeks that the whaler "Pequod" was alongside.

But though Youghal may now be an ex-boom town, it is not a sad town. Throughout the filming the thought of business never once halted the people in the task of making the stars and technicians as happy and contented as possible. On both sides wonderful friendships were made which will last even though New Bedford in Ireland has gone.

The people are proud that, thanks to John Huston, Youghal has yet another claim to fame. In addition to Sir Walter Raleigh's house, the window where Edmund Spenser wrote the "Faerie Queene' and the last piece of Irish soil that Cromwell walked upon, they now have "Moby Dick."

Deportation Of Haymes Voted By Appeals Board

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 —UP— The board of immigration appeals ruled Friday that Argentine-born crooner Dick Haymes, husband of screen star Rita Hayworth, should be deported from the United States.

Haymes' attorneys promptly sought and received a temporary restraining order from Federal Judge Alexander Holtzoff to block his arrest by immigration officials. Holtzoff scheduled a hearing for Nov. 15 on a petition for a preliminary injunction to prevent the arrest.

The singer's counsel, headed by David Marcus of Los Angeles, contended the deportation order was "unfair, null and void." They said they would test the constitutionality of the McCarran-Walter immigration act, under which the baritone was ordered deported.

The immigration appeals board rejected Haymes' appeal for a reversal of a deportation order issued against him last March by a special inquiry officer. It held that Haymes is "ineligible for citizenship" and thus subject to deportation.

The singer's troubles started when he pursued Rita to Hawaii in May, 1953, in a whirlwind courtship. The immigration service contended he re-entered this country illegally because he is an alien and claimed exemption from military service in World War II.

Marcus said the appeals board "must have held Hawaii is a foreign country." He said the McCarran-Walter act specifically includes Hawaii, Alaska and Guam, as within the bounds of the continental United States.

"The immigration service," he said, "had no authority to declare an act of Congress unconstitutional—that's up to the courts."

Haymes and Rita were at Lake Tahoe, Nev. They issued no statements immediately. Haymes was born in Buenos Aires Sept. 13, 1918.

GEE, I GET HUNGRY WHEN I PLAY SO HARD
WHAT DID YOU FIX ME FOR LUNCH, MAMA?
A DELICIOUS CHOP, SOME NICE CREAMED POTATOES AND A VEGETABLE SALAD
OH, GOODIE-- EVERYTHING THAT I LIKE-- YUMMY
I'LL SEE WHO'S AT THE DOOR
CAN COOKIE COME OUT AND PLAY?

YOU CAN COME IN AND WAIT FOR HER WHILE SHE HAS HER LUNCH
I HATE COLD VEGETABLE SALAD
I WON'T EAT MEAT IF IT HAS ANY FAT ON IT
I HATE CREAMED POTATOES
I CAN'T EAT ANYTHING UNLESS IT HAS CATSUP ALL OVER IT
WHY DON'T YOU MAKE YOUR MOTHER GIVE YOU CHOCOLATE MILK?
I DON'T SEE HOW YOU CAN EAT THAT STUFF, COOKIE
NOW YOU RUN ALONG AND PLAY WHILE COOKIE FINISHES HER LUNCH
I DON'T LIKE MY LUNCH-- I'M NOT GOING TO EAT IT COME BACK HERE
